Senate GOP Ask Unity on Troop Issue

Problem Has Severed Republican Ranks, Is Report; Closed Parley of Committee Called

Repair Is Sought

Lodge, Others Would Fix Situation Prior to Vote

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Some Republican senators sought today to reach agreement on an approach to the troops-for-Europe issue around which the party might rally.

But there was little sign of any such understanding as the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committee arranged another closed session to consider four different troops resolutions now awaiting action.

Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) expressed hope in advance that some votes would be taken. At the same time, he said he has "some evidence of a desire to delay and confuse the issues" on the part of the Republicans.

The troops issue already has split the top Republican leadership wide open, and the schism has extended down through the ranks.

It is this breach that Senators Lodge (R.-Mass.), H. Alexander Smith (R.-N. J.), Saltonstall (R.-Mass.) and others would like to mend before the committee takes final action and checks a resolution to the Senate.

To Call Meeting

Chairman Taft of Ohio has said he will call a Republican policy meeting to consider a proposal if members can get together on one.

Smith and Lodge, both members of the Foreign Relations Committee, explained to newsmen they have this two-fold aim in mind:

1. Some kind of quick and decisive action to give a shot in the arm to the efforts of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to build up a North Atlantic defense force in western Europe.

The administration plan calls for sending of four U. S. divisions to Europe to become part of this force. Both Smith and Lodge favor this move.

2. Make it clear to the administration that in the future Congress must be a full-fledged partner and collaborator in any plans to send troops abroad in peacetime, and not just be asked to approve a course the administration already has determined upon.

Goes to Heart of Dispute

The second point goes to the heart of a recurrent dispute between the President and Congress over their respective powers in the peacetime foreign relations and defense fields.

President Truman had said he has the authority to send troops to Europe regardless of what Congress does. Many lawmakers say he has not.

Smith and Lodge are considering the idea of asking the committees to send two resolutions to the Senate to carry out their objectives: One for Senate approval only designed to give Eisenhower and the western Europeans an expression of encouragement, and the other for action by both Houses to insure congressional participation in long range policy.

But this plan is complicated by such questions as: Which resolution should be acted on first? Would the delay in waiting for House action and the fresh debate that would be stirred up adversely affect the European rearmament program?

House action probably would require anywhere from two to six weeks, depending upon the length of any hearings.

Po'keepsie Group Adds to Arguments Against Bridge

Steinman Report Is Used to 'Show' Local Span Unnecessary to Area

The bridge committee of the Poughkeepsie Junior Chamber of Commerce contends that the State Thruway Authority's plan to build two river crossings have turned Dr. David B. Steinman's arguments for a Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge into contentious arguments against the construction of the Kingston bridge.

The bridge committee said that Thruway bridges will take over most vacation travel and a high percentage of commercial traffic.

Would Use Kingston Bridge

Dr. Steinman, employed as a consulting engineer by the New York State Bridge Authority, issued a report in which he held that most vacation traffic and much truck traffic would use the Kingston bridge.

The Steinman report also pointed out that 17 per cent of the traffic on existing bridges was commercial and it predicted that much of that traffic would use the Kingston bridge.

The Poughkeepsie bridge group notes that in recommending the bridge linking Kingston and Rhinecliff, Dr. Steinman said that "all good parkways and Thruways attract traffic."

The Steinman report was compiled before the Thruway bridges were contemplated, the Poughkeepsie group pointed out. Now, the committee holds, the Thruway will attract much of the traffic which Dr. Steinman contended would use the Kingston bridge.

Members of the Poughkeepsie Junior Chamber's bridge committee are W. Wendell Heilman and David L. Dickerson. They have called for a state survey of the entire river crossings problem and are asking Mid-Hudson valley residents to write their legislators calling for defeat of any legislation to provide additional bridges in the absence of such a survey.

Governor Assails Lobby, Declares Plan Equitable and Just

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Governor Dewey today called on the Legislature today to enact a $20,000,000 weight-distance tax on big trucks and assailed pressure against the plan by "the big truck lobby."

Making his first public statement on the Manning-Tifft bill to establish the controversial levy, Dewey told the Republican-controlled Legislature that the plan was simple, just and equitable.

"The bill," he said in a message to the Legislature, "is designed just to collect a more equitable share of highway costs from the enormous trucks weighing more than 18,000 pounds."

"Yet," Dewey added, "this bill is being opposed by a powerful, highly organized lobby, devoted exclusively to the purpose of preserving this extreme preference now enjoyed by the biggest trucks.

"This lobby is infesting the halls of the Legislature and putting inexcusable pressure upon individual legislators at their homes."

Dewey said that in his nine years as governor "only one other lobby has equalled this one in vehemence and lack of merit" during a regular session of the Legislature.

Strategy Mapped

Meanwhile, Republican members of the Senate got into a huddle today to map strategy for action on several major controversial measures.

They were expected to set up battle lines in support of:

1—The Moore Commission recommendations to increase the minimum pay schedules for public school teachers by $500 and to provide $100 cost-of-living bonuses for teachers for the current school year.

2—A proposal authorizing

General Says 3rd China Army Is Moving Toward Front From Northeast Korea

'Plenty of Men'

Ridgway Says Forces Adequate to Launch Big Push

Tokyo, March 6 (AP)—Parka-clad American marines attacking over new fallen snow drove slowly ahead today in central Korea. The Chinese Reds resisted bitterly.

The leathernecks were pushing toward the key communications hub of Hongchon, 15 miles north of recaptured Hoengsong. Some of the marine elements were 11 miles from Hongchon.

The Chinese Reds are believed to have concentrated their largest frontline forces at Hongchon. General MacArthur said another big Red force — the Chinese Third Field Army—is moving toward the front from northeast Korea to support the Communist Fourth Field Army.

MacArthur's report was the first indication of a large shift by the Third Field Army. He said it was comprised of several army corps, possibly up to 90,000 men.

300,000 Below Parallel

Despite losses of an estimated 22,250 troops since the United Nations resumed its limited offensive, Feb. 21 the Chinese and North Koreans are believed to number 300,000 below Parallel 38 in South Korea.

Lt. Gen. Mathew B. Ridgway, commander of Allied ground forces in Korea, told a news conference the Reds have plenty of men to launch a big counter-offensive.

But he expressed belief such an attack is not imminent. Ridgway added that his forces "at the moment" could stop a Red offensive.

The ex-paratrooper general spoke confidently of his Eighth Army's capabilities and praised the support he has received from General MacArthur.

Ridgway went to Korea from Washington to succeed Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, who was killed in a jeep accident north of Seoul in December. Ridgway commanded an airborne division in Europe in World War 2.

Snow Slows Push

On the battlefront, a six-inch snow fall slowed the determined Allied push Tuesday through the craggy mountains and rice-paddied valleys across the peninsula east of Seoul.

The snowfall limited ground action in most sectors. Allied fighter planes were grounded.

AP Correspondent Tom Stone, on the east-central front, reported that American doughboys—unable to find Korean Reds—battled each other with snowballs. But he said they kept their weapons handy.

Units of the First Marine Division took Hill 336 three miles northeast of Hoengsong Tuesday after other elements punched to points four miles north and northwest of the rubbled town Monday.

The Reds pumped artillery, mortar and machinegun fire into the Leathernecks Monday but fell back. Air spotters reported an estimated three Chinese battalions directly ahead of the marines, from five to six miles north and northwest of Hoengsong.

Reds Fight Bitterly

On the east-central front, Korean Reds fought bitterly from log bunker dugouts on rugged ridges near Taemi, a mountain stronghold from which they were routed Monday.

Taemi is 10 miles northwest of Pangnim, eastern road junction of one of the main east-west highways running to Hoengsong and Seoul. The Reds' new positions were under assault by the U. S. Second and Seventh Divisions.

A combination of American-French ground, artillery and aerial assault chased the Reds out of Taemi. But air reconnaissance

Man Promises Full Story of Scandal

Metropolitan Paper Says 'Mr. Go-Between' Is on Way to City

New York, March 6 (AP)—The Brooklyn Eagle said today a man it described as "Mr. Go-Between," who has been hiding in Florida six weeks, is hurrying to New York in his automobile to tell authorities what he knows of the basketball scandal.

The Eagle said the man, Ben Gould, its [illegible] writer, last night from Dunn, N. C., and told him:

"I know a lot about this. What I have to say will involve big names—big people such as you never dreamed would be mixed up in this."

He told Gould he had driven 1,000 miles in 24 hours and was driving through without a stopover, "to help Eddie."

"Eddie," the Eagle said, is Edward Gard, former Long Island University player under arrest as contact man for Salvatore Sollazzo, alleged key fixer, with several players accused of rigging scores to keep within gamblers' point spread.

"Sollazzo isn't telling the truth," the man told Gould. "I'll back Eddie to the end."

Expects to End Job

District Attorney Hogan says he expects to complete evidence against Sollazzo before the grand jury by mid-week.

The grand jury heard two of the accused former Long Island University players yesterday. One was Gard, who spent two and a half hours before the jury.

The other ex-player was Louis Lipman, who allegedly is involved with Gard and an unidentified gambler, not Sollazzo. Hogan said Lipman was called yesterday so that he might return to his sick wife at his Hollywood, Fla., home.

Hogan discounted reports that he had found one of two alleged bribers reportedly sought since last week.

Nine more accused LIU, City College of New York and New York University players are expected to appear before the grand jury. Two former Manhattan College players already have been indicted on bribery charges.

Sum of $110,000 to Be Raised on 20-Year Bonds; Sale Planned

Two propositions presented at a special meeting of taxpayers of Common School District No. 2, Town of Rochester, were carried by a wide margin last evening and work on erection of a new school building will proceed immediately. It is expected the building can be in shape for use next September when school opens.

The first proposition voted upon was to authorize the issuance of up to $110,000 in 20-year bonds to cover the cost of construction of the new school building and for the purchase of a new site for the school. The vote on that proposition was 67 to 8. The second proposition was for authority to sell the present school property to the highest bidder and to apply the proceeds of that sale on the cost of the new building. That proposition was approved by a 68 to 7 vote.

Site to Cost $2,500

Under the proposition the new site to be bought will cost $2,500 and the balance of the appropriation will be for construction costs. The site is a five acre tract owned by John L. Schoonmaker on the village of Accord side of the creek.

Bids for the work have already been received and contracts awarded to the low bidders. The low bidder for the general contract was Colonial Construction Company of Kingston $77,296. Bank Brothers Plumbing and Heating Company of Accord was low bidder for the plumbing work at $7,400 and the same firm was also low bidder on heating and ventilating at $10,300. Joseph E. O'Connor, Inc., of Rosendale was low bidder for electrical work at $2,524. The total construction cost will be $97,520.

Augustus Schrowang of Kingston is architect. John E. Egan appears as attorney for the district.

Four-Room Building

The plan calls for a four-room school with auditorium. The exterior will be brick veneer.

Approval of the purchase of the five-acre tract for the building from John L. Schoonmaker will remove the school from Route 209 which is heavily traveled and will place the school on the Accord village side of the Rondout creek where the majority of the pupils reside. The site is a part of the former Mowris farm property and included in the purchase is a right

Big Four Deputies Review Pathways To Top Conference

Today's Session May Tell Whether High Level Meeting Can Be Held

Paris, March 6 (AP)—Deputies of the four great powers went into their second session today in an attempt to find out whether a conference of foreign ministers on international tensions can be arranged.

The four deputies were expected to get down to cases, after the general statements yesterday by the west and the Soviet Union on what they believe should be discussed in a major Big Four parley. Today's session could well tell whether a conference will be possible.

Karl Gruber, foreign minister of Austria, arrived in Paris, ostensibly to attend a European Marshall Plan committee meeting, but his presence here underscored the western demand that any foreign ministers' conference take up consideration of the long-delayed Austrian independence treaty.

Davies Presides

British Delegate Ernest Davies presided at today's meeting of the deputies. U. S. Ambassador-at-Large Philip Jessup was expected to speak, as was French Delegate Alexandre Parodi. Possibly Soviet Representative Andrei Gromyko would ask to speak again. He and Davies made speeches yesterday to the delegations.

The three western representatives met prior to the day's four-power session, to prepare their answers to the agenda proposed by Gromyko.

The United States and British delegations worked late last night on their reports to Washington and London of yesterday's opening meeting. Today they were reported to have received reactions from their home government.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman was in contact with his delegation.

Ways Are Discussed

Western delegations also discussed this morning how they would advance their own proposed agenda at sessions of the Big Four.

The three-power discussions broke up just before noon. Jessup ducked all questions.

"We never say anything after our tri-partite conferences," he told newsmen.

At the first meeting yesterday, two agenda proposals were presented—one jointly by Britain, the United States and France, and the other by Russia.

A French spokesman said later he thought the two suggested

Columbia Woman Is Held for Murder Of Game Protector

Second Degree Charge Returned by Jury; Claims Shooting Accidental

Hudson, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—A 35-year-old mother was held today on a charge of second-degree murder in the shooting of a state game protector Jan. 31 at a farmhouse near Malden Bridge.

Mrs. Anetha L. Radewitz was arrested by state police at her home yesterday soon after a Columbia county grand jury returned a sealed indictment.

She pleaded innocent when arraigned before County Judge William E. J. Connor at Hudson and was ordered jailed in lieu of $50,000 bail.

District Attorney John N. McLaren declined to comment on any possible motive.

Mrs. Radewitz has claimed she accidentally shot Thomas J. Hall, Jr., 31, of Valatia, while learning to fire a shotgun.

She said she and Hall, married and the father of one child, had driven to an empty farmhouse where he worked as a caretaker in addition to his state job.

Gave Her Gun, She Says

She said Hall instructed her in the handling of a gun and then gave it to her to practice.

Mrs. Radewitz reported that she stood in a hallway and aimed the gun at a tree. She said Hall walked into the line of fire as she discharged the weapon.

Mrs. Radewitz, who lived in Chatham Center with her husband, Alfred, and four-year-old daughter, paled when she heard the indictment read.

The indictment was returned to Justice Herbert D. Hamm of state supreme court and was transferred to county court.

Mrs. Radewitz had refused to appear before the grand jury when the district attorney, Harold A. Callan of Chatham, who said he had advised against it, on constitutional grounds.

She also has refused, on advice of her attorney, to submit to a lie detector test.

Trains Run Again

Waverly, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Erie Railroad trains were moving slowly on switch tracks today around the scene of an 18-car freight derailment yesterday. Crews of workmen continued the job of removing wreckage and repairing 300 yards of torn up main line tracks in the center of this village near the Pennsylvania border. A railroad spokesman said it would be late today, at the earliest, before service was back to normal. The single track Auburn Division of the Lehigh Valley Railroad was cleared late yesterday. It had been blocked six miles east of here after another 16-car derailment. No injuries were reported in either wreck.

Charges Are Lodged

Buenos Aires, March 6 (AP)—The government of President Juan D. Peron announced today charges of "violating state security" have been lodged against Alberto Gainza Paz, editor and publisher of the strikebound anti-Peron newspaper La Prensa. The charges against Gainza Paz "and others" were not explained. They have not been arrested, nor have papers been served on them. La Prensa has been unable to publish for 40 days because of the actions of two pro-Peron unions — the newsvendors and printers—whose demands have closed it down.

Will Be Called to Duty

Washington, March 6 (AP)—The army announced yesterday that 300 medical and 100 dental officers of the medical service reserve will be called to duty during April. Those being ordered to duty are men who were trained at government expense during World War 2 and who had less than 90 days' active military service.

Abeel Street Youth Fined in Court; Held for Action

Cornelius O'Neil, 17, of 147 Abeel street was sentenced in city court this morning to pay a fine of $100 or spend 30 days in jail after he changed his plea to guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

After examination on a second charge, that of grand larceny second degree, Judge Raymond Mino ordered O'Neil held for grand jury action.

O'Neil was arrested on the two charges by Patrolmen George Dougherty and Henry Ronnenberg on February 25 when the automobile he was driving ended up in a ditch on the O'Reilly street hill.

Tried to Run Away

The police officers reported at the time that O'Neil attempted to run away when they went to his aid after the accident. He was apprehended by Officer Dougherty after a chase during which Officer Ronnenberg fired a warning shot.

Police reported they later learned the car O'Neil was driving had been reported missing by Joseph Mitchell of 212 Foxhall avenue.

During the examination in city court this morning, Attorney Bernard A. Culloton appeared for O'Neil. Sherwood E. Davis represented the district attorney.

New Storm, Intense Cold Knife Into Upper Midwest

(By The Associated Press)

A new blizzard and cold wave knifed into the snow-plagued upper midwest region today leaving at least four victims frozen in western Canada and Montana.

The storm, accompanied by intense cold, scudded across western Canada and Montana and pushed into Wyoming and the Dakotas. Cold wave warnings were issued for Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas.

A mother and her two children perished during a horseback ride from their stalled car in the Montana blizzard. More than 35 passengers of three stalled buses were marooned overnight in 20 degree below zero cold in Alberta, Canada. In British Columbia, the frozen body of Mrs. A. Weisner, 40, was found a short distance from the spot she left a midnight bus during the storm.

The storm—third in the midwest in seven days—cut visibility to zero and sent the mercury skidding far below zero in Montana and North Dakota. It brought the week's storm death toll to at least 20.

Overnight temperatures of 30 degrees below zero were forecast for northern Montana. The mercury was not expected to rise above five below to 15 below zero today in North Dakota.

Winds up to 70 miles an hour raked parts of Nevada. The winds ripped away 40,000 square feet of roofing in a low-cost housing project at Carson City, forcing 27 families to leave. The gale also smashed Carson city shop windows and snapped off big trees at their bases.

The gale also topped 25 utility poles near Tooele, in west central Utah and caved in the windows of some business firms in Salt Lake City and Ogden. Logan, Utah, had 18 inches of snow on the ground.

The mercury slipped to -27 in

New Twist Appears In Fraternal Relations

Ithaca, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Here's a new twist in fraternity initiations.

The Alpha Tau Omega at Cornell University is having pledges repair the homes of two needy families.

Chapter President James Ackerman said:

"We thought it was time for us to think about something constructive as an initiation instead of wasting it on pranks."

The Ithaca Welfare Department provided the names of two families on public assistance rolls.

The fraternity put up $50 for materials and assigned 16 pledges to the job. They will paint, paper, lay a new floor and shingle a leaky roof.

Work began last Saturday and the pledges expect to complete the job this week-end.

Vivisection Battle Goes On Over Assembly-Passed Bill

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Despite an initial setback, dog lovers pledged today a bitter-end fight against legislation to permit medical experiments on stray dogs picked up by humane societies.

The Assembly Public Health Committee approved the bill last night after a stormy, one-hour public hearing from which one spectator almost was ejected by a state trooper.

Representatives of humane societies and anti-vivisection groups protested the measure as a step toward socialized medicine, through state-controlled research, and a threat to work of humane societies.

They went away from the hearing promising to fight the measure in the Senate should it pass the Assembly. A vote in the Assembly is scheduled by early next week.

The bill would permit the state and New York city health commissioners to impound unclaimed animals and allocate them for use in experiments at institutions and laboratories designated by the state commissioner. Such animals otherwise would be destroyed.

The measure is backed by the State Health Department, which was represented at the hearing by Deputy Commissioner Hollis S. Ingraham. He told the committee that "medical progress rests" on animal experimentation. He added that the use of dogs now was more important than ever because of studies on the effects of atomic radiation.

Frank Raichle, Buffalo attorney representing the Erie County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, said passage of the bill might force his organization to give up collection of stray dogs after 94 years.

He said some gifts to the society stipulated that animals picked up by its workers not be turned over to institutions.

67 Young Men Take Pre-Induction Tests

A group of 67 young men from Ulster county outside the city of Kingston left here this morning for pre-induction physical examinations in Albany. The group was sent by Local Board 19, Selective Service System.

The county board is scheduled to send 26 men for induction on March 8.

Local Board 18, covering the city of Kingston, is scheduled to send a contingent of 48 men to Albany for pre-induction physical examinations on March 12, and 12 men for induction into the armed forces on March 19.

Tokyo, March 6 (AP)—Parka-clad American marines attacking over new fallen snow drove slowly ahead today in central Korea. The Chinese Reds resisted bitterly.

The leathernecks were pushing toward the key communications hub of Hongchon, 15 miles north of recaptured Hoengsong. Some of the marine elements were 11 miles from Hongchon.

The Chinese Reds are believed to have concentrated their largest frontline forces at Hongchon. General MacArthur said another big Red force — the Chinese Third Field Army—is moving toward the front from northeast Korea to support the Communist Fourth Field Army.

MacArthur's report was the first indication of a large shift by the Third Field Army. He said it was comprised of several army corps, possibly up to 90,000 men.

300,000 Below Parallel

Despite losses of an estimated 22,250 troops since the United Nations resumed its limited offensive, Feb. 21 the Chinese and North Koreans are believed to number 300,000 below Parallel 38 in South Korea.

Lt. Gen. Mathew B. Ridgway, commander of Allied ground forces in Korea, told a news conference the Reds have plenty of men to launch a big counter-offensive.

But he expressed belief such an attack is not imminent. Ridgway added that his forces "at the moment" could stop a Red offensive.

The ex-paratrooper general spoke confidently of his Eighth Army's capabilities and praised the support he has received from General MacArthur.

Ridgway went to Korea from Washington to succeed Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, who was killed in a jeep accident north of Seoul in December. Ridgway commanded an airborne division in Europe in World War 2.

Snow Slows Push

On the battlefront, a six-inch snow fall slowed the determined Allied push Tuesday through the craggy mountains and rice-paddied valleys across the peninsula east of Seoul.

The snowfall limited ground action in most sectors. Allied fighter planes were grounded.

AP Correspondent Tom Stone, on the east-central front, reported that American doughboys—unable to find Korean Reds—battled each other with snowballs. But he said they kept their weapons handy.

Units of the First Marine Division took Hill 336 three miles northeast of Hoengsong Tuesday after other elements punched to points four miles north and northwest of the rubbled town Monday.

The Reds pumped artillery, mortar and machinegun fire into the Leathernecks Monday but fell back. Air spotters reported an estimated three Chinese battalions directly ahead of the marines, from five to six miles north and northwest of Hoengsong.

Reds Fight Bitterly

On the east-central front, Korean Reds fought bitterly from log bunker dugouts on rugged ridges near Taemi, a mountain stronghold from which they were routed Monday.

Taemi is 10 miles northwest of Pangnim, eastern road junction of one of the main east-west highways running to Hoengsong and Seoul. The Reds' new positions were under assault by the U. S. Second and Seventh Divisions.

A combination of American-French ground, artillery and aerial assault chased the Reds out of Taemi. But air reconnaissance

Man Promises Full Story of Scandal

Metropolitan Paper Says 'Mr. Go-Between' Is on Way to City

New York, March 6 (AP)—The Brooklyn Eagle said today a man it described as "Mr. Go-Between," who has been hiding in Florida six weeks, is hurrying to New York in his automobile to tell authorities what he knows of the basketball scandal.

The Eagle said the man called Ben Gould, its [illegible] writer, last night from Dunn, N. C., and told him:

"I know a lot about this. What I have to say will involve big names—big people such as you never dreamed would be mixed up in this."

He told Gould he had driven 1,000 miles in 24 hours and was driving through without a stopover, "to help Eddie."

"Eddie," the Eagle said, is Edward Gard, former Long Island University player under arrest as contact man for Salvatore Sollazzo, alleged key fixer, with several players accused of rigging scores to keep within gamblers' point spread.

"Sollazzo isn't telling the truth," the man told Gould. "I'll back Eddie to the end."

Expects to End Job

District Attorney Hogan says he expects to complete evidence against Sollazzo before the grand jury by mid-week.

The grand jury heard two of the accused former Long Island University players yesterday. One was Gard, who spent two and a half hours before the jury.

The other ex-player was Louis Lipman, who allegedly is involved with Gard and an unidentified gambler, not Sollazzo. Hogan said Lipman was called yesterday so that he might return to his sick wife at his Hollywood, Fla., home.

Hogan discounted reports that he had found one of two alleged bribers reportedly sought since last week.

Nine more accused LIU, City College of New York and New York University players are expected to appear before the grand jury. Two former Manhattan College players already have been indicted on bribery charges.

Sum of $110,000 to Be Raised on 20-Year Bonds; Sale Planned

Two propositions presented at a special meeting of taxpayers of Common School District No. 2, Town of Rochester, were carried by a wide margin last evening and work on erection of a new school building will proceed immediately. It is expected the building can be in shape for use next September when school opens.

The first proposition voted upon was to authorize the issuance of up to $110,000 in 20-year bonds to cover the cost of construction of the new school building and for the purchase of a new site for the school. The vote on that proposition was 67 to 8. The second proposition was for authority to sell the present school property to the highest bidder and to apply the proceeds of that sale on the cost of the new building. That proposition was approved by a 68 to 7 vote.

Site to Cost $2,500

Under the proposition the new site to be bought will cost $2,500 and the balance of the appropriation will be for construction costs. The site is a five acre tract owned by the village of Accord side of the creek.

Bids for the work have already been received and contracts awarded to the low bidders. The low bidder for the general contract was Colonial Construction Company of Kingston $77,296. Bank Brothers Plumbing and Heating Company of Accord was low bidder for the plumbing work at $7,400 and the same firm was also low bidder on heating and ventilating at $10,300. Joseph E. O'Connor, Inc., of Rosendale was low bidder for electrical work at $2,524. The total construction cost will be $97,520.

Augustus Schrowang of Kingston is architect. John E. Egan appears as attorney for the district.

Four-Room Building

The plan calls for a four-room school with auditorium. The exterior will be brick veneer.

Approval of the purchase of the five-acre tract for the building from John L. Schoonmaker will remove the school from Route 209 which is heavily traveled and will place the school on the Accord village side of the Rondout creek where the majority of the pupils reside. The site is a part of the former Mowris farm property and included in the purchase is a right

Big Four Deputies Review Pathways To Top Conference

Today's Session May Tell Whether High Level Meeting Can Be Held

Paris, March 6 (AP)—Deputies of the four great powers went into their second session today in an attempt to find out whether a conference of foreign ministers on international tensions can be arranged.

The four deputies were expected to get down to cases, after the general statements yesterday by the west and the Soviet Union on what they believe should be discussed in a major Big Four parley. Today's session could well tell whether a conference will be possible.

Karl Gruber, foreign minister of Austria, arrived in Paris, ostensibly to attend a European Marshall Plan committee meeting, but his presence here underscored the western demand that any foreign ministers' conference take up consideration of the long-delayed Austrian independence treaty.

Davies Presides

British Delegate Ernest Davies presided at today's meeting of the deputies. U. S. Ambassador-at-Large Philip Jessup was expected to speak, as was French Delegate Alexandre Parodi. Possibly Soviet Representative Andrei Gromyko would ask to speak again. He and Davies made speeches yesterday to the delegations.

The three western representatives met prior to the day's four-power session, to prepare their answers to the agenda proposed by Gromyko.

The United States and British delegations worked late last night on their reports to Washington and London of yesterday's opening meeting. Today they were reported to have received reactions from their home government.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman was in contact with his delegation.

Ways Are Discussed

Western delegations also discussed this morning how they would advance their own proposed agenda at sessions of the Big Four.

The three-power discussions broke up just before noon. Jessup ducked all questions.

"We never say anything after our tri-partite conferences," he told newsmen.

At the first meeting yesterday, two agenda proposals were presented—one jointly by Britain, the United States and France, and the other by Russia.

A French spokesman said later he thought the two suggested

Columbia Woman Is Held for Murder Of Game Protector

Second Degree Charge Returned by Jury; Claims Shooting Accidental

Hudson, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—A 35-year-old mother was held today on a charge of second-degree murder in the shooting of a state game protector Jan. 31 at a farmhouse near Malden Bridge.

Mrs. Anetha L. Radewitz was arrested by state police at her home yesterday soon after a Columbia county grand jury returned a sealed indictment.

She pleaded innocent when arraigned before County Judge William E. J. Connor at Hudson and was ordered jailed in lieu of $50,000 bail.

District Attorney John N. McLaren declined to comment on any possible motive.

Mrs. Radewitz has claimed she accidentally shot Thomas J. Hall, Jr., 31, of Valatia, while learning to fire a shotgun.

She said she and Hall, married and the father of one child, had driven to an empty farmhouse where he worked as a caretaker in addition to his state job.

Gave Her Gun, She Says

She said Hall instructed her in the handling of a gun and then gave it to her to practice.

Mrs. Radewitz reported that she stood in a hallway and aimed the gun at a tree. She said Hall walked into the line of fire as she discharged the weapon.

Mrs. Radewitz, who lived in Chatham Center with her husband, Alfred, and four-year-old daughter, paled when she heard the indictment read.

The indictment was returned to Justice Herbert D. Hamm of state supreme court and was transferred to county court.

Mrs. Radewitz had refused to appear before the grand jury when the district attorney, Harold A. Callan of Chatham, who said he had advised against it, on constitutional grounds.

She also has refused, on advice of her attorney, to submit to a lie detector test.

Charges Are Lodged

Buenos Aires, March 6 (AP)—The government of President Juan D. Peron announced today charges of "violating state security" have been lodged against Alberto Gainza Paz, editor and publisher of the strikebound anti-Peron newspaper La Prensa. The charges against Gainza Paz "and others" were not explained. They have not been arrested, nor have papers been served on them. La Prensa has been unable to publish for 40 days because of the actions of two pro-Peron unions — the newsvendors and printers—whose demands have closed it down.

Washington, March 6 (AP)—The army announced yesterday that 300 medical and 100 dental officers of the medical service reserve will be called to duty during April. Abeel Street Youth Fined in Court; Held for Action

Cornelius O'Neil, 17, of 147 Abeel street was sentenced in city court this morning to pay a fine of $100 or spend 30 days in jail after he changed his plea to guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

After examination on a second charge, that of grand larceny second degree, Judge Raymond Mino ordered O'Neil held for grand jury action.

O'Neil was arrested on the two charges by Patrolmen George Dougherty and Henry Ronnenberg on February 25 when the automobile he was driving ended up in a ditch on the O'Reilly street hill.

Tried to Run Away

The police officers reported at the time that O'Neil attempted to run away when they went to his aid after the accident. He was apprehended by Officer Dougherty after a chase during which Officer Ronnenberg fired a warning shot.

Police reported they later learned the car O'Neil was driving had been reported missing by Joseph Mitchell of 212 Foxhall avenue.

New Storm, Intense Cold Knife Into Upper Midwest

(By The Associated Press)

A new blizzard and cold wave knifed into the snow-plagued upper midwest region today leaving at least four victims frozen in western Canada and Montana.

The storm, accompanied by intense cold, scudded across western Canada and Montana and pushed into Wyoming and the Dakotas. Cold wave warnings were issued for Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas.

A mother and her two children perished during a horseback ride from their stalled car in the Montana blizzard. More than 35 passengers of three stalled buses were marooned overnight in 20 degree below zero cold in Alberta, Canada. In British Columbia, the frozen body of Mrs. A. Weisner, 40, was found a short distance from the spot she left a midnight bus during the storm.

The storm—third in the midwest in seven days—cut visibility to zero and sent the mercury skidding far below zero in Montana and North Dakota. It brought the week's storm death toll to at least 20.

Overnight temperatures of 30 degrees below zero were forecast for northern Montana. The mercury was not expected to rise above five below to 15 below zero today in North Dakota.

Winds up to 70 miles an hour raked parts of Nevada. The winds ripped away 40,000 square feet of roofing in a low-cost housing project at Carson City, forcing 27 families to leave. The gale also smashed Carson city shop windows and snapped off big trees at their bases.

The gale also topped 25 utility poles near Tooele, in west central Utah and caved in the windows of some business firms in Salt Lake City and Ogden. Logan, Utah, had 18 inches of snow on the ground.

The mercury slipped to -27 in

Trains Run Again

Waverly, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Erie Railroad trains were moving slowly on switch tracks today around the scene of an 18-car freight derailment yesterday. Crews of workmen continued the job of removing wreckage and repairing 300 yards of torn up main line tracks in the center of this village near the Pennsylvania border. A railroad spokesman said it would be late today, at the earliest, before service was back to normal. The single track Auburn Division of the Lehigh Valley Railroad was cleared late yesterday. It had been blocked six miles east of here after another 16-car derailment. No injuries were reported in either wreck.

New Twist Appears In Fraternal Relations

Ithaca, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Here's a new twist in fraternity initiations.

The Alpha Tau Omega at Cornell University is having pledges repair the homes of two needy families.

Chapter President James Ackerman said:

"We thought it was time for us to think about something constructive as an initiation instead of wasting it on pranks."

The Ithaca Welfare Department provided the names of two families on public assistance rolls.

The fraternity put up $50 for materials and assigned 16 pledges to the job. They will paint, paper, lay a new floor and shingle a leaky roof.

Work began last Saturday and the pledges expect to complete the job this week-end.

Vivisection Battle Goes On Over Assembly-Passed Bill

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Despite an initial setback, dog lovers pledged today a bitter-end fight against legislation to permit medical experiments on stray dogs picked up by humane societies.

The Assembly Public Health Committee approved the bill last night after a stormy, one-hour public hearing from which one spectator almost was ejected by a state trooper.

Representatives of humane societies and anti-vivisection groups protested the measure as a step toward socialized medicine, through state-controlled research, and a threat to work of humane societies.

They went away from the hearing promising to fight the measure in the Senate should it pass the Assembly. A vote in the Assembly is scheduled by early next week.

The bill would permit the state and New York city health commissioners to impound unclaimed animals and allocate them for use in experiments at institutions and laboratories designated by the state commissioner. Such animals otherwise would be destroyed.

The measure is backed by the State Health Department, which was represented at the hearing by Deputy Commissioner Hollis S. Ingraham. He told the committee that "medical progress rests" on animal experimentation. He added that the use of dogs now was more important than ever because of studies on the effects of atomic radiation.

Frank Raichle, Buffalo attorney representing the Erie County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, said passage of the bill might force his organization to give up collection of stray dogs after 94 years.

He said some gifts to the society stipulated that animals picked up by its workers not be turned over to institutions.

Marines Drive Ahead in Korea Against Bitter Red Resistance; MacArthur Expects New Assaults

Senate GOP Ask Unity on Troop Issue

Problem Has Severed Republican Ranks, Is Report; Closed Parley of Committee Called

Repair Is Sought

Lodge, Others Would Fix Situation Prior to Vote

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Some Republican senators sought today to reach agreement on an approach to the troops-for-Europe issue around which the party might rally.

But there was little sign of any such understanding as the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committee arranged another closed session to consider four different troops resolutions now awaiting action.

Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) expressed hope in advance that some votes would be taken. At the same time, he said he has "some evidence of a desire to delay and confuse the issues" on the part of the Republicans.

The troops issue already has split the top Republican leadership wide open, and the schism has extended down through the ranks.

It is this breach that Senators Lodge (R.-Mass.), H. Alexander Smith (R.-N. J.), Saltonstall (R.-Mass.) and others would like to mend before the committee takes final action and checks a resolution to the Senate.

To Call Meeting

Chairman Taft of Ohio has said he will call a Republican policy meeting to consider a proposal if members can get together on one.

Smith and Lodge, both members of the Foreign Relations Committee, explained to newsmen they have this two-fold aim in mind:

1. Some kind of quick and decisive action to give a shot in the arm to the efforts of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to build up a North Atlantic defense force in western Europe.

The administration plan calls for sending of four U. S. divisions to Europe to become part of this force. Both Smith and Lodge favor this move.

2. Make it clear to the administration that in the future Congress must be a full-fledged partner and collaborator in any plans to send troops abroad in peacetime, and not just be asked to approve a course the administration already has determined upon.

Goes to Heart of Dispute

The second point goes to the heart of a recurrent dispute between the President and Congress over their respective powers in the peacetime foreign relations and defense fields.

President Truman had said he has the authority to send troops to Europe regardless of what Congress does. Many lawmakers say he has not.

Smith and Lodge are considering the idea of asking the committees to send two resolutions to the Senate to carry out their objectives: One for Senate approval only designed to give Eisenhower and the western Europeans an expression of encouragement, and the other for action by both Houses to insure congressional participation in long range policy.

But this plan is complicated by such questions as: Which resolution should be acted on first? Would the delay in waiting for House action and the fresh debate that would be stirred up adversely affect the European rearmament program?

House action probably would require anywhere from two to six weeks, depending upon the length of any hearings.

Dewey Asks Bill To Tax Truckers

Po'keepsie Group Adds to Arguments Against Bridge

Steinman Report Is Used to 'Show' Local Span Unnecessary to Area

The bridge committee of the Poughkeepsie Junior Chamber of Commerce contends that the State Thruway Authority's plan to build two river crossings have turned Dr. David B. Steinman's arguments for a Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge into contentious arguments against the construction of the Kingston bridge.

The bridge committee said that Thruway bridges will take over most vacation travel and a high percentage of commercial traffic.

Would Use Kingston Bridge

Dr. Steinman, employed as a consulting engineer by the New York State Bridge Authority, issued a report in which he held that most vacation traffic and much truck traffic would use the Kingston bridge.

The Steinman report also pointed out that 17 per cent of the traffic on existing bridges was commercial and it predicted that much of that traffic would use the Kingston bridge.

The Poughkeepsie bridge group notes that in recommending the bridge linking Kingston and Rhinecliff, Dr. Steinman said that "all good parkways and Thruways attract traffic."

The Steinman report was compiled before the Thruway bridges were contemplated, the Poughkeepsie group pointed out. Now, the committee holds, the Thruway will attract much of the traffic which Dr. Steinman contended would use the Kingston bridge.

Members of the Poughkeepsie Junior Chamber's bridge committee are W. Wendell Heilman and David L. Dickerson. They have called for a state survey of the entire river crossings problem and are asking Mid-Hudson valley residents to write their legislators calling for defeat of any legislation to provide additional bridges in the absence of such a survey.

Governor Assails Lobby, Declares Plan Equitable and Just

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Governor Dewey today called on the Legislature today to enact a $20,000,000 weight-distance tax on big trucks and assailed pressure against the plan by "the big truck lobby."

Making his first public statement on the Manning-Tifft bill to establish the controversial levy, Dewey told the Republican-controlled Legislature that the plan was simple, just and equitable.

"The bill," he said in a message to the Legislature, "is designed just to collect a more equitable share of highway costs from the enormous trucks weighing more than 18,000 pounds."

"Yet," Dewey added, "this bill is being opposed by a powerful, highly organized lobby, devoted exclusively to the purpose of preserving this extreme preference now enjoyed by the biggest trucks.

"This lobby is infesting the halls of the Legislature and putting inexcusable pressure upon individual legislators at their homes."

Dewey said that in his nine years as governor "only one other lobby has equalled this one in vehemence and lack of merit" during a regular session of the Legislature.

Strategy Mapped

Meanwhile, Republican members of the Senate got into a huddle today to map strategy for action on several major controversial measures.

They were expected to set up battle lines in support of:

Ridgway went to Korea from Washington to succeed Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, who was killed in a jeep accident north of Seoul in December. Ridgway commanded an airborne division in Europe in World War 2.

Snow Slows Push

On the battlefront, a six-inch snow fall slowed the determined Allied push Tuesday through the craggy mountains and rice-paddied valleys across the peninsula east of Seoul.

The snowfall limited ground action in most sectors. Allied fighter planes were grounded.

AP Correspondent Tom Stone, on the east-central front, reported that American doughboys—unable to find Korean Reds—battled each other with snowballs. But he said they kept their weapons handy.

Units of the First Marine Division took Hill 336 three miles northeast of Hoengsong Tuesday after other elements punched to points four miles north and northwest of the rubbled town Monday.

The Reds pumped artillery, mortar and machinegun fire into the Leathernecks Monday but fell back. Air spotters reported an estimated three Chinese battalions directly ahead of the marines, from five to six miles north and northwest of Hoengsong.

Reds Fight Bitterly

On the east-central front, Korean Reds fought bitterly from log bunker dugouts on rugged ridges near Taemi, a mountain stronghold from which they were routed Monday.

Taemi is 10 miles northwest of Pangnim, eastern road junction of one of the main east-west highways running to Hoengsong and Seoul. The Reds' new positions were under assault by the U. S. Second and Seventh Divisions.

A combination of American-French ground, artillery and aerial assault chased the Reds out of Taemi. But air reconnaissance

Vivisection Battle Goes On Over Assembly-Passed Bill

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Despite an initial setback, dog lovers pledged today a bitter-end fight against legislation to permit medical experiments on stray dogs picked up by humane societies.

The Assembly Public Health Committee approved the bill last night after a stormy, one-hour public hearing from which one spectator almost was ejected by a state trooper.

Representatives of humane societies and anti-vivisection groups protested the measure as a step toward socialized medicine, through state-controlled research, and a threat to work of humane societies.

They went away from the hearing promising to fight the measure in the Senate should it pass the Assembly. A vote in the Assembly is scheduled by early next week.

The bill would permit the state and New York city health commissioners to impound unclaimed animals and allocate them for use in experiments at institutions and laboratories designated by the state commissioner. Such animals otherwise would be destroyed.

The measure is backed by the State Health Department, which was represented at the hearing by Deputy Commissioner Hollis S. Ingraham. He told the committee that "medical progress rests" on animal experimentation. He added that the use of dogs now was more important than ever because of studies on the effects of atomic radiation.

Frank Raichle, Buffalo attorney representing the Erie County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, said passage of the bill might force his organization to give up collection of stray dogs after 94 years.

He said some gifts to the society stipulated that animals picked up by its workers not be turned over to institutions.

Man Promises Full Story of Scandal

Metropolitan Paper Says 'Mr. Go-Between' Is on Way to City

New York, March 6 (AP)—The Brooklyn Eagle said today a man it described as "Mr. Go-Between," who has been hiding in Florida six weeks, is hurrying to New York in his automobile to tell authorities what he knows of the basketball scandal.

The Eagle said the man called Ben Gould, its basketball sports writer, last night from Dunn, N. C., and told him:

"I know a lot about this. What I have to say will involve big names—big people such as you never dreamed would be mixed up in this."

He told Gould he had driven 1,000 miles in 24 hours and was driving through without a stopover, "to help Eddie."

"Eddie," the Eagle said, is Edward Gard, former Long Island University player under arrest as contact man for Salvatore Sollazzo, alleged key fixer, with several players accused of rigging scores to keep within gamblers' point spread.

"Sollazzo isn't telling the truth," the man told Gould. "I'll back Eddie to the end."

Expects to End Job

District Attorney Hogan says he expects to complete evidence against Sollazzo before the grand jury by mid-week.

The grand jury heard two of the accused former Long Island University players yesterday. One was Gard, who spent two and a half hours before the jury.

The other ex-player was Louis Lipman, who allegedly is involved with Gard and an unidentified gambler, not Sollazzo. Hogan said Lipman was called yesterday so that he might return to his sick wife at his Hollywood, Fla., home.

Hogan discounted reports that he had found one of two alleged bribers reportedly sought since last week.

Nine more accused LIU, City College of New York and New York University players are expected to appear before the grand jury. Two former Manhattan College players already have been indicted on bribery charges.

Sum of $110,000 to Be Raised on 20-Year Bonds; Sale Planned

Two propositions presented at a special meeting of taxpayers of Common School District No. 2, Town of Rochester, were carried by a wide margin last evening and work on erection of a new school building will proceed immediately. It is expected the building can be in shape for use next September when school opens.

The first proposition voted upon was to authorize the issuance of up to $110,000 in 20-year bonds to cover the cost of construction of the new school building and for the purchase of a new site for the school. The vote on that proposition was 67 to 8. The second proposition was for authority to sell the present school property to the highest bidder and to apply the proceeds of that sale on the cost of the new building. That proposition was approved by a 68 to 7 vote.

Site to Cost $2,500

Under the proposition the new site to be bought will cost $2,500 and the balance of the appropriation will be for construction costs. The site is a five acre tract owned by John L. Schoonmaker on the village of Accord side of the creek.

Bids for the work have already been received and contracts awarded to the low bidders. The low bidder for the general contract was Colonial Construction Company of Kingston $77,296. Bank Brothers Plumbing and Heating Company of Accord was low bidder for the plumbing work at $7,400 and the same firm was also low bidder on heating and ventilating at $10,300. Joseph E. O'Connor, Inc., of Rosendale was low bidder for electrical work at $2,524. The total construction cost will be $97,520.

Augustus Schrowang of Kingston is architect. John E. Egan appears as attorney for the district.

Four-Room Building

The plan calls for a four-room school with auditorium. The exterior will be brick veneer.

Approval of the purchase of the five-acre tract for the building from John L. Schoonmaker will remove the school from Route 209 which is heavily traveled and will place the school on the Accord village side of the Rondout creek where the majority of the pupils reside. The site is a part of the former Mowris farm property and included in the purchase is a right

Big Four Deputies Review Pathways To Top Conference

Today's Session May Tell Whether High Level Meeting Can Be Held

Paris, March 6 (AP)—Deputies of the four great powers went into their second session today in an attempt to find out whether a conference of foreign ministers on international tensions can be arranged.

The four deputies were expected to get down to cases, after the general statements yesterday by the west and the Soviet Union on what they believe should be discussed in a major Big Four parley. Today's session could well tell whether a conference will be possible.

Karl Gruber, foreign minister of Austria, arrived in Paris, ostensibly to attend a European Marshall Plan committee meeting, but his presence here underscored the western demand that any foreign ministers' conference take up consideration of the long-delayed Austrian independence treaty.

Davies Presides

British Delegate Ernest Davies presided at today's meeting of the deputies. U. S. Ambassador-at-Large Philip Jessup was expected to speak, as was French Delegate Alexandre Parodi. Possibly Soviet Representative Andrei Gromyko would ask to speak again. He and Davies made speeches yesterday to the delegations.

The three western representatives met prior to the day's four-power session, to prepare their answers to the agenda proposed by Gromyko.

The United States and British delegations worked late last night on their reports to Washington and London of yesterday's opening meeting. Today they were reported to have received reactions from their home government.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman was in contact with his delegation.

Ways Are Discussed

Western delegations also discussed this morning how they would advance their own proposed agenda at sessions of the Big Four.

The three-power discussions broke up just before noon. Jessup ducked all questions.

"We never say anything after our tri-partite conferences," he told newsmen.

At the first meeting yesterday, two agenda proposals were presented—one jointly by Britain, the United States and France, and the other by Russia.

A French spokesman said later he thought the two suggested

Abeel Street Youth Fined in Court; Held for Action

Cornelius O'Neil, 17, of 147 Abeel street was sentenced in city court this morning to pay a fine of $100 or spend 30 days in jail after he changed his plea to guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

After examination on a second charge, that of grand larceny second degree, Judge Raymond Mino ordered O'Neil held for grand jury action.

O'Neil was arrested on the two charges by Patrolmen George Dougherty and Henry Ronnenberg on February 25 when the automobile he was driving ended up in a ditch on the O'Reilly street hill.

Tried to Run Away

The police officers reported at the time that O'Neil attempted to run away when they went to his aid after the accident. He was apprehended by Officer Dougherty after a chase during which Officer Ronnenberg fired a warning shot.

Police reported they later learned the car O'Neil was driving had been reported missing by Joseph Mitchell of 212 Foxhall avenue.

During the examination in city court this morning, Attorney Bernard A. Culloton appeared for O'Neil. Sherwood E. Davis represented the district attorney.

New Storm, Intense Cold Knife Into Upper Midwest

(By The Associated Press)

A new blizzard and cold wave knifed into the snow-plagued upper midwest region today leaving at least four victims frozen in western Canada and Montana.

The storm, accompanied by intense cold, scudded across western Canada and Montana and pushed into Wyoming and the Dakotas. Cold wave warnings were issued for Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas.

A mother and her two children perished during a horseback ride from their stalled car in the Montana blizzard. More than 35 passengers of three stalled buses were marooned overnight in 20 degree below zero cold in Alberta, Canada. In British Columbia, the frozen body of Mrs. A. Weisner, 40, was found a short distance from the spot she left a midnight bus during the storm.

The storm—third in the midwest in seven days—cut visibility to zero and sent the mercury skidding far below zero in Montana and North Dakota. It brought the week's storm death toll to at least 20.

Overnight temperatures of 30 degrees below zero were forecast for northern Montana. The mercury was not expected to rise above five below to 15 below zero today in North Dakota.

Winds up to 70 miles an hour raked parts of Nevada. The winds ripped away 40,000 square feet of roofing in a low-cost housing project at Carson City, forcing 27 families to leave. The gale also smashed Carson city shop windows and snapped off big trees at their bases.

The gale also topped 25 utility poles near Tooele, in west central Utah and caved in the windows of some business firms in Salt Lake City and Ogden. Logan, Utah, had 18 inches of snow on the ground.

The mercury slipped to -27 in

67 Young Men Take Pre-Induction Tests

A group of 67 young men from Ulster county outside the city of Kingston left here this morning for pre-induction physical examinations in Albany. The group was sent by Local Board 19, Selective Service System.

The county board is scheduled to send 26 men for induction on March 8.

Local Board 18, covering the city of Kingston, is scheduled to send a contingent of 48 men to Albany for pre-induction physical examinations on March 12, and 12 men for induction into the armed forces on March 19.

Dental and Health Clinics Slated for City, Rural Areas

Two dates for pre-school children's dental clinics have been announced by the Ulster County Health Department for Kingston and two child health conferences for areas outside the city.

The schedule given by Dr. Robert H. Broad, commissioner of health for the county, is:

Kingston, Wednesday and Thursday, March 21 and 22—Dental clinics for children from 3 to 5 years of age at the health center on East O'Reilly street.

Allaben, Monday, March 12—Well child clinic at health center there from 2 to 4 p. m.

Port Ewen, Wednesday, March 14—Well child clinic at health center there from 3 to 5 p. m.

The dental clinic in Kingston will be conducted by Mrs. Mary Chatfield, dental hygienist, who will examine teeth and make appointments for application of sodium fluoride to aid in prevention of tooth decay.

Parents of pre-school children may make arrangements for them to attend the clinic by phoning 1184-W on Wednesday, March 14 and Thursday, March 15.

Not for Sick Children

The well-child clinics such as those scheduled for Allaben and Port Ewen are limited to infants and pre-school children, not for care of sick children, for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Children under the regular supervision of their own physician are not admitted to child health conferences, Dr. Broad said, unless their physician desires this service to be taken over by the child health conference. In this manner, he pointed out, duplication of service is avoided.

State Senate Passes Retirement Measure

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—The state Senate has passed unanimously a bill making members of the Legislature eligible for retirement at half-pay after 20 years' service, regardless of age.

The lawmakers are paid $5,000 a year. Several leaders and ranking committee members draw extra salary.

Legislators now may participate in the state employes' retirement system and draw regular benefits.

Primarily, the system provides for voluntary retirement at 60 at about half-pay for 35 years of service.

It provides for retirement at 55 if the employes pay extra contributions to the fund. Retirement is mandatory at 70. Municipal police and firemen and state police personnel may retire after 25 years' service, regardless of age.

The bill approved by the Senate last night and sent to the Assembly would permit legislators to retire after 20 year's service, provided required, higher contributions were paid to the system.

Nickel plating first was developed on a commercial basis in England about 1870.

Allies Permit West Germans To Set Up Foreign Ministry

Bonn, Germany, March 6 (AP)—The western allies today formally allowed West Germany to set up its first postwar foreign ministry and to establish diplomatic relations with "friendly nations."

The permission was granted in a new occupation statute published here today. The statute also relaxes many other allied controls on both the internal and external affairs of the federal republic.

For the first time since before the war, Germany will be permitted to set up diplomatic missions in foreign countries. She will not have ambassadors in Washington, London or Paris, since the occupying powers still consider their high commissioners in Germany as the "channel of negotiation between the federal (German) government and the allied governments."

In these three capitals, Germany will be permitted to set up official agencies along with the consulates-general she already has established.

Treaty Is Proposed

Although Bonn officials welcomed the new law as a step toward normalizing relations with the allies, a West German spokesman said the final objective was a proposed "contractual" treaty with the Big Three which would wipe out virtually all occupation controls. The allies promised last December to talk over such a treaty.

Publication of the statute was accompanied in London by the signing of an agreement by the United States, Britain and France permitting the shifting of their troops into each others' occupation zones. They agreed also to permit the stationing in Germany of troops of "any other allied nation participating in the defense of western Europe."

The London agreement was contained in a revision of the charter of the Allied High Commission for Germany. This revision was designed primarily at bringing the powers of the commission into line with the greater measure of self-government being granted western Germany.

Adenauer to Keep Hold

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is expected to keep the foreign minister's portfolio in his own hands at least until he has concluded a contractual treaty with the allies. Political circles in Bonn believe he will nominate Prof. Walter Hallstein, now leading the German Schuman and Eleven Plan delegations, to be the permanent head of the foreign office.

The last German foreign minister was Count Lutz von Schwerin Krosigk, who was in office for only eight troubled days at the war's end when Adm. Karl Doenitz became the Nazi fuehrer. Before him, the Reich's foreign minister was Joachim von Ribbentrop, who was hanged at Nuernberg for war crimes. Schwerin-Krosigk was released recently from Landsberg Prison, where he had served a war crimes sentence.

Under the new statute, the allies reserve the right to take over full controls if they consider it "essential to security or to preserve democratic government in Germany or in pursuance of the international obligations of their governments."

The occupying powers also retain the right to review any international agreements west Germany may make to insure that they do not conflict with allied interests.

Local Death Record

Funeral services for Mrs. Ada Maxon, widow of Horace S. Maxon were held from the late home, 26 Hoffman street, Monday at 2 p. m. The Rev. William C. Cain of the Rondout Presbyterian and Wurts Street Baptist Church officiated. The home was filled with many friends and relatives, and the casket was banked with flowers. Many friends also called at the late home to pay their respects. Burial was in the family plot in the Hurley Cemetery, where the Rev. Mr. Cain recited the committal service.

Mrs. Helen Elizabeth Baker of 220 Zendiger avenue, Staten Island died Monday. She is survived by her husband, Lawrence Baker; one daughter, Alice Baker; her mother, Mrs. Alice Fitzgerald; five brothers, John, James, Henry, Morgan, and Edward Fitzgerald; and two sisters, Mrs. Alice McPartland, and Mrs. Ann Thompson. Funeral services will be held from the late residence Thursday, and a solemn requiem Mass will be said at St. Peter's Church at 9:30 a. m. Burial will follow in St. Peter's Cemetery, Staten Island.

Miss Mary Mellert, a native of Kingston but who made her home in New York for the past 27 years, died suddenly at her home yesterday. Born in Kingston, Miss Mellert was the daughter of the late Joseph and Mary Weiss Mellert. A milliner by trade, Miss Mellert was considered an expert and continued her work until the time of her death. In addition to several nieces and nephews, she is survived by one brother, William Mellert of Zena. The funeral will be held from the residence of Mrs. Carl Mellert, 68 Andrew street, on Thursday at 9 a. m. and at St. Peter's Church at 9:30 where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul. Friends may call at the residence on Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The funeral of Owen F. Mooney of Rosendale was held Saturday at 9:30 a. m., from the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale and at 10 o'clock at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, where a solemn high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. John F. Kelly. The Rev. Thomas Gaffney was the deacon and the Rev. William Reynolds, the subdeacon. Frank Raible and Edward Cherny were the soloists assisted at the organ by James Sweeney. During the time the body reposed at the funeral home, many relatives and friends called to pay their respects and offer condolences to the bereaved family. There were many beautiful floral tributes and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards, all attesting to the high esteem in which he was held. Friday evening, Father Kelly called at the funeral home and led those assembled in the recitation of the Rosary and prayers for the dead. The body was placed in a vault in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale, for burial later at the convenience of the family. Bearers were Stephen Huben, Charles Hermance, Joseph O'Connor, William Reynolds, Vincent Steeley and Charles Reilly.

Hirshfield Estate

New York, March 5 (Special)—The estate of the late Abraham Hirshfield of New York, in which his son, Howard Hirshfield of Wallkill, will share, was appraised here today by the New York State Transfer Tax Department at $139,551, gross value, and $133,386, net. More than half the estate was in stocks and bonds. The widow, Mrs. Bertha Hirshfield of this city, will inherit $3,000 a year from the estate. Upon her death, the Wallkill man and a daughter, Mrs. Edna Hyman of New York, will share equally in the assets. The elder Hirshfield died on June 29, 1945.

Wins Top Award

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Robert J. Kolenkow, 17, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., last night won the top prize—a $2,800 college scholarship—in an annual talent hunt for the nation's most promising young scientist. Runner-up was also a New York state youth, Frederick J. Ernst, Jr., 17, of Exeter Place Ardsley, Westchester county. He was awarded a $2,000 scholarship at ceremonies held here. Forty finanists competed here for the last five days of the tenth annual contest. They were the survivors in initial tests among some 13,000 students of public, parochial and private high schools.

3—The Hughes-Brees bill to provide greater unemployment insurance tax abatement for employers with stable employment records and to increase the maximum weekly benefit for employes from $26 to $30.

4—A reported compromise plan to set up a "standby" public authority to take over and operate the bankrupt Long Island Railroad only if private operation under reorganization fails.

5—Dewey's sweeping defense-emergency bill, on which a public hearing will be held Thursday.

Plan Is Praised

Although the Democrats are expected to criticize the Moore Commission recommendations on teacher pay boosts as insufficient, the plan was praised by the State Teachers Association and the State School Boards Association, Inc.

The board of directors of the Teachers Association, which claims 44,000 upstate members, unanimously commended the Moore plan.

Executive Secretary Arvie Eldred said the commission had "spelled out a method for equitably financing the program" with state and local funds.

In New York city, however, the Teachers Union called the plan "piddling" and a "a sop and an insult to the teaching staff."

The union president, Abraham Lederman, said the plan would average less than $200 a year per teacher in New York city and "falls far short of even the inadequate increases" recommended by a city committee.

Big Four Deputies

slates could be brought into agreement.

Each of the proposals listed three points for discussion. Two of them seemed in general accord. The deputies probably will spend many hours talking, however, to arrive at any agreement on the precise wording.

Each Suggests Talk

Each faction suggested that the foreign ministers talk about a peace treaty for Germany and methods of relieving tention in Europe. but they approached the subjects by different roads.

The Russian proposal mentioned "the conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany and consequent withdrawal of the occupying powers." The westerners came in with "problems relating to the unity of Germany and preparation of a treaty of peace."

The western nations may not be so eager to talk about the withdrawal of occupying forces. Russia may be equally reticent to discuss a unified Germany in the sense intended by the west.

The western powers proposed an "examination of the causes of international tension in Europe and the means to secure a real and lasting improvement in relations between the United Kingdom, France, the United States and Russia."

One western source commented that the Russian proposal for arms reduction was not new. He said the question is how this disarmament is to be accomplished and whether Russia will submit to international inspection. In the past, the Kremlin has always refused this and the west has insisted it had no other safeguard.

The deputies are not permitted to discuss the substances of any of these questions. All they can do is lay out the points on an agenda for the foreign ministers.

Referendum Plans Killed

Rockford, Ill., March 6 (AP)—Plans for a grass roots referendum on foreign policy in the Rockford city election April 3 were killed last night. The City Council, which had approved such a public opinion sampling last week by a vote of 15 to 3, decided at last night's meeting it wasn't a good idea, after all. The reversal vote was 14 to 6, with two aldermen voting who were absent last week. The reasons for the decision not to hold the referendum included unfavorable reaction to the test by constituents of the aldermen, expense of such a poll, and the idea, expressed by Alderman Thomas McDonnell, that "we don't need a poll to determine how the Republican majority here feels."

Commerce Group Urges Interest in Survey of Water

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce today urged a careful study of the proposed classification and assignments of standards of quality and purity to waters of the Rondout creek made by the New York State Water Pollution Control Board.

Official notices of a public hearing on this subject, to be held in the city hall here on March 22, were recently received from the Pollution Control Board. The notice included a 159 page book, a report of the results of the study made of the entire Rondout creek-Wallkill river drainage basin, as well as a copy of the official rules adopted by the board for the classifications and standards of quality and purity for waters of New York state.

Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, stated that copies of the report and rules may be procured directly from the Water Pollution Control Board, New York State Department of Health, Albany 1, New York, or a copy may be inspected at the chamber office.

The Pollution Control Board invites a free and frank discussion of the proposed classifications at the March 22 hearing. Comments and criticisms from all interested parties will be welcomed. After considering the suggestions made at the hearing, official classifications of the Rondout creek waters will be promulgated and quality standards assigned. The board states that following this portion of their assigned duties "will be the development of a comprehensive plan of pollution abatement."

Under Article 6 of the Public Health Law, the Water Pollution Control Board has been given broad and far reaching powers with respect to control and abatement of water pollution. The board has authority to issue and enforce orders requiring the abatement of pollution which contravene any standards of quality as established by the board.

In commenting on the complete board report, the Chamber of Commerce noted that numerous sources of pollution are listed and urged that every municipality, factory, processing plant, milk plant, institution, village, hotel, and boarding house, located in the entire Rondout Creek-Wallkill river drainage area, should study the report and be represented at the hearing on March 22. This includes those on the small streams which eventually flow into either the Rondout creek or the Wallkill river. The pollution control plan may affect every source of contamination or pollution.

No Seizure Provided

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—The sponsor of Governor Dewey's controversial civil defense bill said today it did not provide for seizure of newspapers in event of an attack. Assemblyman Frank J. Becker, Lynnbrook Republican, said reference in the measure to seizure of "communication facilities" did not mean newspapers but applied to radio stations, and telegraph and telephone facilities. Neither the original bill nor the "softened" version specifically mentioned newspapers.

Four Will Attend Claims Hearing

Four representatives of Ulster county will attend a Comptroller's hearing in New York on Monday on the county's claim for $387,500 damages allegedly caused by artificial rainmaking.

Those who will represent this county are Frederick Stang, county attorney; Arthur A. Davis, Jr., assistant county attorney; James F. Loughran, county superintendent of highways, and Roland Green, assistant superintendent of highways.

The claim was presented to the Comptroller of the City of New York, alleging that city trespassed upon county property by reason of "cloud seeding" and caused excessive rainfall in the area. The amount involved is the alleged damage to county roads and bridges during the heavy floods of last November 25.

Freeze May Come On TV and Appliances

New York, March 6 (AP)—Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle says a freeze may come in the next two weeks on retailers' "margins" on television sets and household appliances.

DiSalle also promises ceiling prices are to be ordered posted in retail food stores, but not for several months.

The price stabilizer spoke of the measures yesterday when he addressed a meeting of the Northeastern Roofing, Siding and Insulating Contractors Association. He later talked to newsmen.

A "margin" type order such as DiSalle mentioned is intended to control prices on a "fairer and more workable" basis by fixing the margin between wholesale and retail prices.

This margin, or markup, would be set as of some base date.

A similar order already has been issued to cover clothing, furniture, rugs, lamps, drygoods and household textiles.

Canada to Send 6,000

Ottawa, March 6 (AP)—Canada expects to put army brigades of about 6,000 men each in both Korea and Europe this year—and to do it entirely through voluntary enlistments. The Canadian goal is 115,000 in the armed forces by 1954 — including women — some thing the 14,000,000-population dominion has never tried in peacetime. The army, navy and air force now total about 66,000 men. Military conscription, a bitter pill for French Catholic Quebec, is expected to come only with the start of any general war. Government sources said last night if recruiting holds up at anything like the present tempo, the services' manpower requirements can be met without it by the spring of 1953.

New Paltz Faces Contest in Caucus

The names of Mayor Robert Reid and Village Trustee Roland G. Will will be presented this evening at the New Paltz village caucus as candidates to succeed themselves. Mayor Reid will be opposed by Benjamin Matteson of the New Paltz State Teachers College for the post of candidate for mayor and Trustee Will will have as an opponent Wesley Van Vliet.

Chester Smith has declined to run again for trustee and candidates at the caucus for that position will be Gregory Rheude and Joseph Tigue.

The caucus will be held in the Municipal Building at 8 o'clock.

In the past the selection of a candidate at the caucus has been equivalent to election to the office. The village election will be held on the third Tuesday of March.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 6 (AP)—Despite the bolstering influence of heavy demand for General Motors and Packard, the stock market today edged lower.

The losses didn't amount to much, seldom going to a point, and a great number of issues held unchanged from the previous close. Gains, too, were on the modest side.

General Motors opened up ¾ at 50⅞ on a block of 5,000 shares in a delayed start occasioned by a jam of buyers and sellers. The demand stemmed from the annual report which showed the giant company had the heaviest sales and profits in its history. Earnings came to the equivalent of $9.35 a share as against $7.32 the previous year.

Packard hit the tape the first time with a block of 13,000 shares up ⅝ at 5¾. Buyers flocked in on the news that Packard had received what was described as a huge order from the air force for General Electric's J-47 turbo-jet engines. Packard said it was one of Detroit's biggest known defense orders to date."

Football Is Suspended

Niagara Falls, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Niagara University today suspended football for the duration of the present national emergency. The principal reason is the shortage of player material. The university has lost some freshmen and many sophomores and juniors will be graduated in June.

Wilson Confers On Labor Revolt

Key West, Fla., March 6 (AP)—Labor's revolt against the defense mobilization program brought Charles E. Wilson here today for a conference with President Truman.

The defense mobilization director flew in from Fort Lauderdale, where his family has been vacationing, for a heart-to-heart talk with President Truman at the Little White House on this naval submarine station.

The united labor policy committee has turned thumbs down on Wilson and his mobilization program on grounds it is dominated by "big business."

It withdrew its representatives first from the Wage Stabilization Board, then from all other defense agencies.

Mr. Truman, at his last news conference in Washington, refused to consider this action as a strike, terming it simply a disagreement.

The possibility that labor's disaffection might lead to widespread strikes was discounted in administration circles.

Nevertheless, the President and Wilson were concerned about a development which brought fears outside the administration that the unions had to be brought into agreement to keep production at high speed.

Might Offer Formula

Every indication was that the President and Wilson might try to work out a peace formula acceptable to labor.

At the same time, Presidential Secretary Joseph Short declined to attach great significance to the meeting.

He insisted upon saying that the President simply invited Wilson over to a luncheon at the Little White House and in calling it a social get-together.

Wilson is expected at the Boca Chica Airport, eight and a half miles from the President's quarters, at 11:45 a. m. He is leaving later in the afternoon.

Marines Drive . . .

Tuesday showed 1,500 Reds were moving into the area from the northeast to reinforce 3,000 to 5,000 North Koreans already there.

A Seventh Division tank-infantry patrol drove more than two miles into Changpyong Monday in the Taemi area, but withdrew slightly south at dusk. Changpyong is a road junction 10 miles north of Pangnim.

South Koreans Drive

South Korean Seventh Division units were driving Monday toward Hajinbu, eight miles east of Changypong. Another enemy buildup was reported in and around Hajinbu, some 30 air miles inland from the east coast.

On the west-central front, a U. S. First Cavalry tank-infantry team captured Yongdu Monday and thrust eastward toward Hoengsong, 16 miles away. The lateral highway between the two towns was a no-man's land. Heavy Red fire came from the hills on the north side.

On the western front, a U. S. Third Division patrol slipped across the Han Monday night into the southern outskirts of Seoul. It withdrew under fire. Several patrols were forced back earlier Monday.

B-29 Superforts made morning and afternoon bomb raids Tuesday on the east coast city of Hamhung and the Red capital of Pyongyang in northwest Korea.

The Far East Air Forces reported 156 tons of bombs were dropped by using radar. Dense clouds shrouded the targets.

United Nations warships kept pounding Red supply lines and gun emplacements on both coasts.

Suffolk Board Joins in Protest

Riverhead, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—The Suffolk county (Long Island) Board of Supervisors have joined in a protest against turning choice deep sea fishing grounds into an army target range.

The board passed a resolution yesterday urging the army to curtail the area it intends to use for anti-aircraft practice.

Recently, the army said it plans to use the water from Block Island to Montauk Point to a distance 16½ miles from shore for gunnery practice, starting in a few weeks and continuing the rest of the year.

All private vessels have been ordered out of the area.

Sports fisherman already have protested that their $1,000,000 a year industry will be endangered by such a restriction.

Dental and Health Clinics Slated for City, Rural Areas

Two dates for pre-school children's dental clinics have been announced by the Ulster County Health Department for Kingston and two child health conferences for areas outside the city.

The schedule given by Dr. Robert H. Broad, commissioner of health for the county, is:

Kingston, Wednesday and Thursday, March 21 and 22—Dental clinics for children from 3 to 5 years of age at the health center on East O'Reilly street.

Allaben, Monday, March 12—Well child clinic at health center there from 2 to 4 p. m.

Port Ewen, Wednesday, March 14—Well child clinic at health center there from 3 to 5 p. m.

The dental clinic in Kingston will be conducted by Mrs. Mary Chatfield, dental hygienist, who will examine teeth and make appointments for application of sodium fluoride to aid in prevention of tooth decay.

Parents of pre-school children may make arrangements for them to attend the clinic by phoning 1184-W on Wednesday, March 14 and Thursday, March 15.

Not for Sick Children

The well-child clinics such as those scheduled for Allaben and Port Ewen are limited to infants and pre-school children, not for care of sick children, for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Children under the regular supervision of their own physician are not admitted to child health conferences, Dr. Broad said, unless their physician desires this service to be taken over by the child health conference. In this manner, he pointed out, duplication of service is avoided.

State Senate Passes Retirement Measure

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—The state Senate has passed unanimously a bill making members of the Legislature eligible for retirement at half-pay after 20 years' service, regardless of age.

The lawmakers are paid $5,000 a year. Several leaders and ranking committee members draw extra salary.

Legislators now may participate in the state employes' retirement system and draw regular benefits.

Primarily, the system provides for voluntary retirement at 60 at about half-pay for 35 years of service.

It provides for retirement at 55 if the employes pay extra contributions to the fund. Retirement is mandatory at 70. Municipal police and firemen and state police personnel may retire after 25 years' service, regardless of age.

The bill approved by the Senate last night and sent to the Assembly would permit legislators to retire after 20 year's service, provided required, higher contributions were paid to the system.

Nickel plating first was developed on a commercial basis in England about 1870.

Allies Permit West Germans To Set Up Foreign Ministry

Bonn, Germany, March 6 (AP)—The western allies today formally allowed West Germany to set up its first postwar foreign ministry and to establish diplomatic relations with "friendly nations."

The permission was granted in a new occupation statute published here today. The statute also relaxes many other allied controls on both the internal and external affairs of the federal republic.

For the first time since before the war, Germany will be permitted to set up diplomatic missions in foreign countries. She will not have ambassadors in Washington, London or Paris, since the occupying powers still consider their high commissioners in Germany as the "channel of negotiation between the federal (German) government and the allied governments."

In these three capitals, Germany will be permitted to set up official agencies along with the consulates-general she already has established.

Treaty Is Proposed

Although Bonn officials welcomed the new law as a step toward normalizing relations with the allies, a West German spokesman said the final objective was a proposeed "contractual" treaty with the Big Three which would wipe out virtually all occupation controls. The allies promised last December to talk over such a treaty.

Publication of the statute was accompanied in London by the signing of an agreement by the United States, Britain and France permitting the shifting of their troops into each others' occupation zones. They agreed also to permit the stationing in Germany of troops of "any other allied nation participating in the defense of western Europe."

The London agreement was contained in a revision of the charter of the Allied High Commission for Germany. This revision was designed primarily at bringing the powers of the commission into line with the greater measure of self-government being granted western Germany.

Adenauer to Keep Hold

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is expected to keep the foreign minister's portfolio in his own hands at least until he has concluded a contractual treaty with the allies. Political circles in Bonn believe he will nominate Prof. Walter Hallstein, now leading the German Schuman and Eleven Plan delegations, to be the permanent head of the foreign office.

The last German foreign minister was Count Lutz von Schwerin Krosigk, who was in office for only eight troubled days at the war's end when Adm. Karl Doenitz became the Nazi fuehrer. Before him, the Reich's foreign minister was Joachim von Ribbentrop, who was hanged at Nuernberg for war crimes. Schwerin-Krosigk was released recently from Landsberg Prison, where he had served a war crimes sentence.

Under the new statute, the allies reserve the right to take over full controls if they consider it "essential to security or to preserve democratic government in Germany or in pursuance of the international obligations of their governments."

The occupying powers also retain the right to review any international agreements west Germany may make to insure that they do not conflict with allied interests.

Local Death Record

Funeral services for Mrs. Ada Maxon, widow of Horace S. Maxon were held from the late home, 26 Hoffman street, Monday at 2 p. m. The Rev. William C. Cain of the Rondout Presbyterian and Wurts Street Baptist Church officiated. The home was filled with many friends and relatives, and the casket was banked with flowers. Many friends also called at the late home to pay their respects. Burial was in the family plot in the Hurley Cemetery, where the Rev. Mr. Cain recited the committal service.

Mrs. Helen Elizabeth Baker of 220 Zendiger avenue, Staten Island died Monday. She is survived by her husband, Lawrence Baker; one daughter, Alice Baker; her mother, Mrs. Alice Fitzgerald; five brothers, John, James, Henry, Morgan, and Edward Fitzgerald; and two sisters, Mrs. Alice McPartland, and Mrs. Ann Thompson. Funeral services will be held from the late residence Thursday, and a solemn requiem Mass will be said at St. Peter's Church at 9:30 a. m. Burial will follow in St. Peter's Cemetery, Staten Island.

Miss Mary Mellert, a native of Kingston but who made her home in New York for the past 27 years, died suddenly at her home yesterday. Born in Kingston, Miss Mellert was the daughter of the late Joseph and Mary Weiss Mellert. A milliner by trade, Miss Mellert was considered an expert and continued her work until the time of her death. In addition to several nieces and nephews, she is survived by one brother, William Mellert of Zena. The funeral will be held from the residence of Mrs. Carl Mellert, 68 Andrew street, on Thursday at 9 a. m. and at St. Peter's Church at 9:30 where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul. Friends may call at the residence on Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The funeral of Owen F. Mooney of Rosendale was held Saturday at 9:30 a. m., from the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale and at 10 o'clock at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, where a solemn high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. John F. Kelly. The Rev. Thomas Gaffney was the deacon and the Rev. William Reynolds, the subdeacon. Frank Raible and Edward Cherny were the soloists assisted at the organ by James Sweeney. During the time the body reposed at the funeral home, many relatives and friends called to pay their respects and offer condolences to the bereaved family. There were many beautiful floral tributes and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards, all attesting to the high esteem in which he was held. Friday evening, Father Kelly called at the funeral home and led those assembled in the recitation of the Rosary and prayers for the dead. The body was placed in a vault in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale, for burial later at the convenience of the family. Bearers were Stephen Huben, Charles Hermance, Joseph O'Connor, William Reynolds, Vincent Steeley and Charles Reilly.

Hirshfield Estate

New York, March 5 (Special)—The estate of the late Abraham Hirshfield of New York, in which his son, Howard Hirshfield of Wallkill, will share, was appraised here today by the New York State Transfer Tax Department at $139,551, gross value, and $133,386, net. More than half the estate was in stocks and bonds. The widow, Mrs. Bertha Hirshfield of this city, will inherit $3,000 a year from the estate. Upon her death, the Wallkill man and a daughter, Mrs. Edna Hyman of New York, will share equally in the assets. The elder Hirshfield died on June 29, 1945.

Wins Top Award

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Robert J. Kolenkow, 17, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., last night won the top prize—a $2,800 college scholarship—in an annual talent hunt for the nation's most promising young scientist. Runner-up was also a New York state youth, Frederick J. Ernst, Jr., 17, of Exeter Place Ardsley, Westchester county. He was awarded a $2,000 scholarship at ceremonies held here. Forty finanists competed here for the last five days of the tenth annual contest. They were the survivors in initial tests among some 13,000 students of public, parochial and private high schools.

Dewey Asks Bill

New York city to increase its sales tax from two to three per cent, providing most of the Democrats vote for it also.

3—The Hughes-Brees bill to provide greater unemployment insurance tax abatement for employers with stable employment records and to increase the maximum weekly benefit for employes from $26 to $30.

4—A reported compromise plan to set up a "standby" public authority to take over and operate the bankrupt Long Island Railroad only if private operation under reorganization fails.

5—Dewey's sweeping defense-emergency bill, on which a public hearing will be held Thursday.

Plan Is Praised

Although the Democrats are expected to criticize the Moore Commission recommendations on teacher pay boosts as insufficient, the plan was praised by the State Teachers Association and the State School Boards Association, Inc.

The board of directors of the Teachers Association, which claims 44,000 upstate members, unanimously commended the Moore plan.

Executive Secretary Arvie Eldred said the commission had "spelled out a method for equitably financing the program" with state and local funds.

In New York city, however, the Teachers Union called the plan "piddling" and a "a sop and an insult to the teaching staff."

The union president, Abraham Lederman, said the plan would average less than $200 a year per teacher in New York city and "falls far short of even the inadequate increases" recommended by a city committee.

Big Four Deputies

slates could be brought into agreement.

Each of the proposals listed three points for discussion. Two of them seemed in general accord. The deputies probably will spend many hours talking, however, to arrive at any agreement on the precise wording.

Each Suggests Talk

Each faction suggested that the foreign ministers talk about a peace treaty for Germany and methods of relieving tention in Europe. but they approached the subjects by different roads.

The Russian proposal mentioned "the conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany and consequent withdrawal of the occupying powers." The westerners came in with "problems relating to the unity of Germany and preparation of a treaty of pesce."

The western nations may not be so eager to talk about the withdrawal of occupying forces. Russia may be equally reticent to discuss a unified Germany in the sense intended by the west.

The western powers proposed an "examination of the causes of international tension in Europe and the means to secure a real and lasting improvement in relations between the United Kingdom, France, the United States and Russia."

One western source commented that the Russian proposal for arms reduction was not new. He said the question is how this disarmament is to be accomplished and whether Russia will submit to international inspection. In the past, the Kremlin has always refused this and the west has insisted it had no other safeguard.

The deputies are not permitted to discuss the substances of any of these questions. All they can do is lay out the points on an agenda for the foreign ministers.

Referendum Plans Killed

Rockford, Ill., March 6 (AP)—Plans for a grass roots referendum on foreign policy in the Rockford city election April 3 were killed last night. The City Council, which had approved such a public opinion sampling last week by a vote of 15 to 3, decided at last night's meeting it wasn't a good idea, after all. The reversal vote was 14 to 6, with two aldermen voting who were absent last week. The reasons for the decision not to hold the referendum included unfavorable reaction to the test by constituents of the aldermen, expense of such a poll, and the idea, expressed by Alderman Thomas McDonnell, that "we don't need a poll to determine how the Republican majority here feels."

Commerce Group Urges Interest in Survey of Water

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce today urged a careful study of the proposed classification and assignments of standards of quality and purity to waters of the Rondout creek made by the New York State Water Pollution Control Board.

Official notices of a public hearing on this subject, to be held in the city hall here on March 22, were recently received from the Pollution Control Board. The notice included a 159 page book, a report of the results of the study made of the entire Rondout creek-Wallkill river drainage basin, as well as a copy of the official rules adopted by the board for the classifications and standards of quality and purity for waters of New York state.

Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commeree, stated that copies of the report and rules may be procured directly from the Water Pollution Control Board, New York State Department of Health, Albany 1, New York, or a copy may be inspected at the chamber office.

The Pollution Control Board invites a free and frank discussion of the proposed classifications at the March 22 hearing. Comments and criticisms from all interested parties will be welcomed. After considering the suggestions made at the hearing, official classifications of the Rondout creek waters will be promulgated and quality standards assigned. The board states that following this portion of their assigned duties "will be the development of a comprehensive plan of pollution abatement."

Under Article 6 of the Public Health Law, the Water Pollution Control Board has been given broad and far reaching powers with respect to control and abatement of water pollution. The board has authority to issue and enforce orders requiring the abatement of pollution which contravene any standards of quality as established by the board.

In commenting on the complete board report, the Chamber of Commerce noted that numerous sources of pollution are listed and urged that every municipality, factory, processing plant, milk plant, institution, village, hotel, and boarding house, located in the entire Rondout Creek-Wallkill river drainage area, should study the report and be represented at the hearing on March 22. This includes those on the small streams which eventually flow into either the Rondout creek or the Wallkill river. The pollution control plan may affect every source of contamination or pollution.

No Seizure Provided

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—The sponsor of Governor Dewey's controversial civil defense bill said today it did not provide for seizure of newspapers in event of an attack. Assemblyman Frank J. Becker, Lynnbrook Republican, said reference in the measure to seizure of "communication facilities" did not mean newspapers but applied to radio stations, and telegraph and telephone facilities. Neither the original bill nor the "softened" version specifically mentioned newspapers.

John L. Lenker, a 17-year veteran of the oil industry, has been elected chairman of the New York State Oil Industry Information Committee, it was announced today by George D. McDaniel, of New York, chairman of the New York-New Jersey district. He succeeds Q. W. Regestein, division manager of the Socony-Vacuum Oil Company, who has been state chairman of the OIIC since its inception in 1948. Lenker is manager of retail sales for the Gulf Oil Corporation's New York division, in charge of company's retail sales activities in New York state, northern New Jersey and Connecticut. He started with Gulf in 1934 and was transferred to his present position in 1947 after six years in the Pittsburgh general office as manager of merchandising and training. He is a native of Harrisburg, Pa., and a graduate of Pennsylvania State College.

Four Will Attend Claims Hearing

Four representatives of Ulster county will attend a Comptroller's hearing in New York on Monday on the county's claim for $387,500 damages allegedly caused by artificial rainmaking.

Those who will represent this county are Frederick Stang, county attorney; Arthur A. Davis, Jr., assistant county attorney; James F. Loughran, county superintendent of highways, and Roland Green, assistant superintendent of highways.

The claim was presented to the Comptroller of the City of New York, alleging that city trespassed upon county property by reason of "cloud seeding" and caused excessive rainfall in the area. The amount involved is the alleged damage to county roads and bridges during the heavy floods of last November 25.

Freeze May Come On TV and Appliances

New York, March 6 (AP)—Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle says a freeze may come in the next two weeks on retailers' "margins" on television sets and household appliances.

DiSalle also promises ceiling prices are to be ordered posted in retail food stores, but not for several months.

The price stabilizer spoke of the measures yesterday when he addressed a meeting of the Northeastern Roofing, Siding and Insulating Contractors Association. He later talked to newsmen.

A "margin" type order such as DiSalle mentioned is intended to control prices on a "fairer and more workable" basis by fixing the margin between wholesale and retail prices.

This margin, or markup, would be set as of some base date.

A similar order already has been issued to cover clothing, furniture, rugs, lamps, drygoods and household textiles.

Canada to Send 6,000

Ottawa, March 6 (AP)—Canada expects to put army brigades of about 6,000 men each in both Korea and Europe this year—and to do it entirely through voluntary enlistments. The Canadian goal is 115,000 in the armed forces by 1954 — including women — some thing the 14,000,000-population dominion has never tried in peacetime. The army, navy and air force now total about 66,000 men. Military conscription, a bitter pill for French Catholic Quebec, is expected to come only with the start of any general war. Government sources said last night if recruiting holds up at anything like the present tempo, the services' manpower requirements can be met without it by the spring of 1953.

New Paltz Faces Contest in Caucus

The names of Mayor Robert Reid and Village Trustee Roland G. Will will be presented this evening at the New Paltz village caucus as candidates to succeed themselves. Mayor Reid will be opposed by Benjamin Matteson of the New Paltz State Teachers College for the post of candidate for mayor and Trustee Will will have as an opponent Wesley Van Vliet.

Chester Smith has declined to run again for trustee and candidates at the caucus for that position will be Gregory Rheude and Joseph Tigue.

The caucus will be held in the Municipal Building at 8 o'clock.

In the past the selection of a candidate at the caucus has been equivalent to election to the office. The village election will be held on the third Tuesday of March.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 6 (AP)—Despite the bolstering influence of heavy demand for General Motors and Packard, the stock market today edged lower.

The losses didn't amount to much, seldom going to a point, and a great number of issues held unchanged from the previous close. Gains, too, were on the modest side.

General Motors opened up ⅝ at 60⅞ on a block of 5,000 shares in a delayed start occasioned by a jam of buyers and sellers. The demand stemmed from the annual report which showed the giant company had the heaviest sales and profits in its history. Earnings came to the equivalent of $9.35 a share as against $7.32 the previous year.

Packard hit the tape the first time with a block of 13,000 shares up ⅝ at 5⅝. Buyers flocked in on the news that Packard had received what was described as a huge order from the air force for General Electric's J-47 turbo-jet engines. Packard said it was one of Detroit's biggest known defense orders to date."

Football Is Suspended

Niagara Falls, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Niagara University today suspended football for the duration of the present national emergency. The principal reason is the shortage of player material. The university has lost some freshmen and many sophomores and juniors will be graduated in June.

Wilson Confers On Labor Revolt

Key West, Fla., March 6 (AP)—Labor's revolt against the defense mobilization program brought Charles E. Wilson here today for a conference with President Truman.

The defense mobilization director flew in from Fort Lauderdale, where his family has been vacationing, for a heart-to-heart talk with President Truman at the Little White House on this naval submarine station.

The united labor policy committee has turned thumbs down on Wilson and his mobilization program on grounds it is dominated by "big business."

It withdrew its representatives first from the Wage Stabilization Board, then from all other defense agencies.

Mr. Truman, at his last news conference in Washington, refused to consider this action as a strike, terming it simply a disagreement.

The possibility that labor's disaffection might lead to widespread strikes was discounted in administration circles.

Nevertheless, the President and Wilson were concerned about a development which brought fears outside the administration that the unions had to be brought into agreement to keep production at high speed.

Might Offer Formula

Every indication was that the President and Wilson might try to work out a peace formula acceptable to labor.

At the same time, Presidential Secretary Joseph Short declined to attach great significance to the meeting.

He insisted upon saying that the President simply invited Wilson over to a luncheon at the Little White House and in calling it a social get-together.

Wilson is expected at the Boca Chica Airport, eight and a half miles from the President's quarters, at 11:45 a. m. He is leaving later in the afternoon.

Marines Drive . . .

Tuesday showed 1,500 Reds were moving into the area from the northeast to reinforce 3,000 to 5,000 North Koreans already there.

A Seventh Division tank-infantry patrol drove more than two miles into Changpyong Monday in the Taemi, area, but withdrew slightly south at dusk. Changpyong is a road junction 10 miles north of Pangnim.

South Koreans Drive

South Korean Seventh Division units were driving Monday toward Hajinbu, eight miles east of Changypong. Another enemy buildup was reported in and around Hajinbu, some 30 air miles inland from the east coast.

On the west-central front, a U. S. First Cavalry tank-infantry team captured Yongdu Monday and thrust eastward toward Hoengsong, 16 miles away. The lateral highway between the two towns was a no-man's land. Heavy Red fire came from the hills on the north side.

On the western front, a U. S. Third Division patrol slipped across the Han Monday night into the southern outskirts of Seoul. It withdrew under fire. Several patrols were forced back earlier Monday.

B-29 Superforts made morning and afternoon bomb raids Tuesday on the east coast city of Hamhung and the Red capital of Pyongyang in northwest Korea.

The Far East Air Forces reported 156 tons of bombs were dropped by using radar. Dense clouds shrouded the targets.

United Nations warships kept pounding Red supply lines and gun emplacements on both coasts.

Suffolk Board Joins in Protest

Riverhead, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—The Suffolk county (Long Island) Board of Supervisors have joined in a protest against turning choice deep sea fishing grounds into an army target range.

The board passed a resolution yesterday urging the army to curtail the area it intends to use for anti-aircraft practice.

Recently, the army said it plans to use the water from Block Island to Montauk Point to a distance 16½ miles from shore for gunnery practice, starting in a few weeks and continuing the rest of the year.

All private vessels have been ordered out of the area.

Sports fisherman already have protested that their $1,000,000 a year industry will be endangered by such a restriction.

Dental and Health Clinics Slated for City, Rural Areas

Two dates for pre-school children's dental clinics have been announced by the Ulster County Health Department for Kingston and two child health conferences for areas outside the city.

The schedule given by Dr. Robert H. Broad, commissioner of health for the county, is:

Kingston, Wednesday and Thursday, March 21 and 22—Dental clinics for children from 3 to 5 years of age at the health center on East O'Reilly street.

Allaben, Monday, March 12—Well child clinic at health center there from 2 to 4 p. m.

Port Ewen, Wednesday, March 14—Well child clinic at health center there from 3 to 5 p. m.

The dental clinic in Kingston will be conducted by Mrs. Mary Chatfield, dental hygienist, who will examine teeth and make appointments for application of sodium fluoride to aid in prevention of tooth decay.

Parents of pre-school children may make arrangements for them to attend the clinic by phoning 1184-W on Wednesday, March 14 and Thursday, March 15.

Not for Sick Children

The well-child clinics such as those scheduled for Allaben and Port Ewen are limited to infants and pre-school children, not for care of sick children, for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Children under the regular supervision of their own physician are not admitted to child health conferences, Dr. Broad said, unless their physician desires this service to be taken over by the child health conference. In this manner, he pointed out, duplication of service is avoided.

State Senate Passes Retirement Measure

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—The state Senate has passed unanimously a bill making members of the Legislature eligible for retirement at half-pay after 20 years' service, regardless of age.

The lawmakers are paid $5,000 a year. Several leaders and ranking committee members draw extra salary.

Legislators now may participate in the state employes' retirement system and draw regular benefits.

Primarily, the system provides for voluntary retirement at 60 at about half-pay for 35 years of service.

It provides for retirement at 55 if the employes pay extra contributions to the fund. Retirement is mandatory at 70. Municipal police and firemen and state police personnel may retire after 25 years' service, regardless of age.

The bill approved by the Senate last night and sent to the Assembly would permit legislators to retire after 20 year's service, provided required, higher contributions were paid to the system.

Nickel plating first was developed on a commercial basis in England about 1870.

Allies Permit West Germans To Set Up Foreign Ministry

Bonn, Germany, March 6 (AP)—The western allies today formally allowed West Germany to set up its first postwar foreign ministry and to establish diplomatic relations with "friendly nations."

The permission was granted in a new occupation statute published here today. The statute also relaxes many other allied controls on both the internal and external affairs of the federal republic.

For the first time since before the war, Germany will be permitted to set up diplomatic missions in foreign countries. She will not have ambassadors in Washington, London or Paris, since the occupying powers still consider their high commissioners in Germany as the "channel of negotiation between the federal (German) government and the allied governments."

In these three capitals, Germany will be permitted to set up official agencies along with the consulates-general she already has established.

Treaty Is Proposed

Although Bonn officials welcomed the new law as a step toward normalizing relations with the allies, a West German spokesman said the final objective was a proposeed "contractual" treaty with the Big Three which would wipe out virtually all occupation controls. The allies promised last December to talk over such a treaty.

Publication of the statute was accompanied in London by the signing of an agreement by the United States, Britain and France permitting the shifting of their troops into each others' occupation zones. They agreed also to permit the stationing in Germany of troops of "any other allied nation participating in the defense of western Europe."

The London agreement was contained in a revision of the charter of the Allied High Commission for Germany. This revision was designed primarily at bringing the powers of the commission into line with the greater measure of self-government being granted western Germany.

Adenauer to Keep Hold

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is expected to keep the foreign minister's portfolio in his own hands at least until he has concluded a contractual treaty with the allies. Political circles in Bonn believe he will nominate Prof. Walter Hallstein, now leading the German Schuman and Eleven Plan delegations, to be the permanent head of the foreign office.

The last German foreign minister was Count Lutz von Schwerin Krosigk, who was in office for only eight troubled days at the war's end when Adm. Karl Doenitz became the Nazi fuehrer. Before him, the Reich's foreign minister was Joachim von Ribbentrop, who was hanged at Nuernberg for war crimes. Schwerin-Krosigk was released recently from Landsberg Prison, where he had served a war crimes sentence.

Under the new statute, the allies reserve the right to take over full controls if they consider it "essential to security or to preserve democratic government in Germany or in pursuance of the international obligations of their governments."

The occupying powers also retain the right to review any international agreements west Germany may make to insure that they do not conflict with allied interests.

Local Death Record

Funeral services for Mrs. Ada Maxon, widow of Horace S. Maxon were held from the late home, 26 Hoffman street, Monday at 2 p. m. The Rev. William C. Cain of the Rondout Presbyterian and Wurts Street Baptist Church officiated. The home was filled with many friends and relatives, and the casket was banked with flowers. Many friends also called at the late home to pay their respects. Burial was in the family plot in the Hurley Cemetery, where the Rev. Mr. Cain recited the committal service.

Mrs. Helen Elizabeth Baker of 220 Zendiger avenue, Staten Island died Monday. She is survived by her husband, Lawrence Baker; one daughter, Alice Baker; her mother, Mrs. Alice Fitzgerald; five brothers, John, James, Henry, Morgan, and Edward Fitzgerald; and two sisters, Mrs. Alice McPartland, and Mrs. Ann Thompson. Funeral services will be held from the late residence Thursday, and a solemn requiem Mass will be said at St. Peter's Church at 9:30 a. m. Burial will follow in St. Peter's Cemetery, Staten Island.

Miss Mary Mellert, a native of Kingston but who made her home in New York for the past 27 years, died suddenly at her home yesterday. Born in Kingston, Miss Mellert was the daughter of the late Joseph and Mary Weiss Mellert. A milliner by trade, Miss Mellert was considered an expert and continued her work until the time of her death. In addition to several nieces and nephews, she is survived by one brother, William Mellert of Zena. The funeral will be held from the residence of Mrs. Carl Mellert, 68 Andrew street, on Thursday at 9 a. m. and at St. Peter's Church at 9:30 where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul. Friends may call at the residence on Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The funeral of Owen F. Mooney of Rosendale was held Saturday at 9:30 a. m., from the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale and at 10 o'clock at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, where a solemn high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. John F. Kelly. The Rev. Thomas Gaffney was the deacon and the Rev. William Reynolds, the subdeacon. Frank Raible and Edward Cherny were the soloists assisted at the organ by James Sweeney. During the time the body reposed at the funeral home, many relatives and friends called to pay their respects and offer condolences to the bereaved family. There were many beautiful floral tributes and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards, all attesting to the high esteem in which he was held. Friday evening, Father Kelly called at the funeral home and led those assembled in the recitation of the Rosary and prayers for the dead. The body was placed in a vault in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale, for burial later at the convenience of the family. Bearers were Stephen Huben, Charles Hermance, Joseph O'Connor, William Reynolds, Vincent Steeley and Charles Reilly.

Hirshfield Estate

New York, March 5 (Special)—The estate of the late Abraham Hirshfield of New York, in which his son, Howard Hirshfield of Wallkill, will share, was appraised here today by the New York State Transfer Tax Department at $139,551, gross value, and $133,386, net. More than half the estate was in stocks and bonds. The widow, Mrs. Bertha Hirshfield of this city, will inherit $3,000 a year from the estate. Upon her death, the Wallkill man and a daughter, Mrs. Edna Hyman of New York, will share equally in the assets. The elder Hirshfield died on June 29, 1945.

Wins Top Award

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Robert J. Kolenkow, 17, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., last night won the top prize—a $2,800 college scholarship—in an annual talent hunt for the nation's most promising young scientist. Runner-up was also a New York state youth, Frederick J. Ernst, Jr., 17, of Exeter Place Ardsley, Westchester county. He was awarded a $2,000 scholarship at ceremonies held here. Forty finanists competed here for the last five days of the tenth annual contest. They were the survivors in initial tests among some 13,000 students of public, parochial and private high schools.

Dewey Asks Bill

New York city to increase its sales tax from two to three per cent, providing most of the Democrats vote for it also.

3—The Hughes-Brees bill to provide greater unemployment insurance tax abatement for employers with stable employment records and to increase the maximum weekly benefit for employes from $26 to $30.

4—A reported compromise plan to set up a "standby" public authority to take over and operate the bankrupt Long Island Railroad only if private operation under reorganization fails.

5—Dewey's sweeping defense-emergency bill, on which a public hearing will be held Thursday.

Plan Is Praised

Although the Democrats are expected to criticize the Moore Commission recommendations on teacher pay boosts as insufficient, the plan was praised by the State Teachers Association and the State School Boards Association, Inc.

The board of directors of the Teachers Association, which claims 44,000 upstate members, unanimously commended the Moore plan.

Executive Secretary Arvie Eldred said the commission had "spelled out a method for equitably financing the program" with state and local funds.

In New York city, however, the Teachers Union called the plan "piddling" and a "a sop and an insult to the teaching staff."

The union president, Abraham Lederman, said the plan would average less than $200 a year per teacher in New York city and "falls far short of even the inadequate increases" recommended by a city committee.

Big Four Deputies

slates could be brought into agreement.

Each of the proposals listed three points for discussion. Two of them seemed in general accord. The deputies probably will spend many hours talking, however, to arrive at any agreement on the precise wording.

Each Suggests Talk

Each faction suggested that the foreign ministers talk about a peace treaty for Germany and methods of relieving tention in Europe. but they approached the subjects by different roads.

The Russian proposal mentioned "the conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany and consequent withdrawal of the occupying powers." The westerners came in with "problems relating to the unity of Germany and preparation of a treaty of peace."

The western nations may not be so eager to talk about the withdrawal of occupying forces. Russia may be equally reticent to discuss a unified Germany in the sense intended by the west.

The western powers proposed an "examination of the causes of international tension in Europe and the means to secure a real and lasting improvement in relations between the United Kingdom, France, the United States and Russia."

One western source commented that the Russian proposal for arms reduction was not new. He said the question is how this disarmament is to be accomplished and whether Russia will submit to international inspection. In the past, the Kremlin has always refused this and the west has insisted it had no other safeguard.

The deputies are not permitted to discuss the substances of any of these questions. All they can do is lay out the points on an agenda for the foreign ministers.

Referendum Plans Killed

Rockford, Ill., March 6 (AP)—Plans for a grass roots referendum on foreign policy in the Rockford city election April 3 were killed last night. The City Council, which had approved such a public opinion sampling last week by a vote of 15 to 3, decided at last night's meeting it wasn't a good idea, after all. The reversal vote was 14 to 6, with two aldermen voting who were absent last week. The reasons for the decision not to hold the referendum included unfavorable reaction to the test by constituents of the aldermen, expense of such a poll, and the idea, expressed by Alderman Thomas McDonnell, that "we don't need a poll to determine how the Republican majority here feels."

Commerce Group Urges Interest in Survey of Water

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce today urged a careful study of the proposed classification and assignments of standards of quality and purity to waters of the Rondout creek made by the New York State Water Pollution Control Board.

Official notices of a public hearing on this subject, to be held in the city hall here on March 22, were recently received from the Pollution Control Board. The notice included a 159 page book, a report of the results of the study made of the entire Rondout creek-Wallkill river drainage basin, as well as a copy of the official rules adopted by the board for the classifications and standards of quality and purity for waters of New York state.

Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, stated that copies of the report and rules may be procured directly from the Water Pollution Control Board, New York State Department of Health, Albany 1, New York, or a copy may be inspected at the chamber office.

The Pollution Control Board invites a free and frank discussion of the proposed classifications at the March 22 hearing. Comments and criticisms from all interested parties will be welcomed. After considering the suggestions made at the hearing, official classifications of the Rondout creek waters will be promulgated and quality standards assigned. The board states that following this portion of their assigned duties "will be the development of a comprehensive plan of pollution abatement."

Under Article 6 of the Public Health Law, the Water Pollution Control Board has been given broad and far reaching powers with respect to control and abatement of water pollution. The board has authority to issue and enforce orders requiring the abatement of pollution which contravene any standards of quality as established by the board.

In commenting on the complete board report, the Chamber of Commerce noted that numerous sources of pollution are listed and urged that every municipality, factory, processing plant, milk plant, institution, village, hotel, and boarding house, located in the entire Rondout Creek-Wallkill river drainage area, should study the report and be represented at the hearing on March 22. This includes those on the small streams which eventually flow into either the Rondout creek or the Wallkill river. The pollution control plan may affect every source of contamination or pollution.

No Seizure Provided

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—The sponsor of Governor Dewey's controversial civil defense bill said today it did not provide for seizure of newspapers in event of an attack. Assemblyman Frank J. Becker, Lynnbrook Republican, said reference in the measure to seizure of "communication facilities" did not mean newspapers but applied to radio stations, and telegraph and telephone facilities. Neither the original bill nor the "softened" version specifically mentioned newspapers.

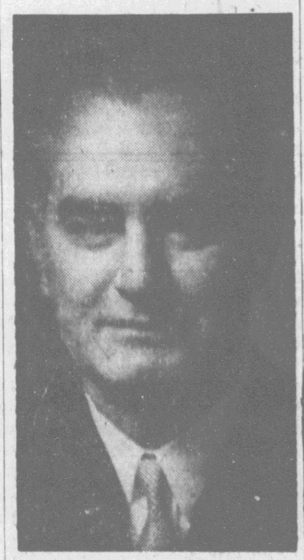
Chairman



JOHN L. LENKER

John L. Lenker, a 17-year veteran of the oil industry, has been elected chairman of the New York State Oil Industry Information Committee, it was announced today by George D. McDaniel, of New York, chairman of the New York-New Jersey district. He succeeds Q. W. Regestein, division manager of the Socony-Vacuum Oil Company, who has been state chairman of the OIIC since its inception in 1948. Lenker is manager of retail sales for the Gulf Oil Corporation's New York division, in charge of company's retail sales activities in New York state, northern New Jersey and Connecticut. He started with Gulf in 1934 and was transferred to his present position in 1947 after six years in the Pittsburgh general office as manager of merchandising and training. He is a native of Harrisburg, Pa., and a graduate of Pennsylvania State College.

Four Will Attend Claims Hearing

Four representatives of Ulster county will attend a Comptroller's hearing in New York on Monday on the county's claim for $387,500 damages allegedly caused by artificial rainmaking.

Those who will represent this county are Frederick Stang, county attorney; Arthur A. Davis, Jr., assistant county attorney; James F. Loughran, county superintendent of highways, and Roland Green, assistant superintendent of highways.

The claim was presented to the Comptroller of the City of New York, alleging that city trespassed upon county property by reason of "cloud seeding" and caused excessive rainfall in the area. The amount involved is the alleged damage to county roads and bridges during the heavy floods of last November 25.

Freeze May Come On TV and Appliances

New York, March 6 (AP)—Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle says a freeze may come in the next two weeks on retailers' "margins" on television sets and household appliances.

DiSalle also promises ceiling prices are to be ordered posted in retail food stores, but not for several months.

The price stabilizer spoke of the measures yesterday when he addressed a meeting of the Northeastern Roofing, Siding and Insulating Contractors Association. He later talked to newsmen.

A "margin" type order such as DiSalle mentioned is intended to control prices on a "fairer and more workable" basis by fixing the margin between wholesale and retail prices.

This margin, or markup, would be set as of some base date.

A similar order already has been issued to cover clothing, furniture, rugs, lamps, drygoods and household textiles.

Canada to Send 6,000

Ottawa, March 6 (AP)—Canada expects to put army brigades of about 6,000 men each in both Korea and Europe this year—and to do it entirely through voluntary enlistments. The Canadian goal is 115,000 in the armed forces by 1954 — including women — some thing the 14,000,000-population dominion has never tried in peacetime. The army, navy and air force now total about 66,000 men. Military conscription, a bitter pill for French Catholic Quebec, is expected to come only with the start of any general war. Government sources said last night if recruiting holds up at anything like the present tempo, the services' manpower requirements can be met without it by the spring of 1953.

New Paltz Faces Contest in Caucus

The names of Mayor Robert Reid and Village Trustee Roland G. Will will be presented this evening at the New Paltz village caucus as candidates to succeed themselves. Mayor Reid will be opposed by Benjamin Matteson of the New Paltz State Teachers College for the post of candidate for mayor and Trustee Will will have as an opponent Wesley Van Vliet.

Chester Smith has declined to run again for trustee and candidates at the caucus for that position will be Gregory Rheude and Joseph Tigue.

The caucus will be held in the Municipal Building at 8 o'clock.

In the past the selection of a candidate at the caucus has been equivalent to election to the office. The village election will be held on the third Tuesday of March.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 6 (AP)—Despite the bolstering influence of heavy demand for General Motors and Packard, the stock market today edged lower.

The losses didn't amount to much, seldom going to a point, and a great number of issues held unchanged from the previous close. Gains, too, were on the modest side.

General Motors opened up ⅝ at 60⅞ on a block of 5,000 shares in a delayed start occasioned by a jam of buyers and sellers. The demand stemmed from the annual report which showed the giant company had the heaviest sales and profits in its history. Earnings came to the equivalent of $9.35 a share as against $7.32 the previous year.

Packard hit the tape the first time with a block of 13,000 shares up ⅜ at 5⅜. Buyers flocked in on the news that Packard had received what was described as a huge order from the air force for General Electric's J-47 turbo-jet engines. Packard said it was one of Detroit's biggest known defense orders to date."

Football Is Suspended

Niagara Falls, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Niagara University today suspended football for the duration of the present national emergency. The principal reason is the shortage of player material. The university has lost some freshmen and many sophomores and juniors will be graduated in June.

Wilson Confers On Labor Revolt

Key West, Fla., March 6 (AP)—Labor's revolt against the defense mobilization program brought Charles E. Wilson here today for a conference with President Truman.

The defense mobilization director flew in from Fort Lauderdale, where his family has been vacationing, for a heart-to-heart talk with President Truman at the Little White House on this naval submarine station.

The united labor policy committee has turned thumbs down on Wilson and his mobilization program on grounds it is dominated by "big business."

It withdrew its representatives first from the Wage Stabilization Board, then from all other defense agencies.

Mr. Truman, at his last news conference in Washington, refused to consider this action as a strike, terming it simply a disagreement.

The possibility that labor's disaffection might lead to widespread strikes was discounted in administration circles.

Nevertheless, the President and Wilson were concerned about a development which brought fears outside the administration that the unions had to be brought into agreement to keep production at high speed.

Might Offer Formula

Every indication was that the President and Wilson might try to work out a peace formula acceptable to labor.

At the same time, Presidential Secretary Joseph Short declined to attach great significance to the meeting.

He insisted upon saying that the President simply invited Wilson over to a luncheon at the Little White House and in calling it a social get-together.

Wilson is expected at the Boca Chica Airport, eight and a half miles from the President's quarters, at 11:45 a. m. He is leaving later in the afternoon.

Marines Drive . . .

Tuesday showed 1,500 Reds were moving into the area from the northeast to reinforce 3,000 to 5,000 North Koreans already there.

A Seventh Division tank-infantry patrol drove more than two miles into Changpyong Monday in the Taemi, area, but withdrew slightly south at dusk. Changpyong is a road junction 10 miles north of Pangnim.

South Koreans Drive

South Korean Seventh Division units were driving Monday toward Hajinbu, eight miles east of Changypong. Another enemy buildup was reported in and around Hajinbu, some 30 air miles inland from the east coast.

On the west-central front, a U. S. First Cavalry tank-infantry team captured Yongdu Monday and thrust eastward toward Hoengsong, 16 miles away. The lateral highway between the two towns was a no-man's land. Heavy Red fire came from the hills on the north side.

On the western front, a U. S. Third Division patrol slipped across the Han Monday night into the southern outskirts of Seoul. It withdrew under fire. Several patrols were forced back earlier Monday.

B-29 Superforts made morning and afternoon bomb raids Tuesday on the east coast city of Hamhung and the Red capital of Pyongyang in northwest Korea.

The Far East Air Forces reported 156 tons of bombs were dropped by using radar. Dense clouds shrouded the targets.

United Nations warships kept pounding Red supply lines and gun emplacements on both coasts.

Suffolk Board Joins in Protest

Riverhead, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—The Suffolk county (Long Island) Board of Supervisors have joined in a protest against turning choice deep sea fishing grounds into an army target range.

The board passed a resolution yesterday urging the army to curtail the area it intends to use for anti-aircraft practice.

Recently, the army said it plans to use the water from Block Island to Montauk Point to a distance 16½ miles from shore for gunnery practice, starting in a few weeks and continuing the rest of the year.

All private vessels have been ordered out of the area.

Sports fisherman already have protested that their $1,000,000 a year industry will be endangered by such a restriction.

18 Persons Sought On Dope Charges

New York, March 6 (AP)—Federal narcotics agents today sought 18 of 21 persons indicted as members of an international opium smuggling ring.

U. S. Attorney Irving Saypol said the ring used trucks and private planes to bring the raw opium into the United States from Mexico. He added that the opium originally came from Greece and Turkey.

Illegal laboratories throughout the nation converted the opium into heroin, authorities said.

Descriptions of the gang's operations were contained in two sealed indictments revealed in Federal Court here last night.

The federal grand jury indictments were opened after the arrest in Los Angeles, Calif., of Harold (Happy) Meltzer, a longtime friend of west coast gambler Mickey Cohen.

Meltzer was named in both indictments, one charging conspiracy to import opium and the other conspiracy to convert the opium to heroin.

He was arrested and jailed in Los Angeles yesterday on a New York narcotics warrant. His bail was set at $100,000.

Meltzer Acquitted

Along with Cohen, Meltzer recently was acquitted on a gun carrying charge there.

Max Crossman, alias Max Weber, 54, a fugitive from a narcotics charge in Mexico City, was the only other defendant named in both indictments.

Besides Meltzer, only two other defendants are known to be in custody. They are:

Joseph Karino, 48, of Istanbul, Turkey, serving time there on a narcotics charge.

Warrants have been issued for the others.

Saypol said the smugglers hid the opium in false gas tanks on cars they used during their Mexico-U. S. operations.

Authorities added that the purified heroin was distributed througout the country during the ring's existence between 1945 and last June.

The ring quit, Saypol said, because "they may have become suspicious they were under investigation."

Bill Goes to Senate

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—The Senate received today an Assembly-approved bill requiring automobile owners under 21 to carry liability insurance covering personal injury and property damage. The measure calls for coverage of $5,000 for injury or death to one person, $10,000 for injuries or deaths of two or more persons and $5,000 for property damage. Present law does not require proof of financial responsibility or insurance until a driver or owner of a motor vehicle has been in an accident causing injury or death, or property damage over $50.

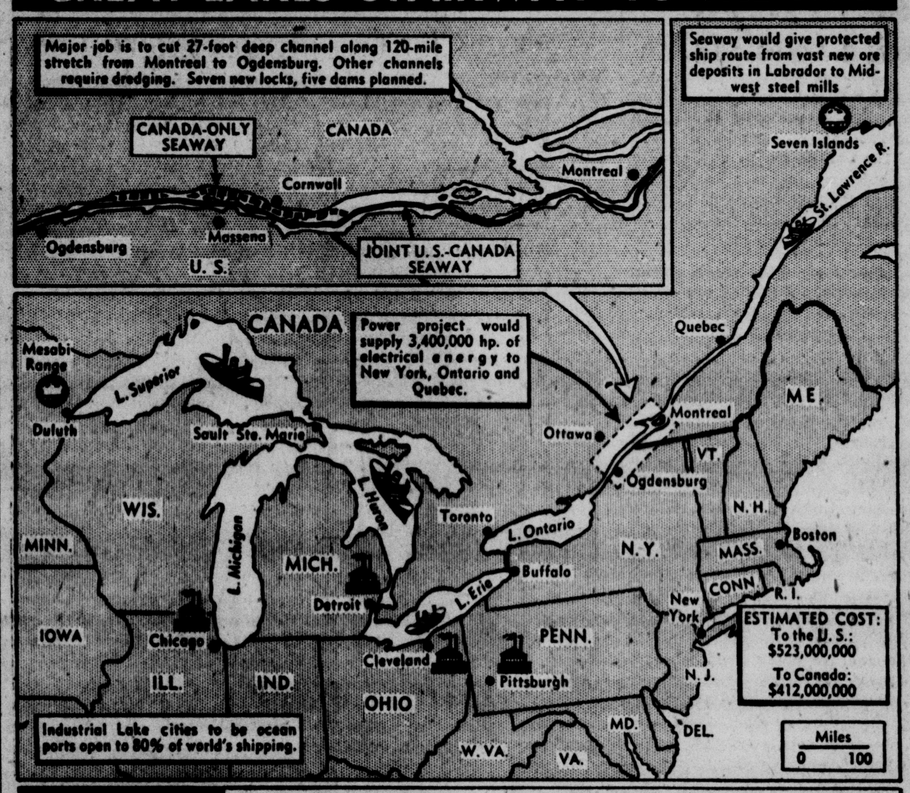
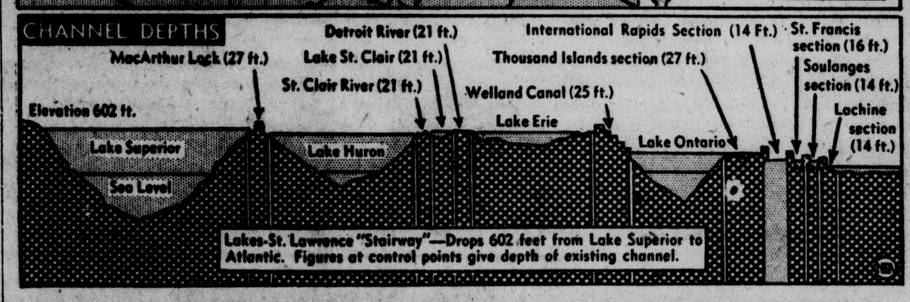
GREAT LAKES 'STAIRWAY' TO THE SEA





The St. Lawrence waterway and power project, debated periodically in Congress since before the turn of the century, is once more the subject of House committee hearings, where a parade of high-ranking Administration officials has given it their support. This time the project—highlights of which are spotlighted below—is given a fair chance for Congressional approval because of its importance to national defense. The need of Midwest steel mills for new supplies of iron ore from the great Quebec-Labrador fields is perhaps the most pressing argument in its favor. Another is that Canada is prepared to build the seaway alone over an all-Canada route if the U.S. doesn't act this year, in which case U.S. shippers might pay most of the bill through toll charges. Cost of the project, estimated at $429 million ten years ago, has now been inflated to almost one billion dollars.

Road Costs Here Are Increasing Property Taxes

Soaring road costs in Ulster County are increasing property taxes at a critical rate, the Citizens' Tax League announced in making public the results of a new study of road expenditures in relation to tax levies.

Road expenditures by all local jurisdictions in Ulster County increased 230 per cent in the decade through 1947, while property taxes increased 18.2 per cent, the study by the Citizens' Tax League revealed.

This trend will continue at an accelerated rate unless other sources of highway revenue, such as the proposed weight-distance tax on heavy trucks are used, the tax group warned.

"The inescapable result is that increased road expenditures are boosting property taxes," said Robert Menzie, executive secretary of the tax organization. "And more and more of the property taxpayer's dollars are going to pay for roads."

In Ulster County, in 1937, road expenditures were 19.4 per cent of all property tax collections. Ten years later this figure had risen to 48.9 per cent, the study shows.

"The alternative to even greater property tax increases," said Mr. Menzie, "is for taxpayers to demand that the state legislature pass the Manning bill which calls for a weight-distance tax on heavy trucks.

"It has been proved conclusively that heavy trucks are paying less than one-fourth as much for the same use of the roads as passenger cars and lighter trucks," Mr. Menzie continued. "Before taxpayers are called upon to pay higher property taxes, heavy trucks should be made to shoulder their share of the road burden, as proposed in the Manning bill.

"If these heavy trucks were made to pay higher fees, the additional revenues would go a long way to pay for local road costs and give tax relief to property taxpayers," Mr. Menzie concluded.

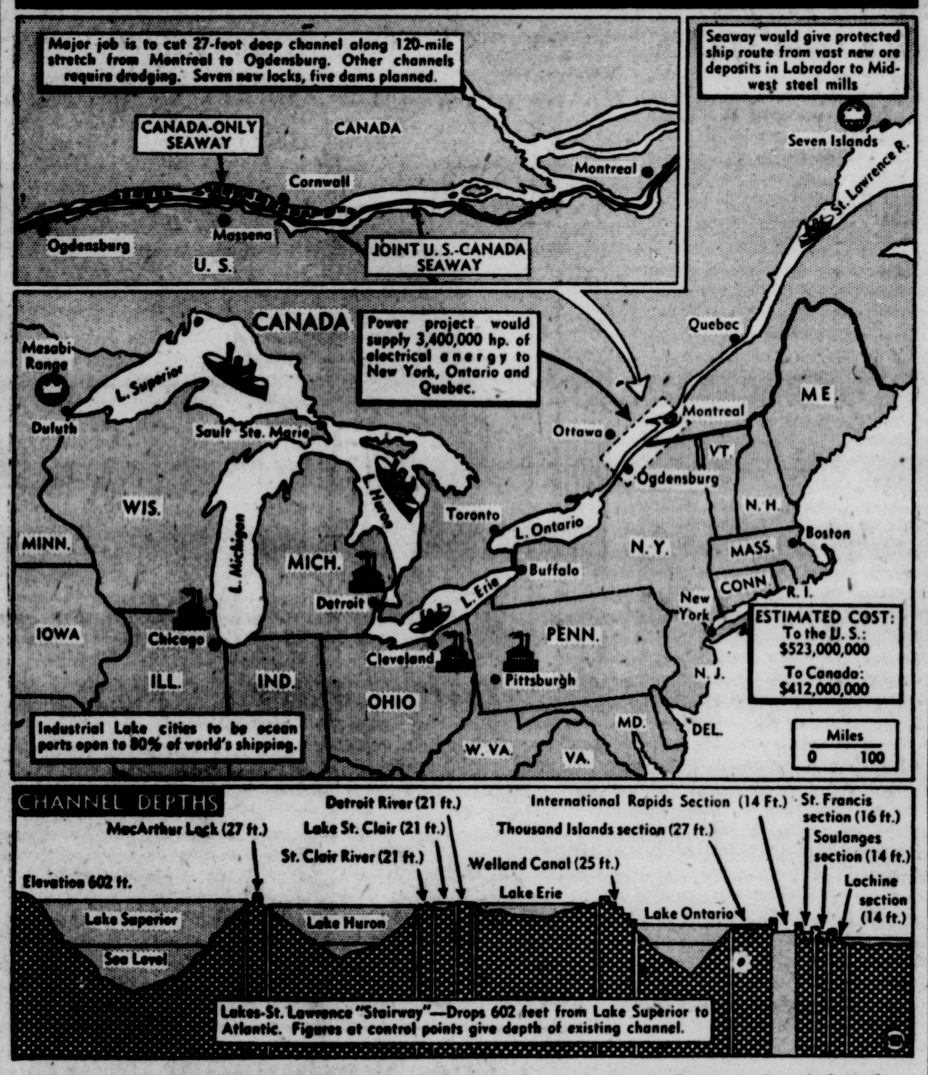
GREAT LAKES 'STAIRWAY' TO THE SEA



The St. Lawrence waterway and power project, debated periodically in Congress since before the turn of the century, is once more the subject of House committee hearings, where a parade of high-ranking Administration officials has given it their support. This time the project—highlights of which are spotlighted below—is given a fair chance for Congressional approval because of its importance to national defense. The need of Midwest steel mills for new supplies of iron ore from the great Quebec-Labrador fields is perhaps the most pressing argument in its favor. Another is that Canada is prepared to build the seaway alone over an all-Canada route if the U.S. doesn't act this year, in which case U.S. shippers might pay most of the bill through toll charges. Cost of the project, estimated at $429 million ten years ago, has now been inflated to almost one billion dollars.

Road Costs Here Are Increasing Property Taxes

Soaring road costs in Ulster County are increasing property taxes at a critical rate, the Citizens' Tax League announced in making public the results of a new study of road expenditures in relation to tax levies.

Road expenditures by all local jurisdictions in Ulster County increased 230 per cent in the decade through 1947, while property taxes increased 18.2 per cent, the study by the Citizens' Tax League revealed.

This trend will continue at an accelerated rate unless other sources of highway revenue, such as the proposed weight-distance tax on heavy trucks are used, the tax group warned.

"The inescapable result is that increased road expenditures are boosting property taxes," said Robert Menzie, executive secretary of the tax organization. "And more and more of the property taxpayer's dollars are going to pay for roads."

In Ulster County, in 1937, road expenditures were 19.4 per cent of all property tax collections. Ten years later this figure had risen to 48.9 per cent, the study shows.

"The alternative to even greater property tax increases," said Mr. Menzie, "is for taxpayers to demand that the state legislature pass the Manning bill which calls for a weight-distance tax on heavy trucks.

"It has been proved conclusively that heavy trucks are paying less than one-fourth as much for the same use of the roads as passenger cars and lighter trucks," Mr. Menzie continued. "Before taxpayers are called upon to pay higher property taxes, heavy trucks should be made to shoulder their share of the road burden, as proposed in the Manning bill.

"If these heavy trucks were made to pay higher fees, the additional revenues would go a long way to pay for local road costs and give tax relief to property taxpayers," Mr. Menzie concluded.

18 Persons Sought On Dope Charges

New York, March 6 (AP)—Federal narcotics agents today sought 18 of 21 persons indicted as members of an international opium smuggling ring.

U. S. Attorney Irving Saypol said the ring used trucks and private planes to bring the raw opium into the United States from Mexico. He added that the opium originally came from Greece and Turkey.

Illegal laboratories throughout the nation converted the opium into heroin, authorities said.

Descriptions of the gang's operations were contained in two sealed indictments revealed in Federal Court here last night.

The federal grand jury indictments were opened after the arrest in Los Angeles, Calif., of Harold (Happy) Meltzer, a longtime friend of west coast gambler Mickey Cohen.

Meltzer was named in both indictments, one charging conspiracy to import opium and the other conspiracy to convert the opium to heroin.

He was arrested and jailed in Los Angeles yesterday on a New York narcotics warrant. His bail was set at $100,000.

Meltzer Acquitted

Along with Cohen, Meltzer recently was acquitted on a gun carrying charge there.

Max Crossman, alias Max Weber, 54, a fugitive from a narcotics charge in Mexico City, was the only other defendant named in both indictments.

Besides Meltzer, only two other defendants are known to be in custody. They are:

Joseph Karino, 48, of Istanbul, Turkey, serving time there on a narcotics charge.

Warrants have been issued for the others.

Saypol said the smugglers hid the opium in false gas tanks on cars they used during their Mexico-U. S. operations.

Authorities added that the purified heroin was distributed througout the country during the ring's existence between 1945 and last June.

The ring quit, Saypol said, because "they may have become suspicious they were under investigation."

Bill Goes to Senate

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—The Senate received today an Assembly-approved bill requiring automobile owners under 21 to carry liability insurance covering personal injury and property damage. The measure calls for coverage of $5,000 for injury or death to one person, $10,000 for injuries or deaths of two or more persons and $5,000 for property damage. Present law does not require proof of financial responsibility or insurance until a driver or owner of a motor vehicle has been in an accident causing injury or death, or property damage over $50.

Gives Five Millions

New York, March 6 (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is giving the United Negro College Fund 5,000,000 to start a building program at its 32 affiliated schools. Rockefeller announced the gift last night at a dinner he gave for 60 business leaders and campaign chairmen from 16 cities. Rockefeller is chairman of the fund's National Council. His gift will initiate a five-year drive to raise $25,000,000 for building improvements at the fund's schools; all accredited Negro colleges.

HIGH PRICE PUT ON WINNING

The shocking New York basketball scandal may serve some purpose if it awakens parents, educators and citizens generally to the condition of present-day college athletics.

Everybody has been uttering loud moans, with overtones of surprise that this could happen to "our boys." Yet anyone who troubles to take a sober look at college sports shouldn't be surprised at all.

Football and basketball are the prime items on the college agenda; almost everywhere today they're on the big spectacle scale. The crowds are huge, the box office "take" is the same, and the players disport like Roman gladiators in spacious arenas.

With the platoon system now in vogue, fielding a football team today involves heavy expenditure. To make it pay off, a college needs a winner. Sports-mad Americans like a winner and they won't for long support a loser.

To get winning teams, the colleges bid for playing talent in a frankly professional way: high school youngsters are offered all sorts of inducements to choose one school over another. They get jobs that pay without work, cars, athletic scholarships. They are treated as commodities in only slightly less degree than professional baseball players. They are the raw material for a grand production that is commercial in almost every respect.

It's not much different with basketball, especially since many leading teams have taken to playing in off-campus arenas like Madison Square Garden and the Chicago Stadium.

All of this development has been sanctioned by most colleges, usually on the ground that the big-money sports paid for all other campus athletics. There seems no doubt of this, but educators and doting parents who liked to see their youngsters in the limelight were too little disturbed by the effect this was having on the kids.

What is a boy to think who sees himself virtually a product on the market, who sees everybody making money as result of the games he plays?

Should he really be expected to draw the fine line between simon-pure competition and selling his services for whatever they'll bring?

To some of the more thoughtful youngsters, the idea may never occur that the grown-ups haven't been setting too good an example in correct moral behavior. Sordid tales of government by political favor (touching even the White House), disclosures of gambling activities on a big scale in city after city, political corruption in New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago and other centers, these do not exactly make for a healthy moral atmosphere.

The kids involved in this basketball mess did wrong, very wrong. But they and countless others like them have been encouraged to do wrong by elders who have been often extremely lax in observing moral standards, and utterly careless of the impact of their laxity on the moral upbringing of the nation's youth.

Parents and educators had better worry first about building soundly moral young men, and second about getting the money to support intra-mural fencing, squash and la crosse teams.

Although four in every five men over sixty-five had jobs in 1870, less than half are employed today. It is to America's credit that life has been lengthened, but we must not shirk our responsibility to those who labored ahead of us.

Nearly one-fourth of the high school students quizzed in a spelling survey in eighty-two cities recently stumbled over the word "business." That's nothing; business has thrown many of us at times, too.

Flat tires, bless them, are things we would just as soon have happen in our own driveway. But usually we're not so selfish about them.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

AMERICAN PEACE CRUSADE

One of the most potent instruments of warfare in the modern world is mass propaganda. By this means it is possible for one nation to destroy the will to resist of its objective enemy. In this effort, the press, radio, and other means of expression become the innocent tools of the enemy, often presenting his side as news and information while actually it is neither.

Guileless persons become the instruments of the enemy without understanding what they are doing or what he intends them to. It is an ingenious form of psychological warfare which the United States practiced most successfully on the Japanese people during World War II.

It is remarkable that the best description of this device appears in George Washington's farewell address:

". . . Sympathy for the favorite nation . . . leads also to concessions to the favorite nation of privileges denied to others, which is apt doubly to injure the nation making the concessions by unnecessarily parting with what ought to have been retained, and by exciting jealousy, ill will, and a disposition to retaliate in the parties from whom equal privileges are withheld; and it gives to ambitious, corrupted, or deluded citizens (who devote themselves to the favorite nation) facility to betray or sacrifice the interests of their own country without odium, sometimes even with popularity, gilding with the appearances of a virtuous sense of obligation, a commendable deference for public opinion, or a laudable zeal for public good the base or foolish compliances of ambition, corruption, or infatuation."

During the existence of the Hitler-Stalin alliance, Soviet Russia employed in this country such an organization as the American League for Peace and Democracy, which became the American Peace Mobilization. This organization existed to prevent the United States from going to war with Nazi Germany. It will be recalled that at that time many Americans were in favor of peace. The league utilized this attitude to associate with a strictly Communist group many who were wholeheartedly anti-Communist.

(The ancestor of this organization, by whatever name, was the American League Against War and Fascism. The successor was the American Peoples Mobilization and now is the American Peace Crusade. The American League Against War and Fascism is said to have developed 4,000,000 members.)

Many upright Americans, who are presently opposed to some of the policies of our government, could be sucked into this organization. Those who question the Marshall-Eisenhower program for participation in Europe's defense need to avoid complicating the "Great Debate" by affiliation with Communist propaganda. The "American Peace Crusade" must be regarded as such.

Their program has been summarized in "counterattack" as follows:

1. Withdraw American troops from Korea; end the war in the Far East.
2. Seat Communist China in the U.N.
3. Germany must not be rearmed.
4. A "united front" for peace must be formed in the United States. All Americans, regardless of their philosophical, religious, social and political differences, must unite to save the nation from the catastrophe of war.

Many Americans are opposed to the Korean war for various reasons. The best statement of their position appears in Ernest T. Weir's pamphlet entitled "Statement on Our Foreign Situation." The best statement on the entire question of opposition to or limitation of war participation is Herbert Hoover's first speech in the "Great Debate."

However, when with that attitude is coupled the demand that Soviet China be given an absolutely free hand in Asia and that the United States accept a humiliating defeat in Asia, there is a sufficient confusion of issues to cause concern as to the motives. The "American Peace Crusade" supports Stalin's position in Asia.

And when associated with the concept of withdrawal from Asia is a propaganda to reject rearming of Germany, and for that matter, Japan, it can be taken for granted that a Stalinist position is being adopted.

Any movement which includes Ben Gold, Abram Flaxer, Maurice Travis, Paul Robeson, Rockwell Kent, Albert E. Kahn, Clementina J. Paolone, W. E. B. DuBois, and Howard Fast is a dead giveaway as to its orientation.

Americans differ on many questions. It is in the nature of a free people to hammer out their judgments on the anvil of debate. But difference need not mean division—it ought not to mean division. The "Great Debate" has been notable by the gradual harmonizing of varieties of views.

The Communists are not interested in differences; they seek division. Therefore, they are enemies and should not be joined no matter how closely their views might come to those of decent Americans on a particular issue.

NEW BRANCH OF MEDICAL SCIENCE

From time to time we see new branches of medicine being raised to the standing of the two main branches, medicine and surgery. Within the past few years, for example, psychiatry has reached an equal footing.

It may come as a surprise to learn that what is known as physical medicine and rehabilitation has now been placed among the branches of medicine. In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Frank H. Krusen, Mayo Clinic, Chairman Section on Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, in an address to the last session of the American Medical Association at San Francisco, stated: "It is with a feeling of great pride we physicians who have devoted our interest to the combined specialty of physical medicine and rehabilitation gather here for the first meetings of this new section of the American Medical Association."

What is physical medicine? Physical medicine is the use of the properties of light, heat, cold, water, electricity, massage, manipulation, exercise and mechanical devices for diagnosis, for research and for physical and occupational therapy and physical rehabilitation.

Rehabilitation is the use of these methods of helping a patient to adjust himself to his occupation, perhaps learn a new occupation, and learn despite any physical handicaps to take his place as a normal member of the community. We can see at once that a physician trained in the various branches of physical medicine can fit in with the work of the physician trained in other specialties. Dr. Krusen points out what most physicians already have seen—the excellent results obtained in nervous diseases such as paralysis, in psychiatry, where behavior is the important consideration, and in orthopedics where the correction of deformities requiries several of the branches of physical medicine.

World Wars 1 and 2 have shown the value of physical medicine to the extent that in addition to the training of physicians to supervise this branch, various medical schools and hospitals are giving a three year course to male and female nurses who will thus be able, safely and thoroughly, to carry out the prescription of the physician.

It's Nice to Have a Man Around the House

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—The Bureau of Internal Revenue has ordered its first major crackdown on the big racketeers since this column started publishing the income tax returns of mobsters who have been cheating on their taxes.

As a result, T-men are now inspecting the books of Chicago's policy racket, or numbers game, for income tax violations. Their investigation has already led to the tax returns of Tony Accardo and Jack Guzik, Chicago's underworld bosses. The T-men have also uncovered evidence that a Chicago congressman controls the patronage for 7,000 jobs in connection with the policy racket.

Betting on the numbers in Chicago has mushrommed into a billion-dollar, back-alley business, which feeds upon the nickels and dimes of the little people. It has resulted in gangland murders, bombings and kidnappings, all still unsolved. Only a few small timers have been picked up by police and fined $25 for operating lotteries.

Though safe from the local police, the big policy wheels have been keeping books and paying taxes to satisfy the Bureau of Internal Revenue. However, the T-men have found widespread juggling of the books. For example, they have discovered that the Erie and Buffalo wheel frequently adds an extra zero or shifts the decimal points on bets that win.

Fake Pay Offs

In other words, a winning 15-cent bet would be changed to $1.50 on the books, indicating that the pay-off was ten times greater than was actually paid to the winner. Then the fake pay-off would be deducted from the policy wheel's total take, making the profits appear much smaller.

The latest income tax returns for the Erie and Buffalo wheel show receipts of $5,845,061.67 in 1949. However, the wheel claims to have paid out $4,602,177.79 to winners. Thus, the juggling of the betting slips may make a difference of millions.

The income tax records also reveal how underworld bosses Accardo and Guzik muscled in on the Erie and Buffalo wheel. This column has already told the story in part, but the T-men have pieced together the whole, incredible picture from the tax returns.

Prior to 1947, the Erie and Buffalo wheel was operated by Leo and Caesar Benvenuti, until their home was mysteriously bombed in April, 1947. The next year the tax returns show that the lion's share of the Erie and Buffalo profits did not go to the Benvenuti brothers, but to two newcomers into the business, Sam Pardy and Tom Manno.

The strange thing is that up to 1948, Pardy had been a salesman for the Texas company and had been paying taxes on such small earnings as $3,433.42 in 1945, $3,634.95 in 1946 and $4,878.13 in 1947. The first connection he showed with the Erie and Buffalo policy wheel was $1,500 income which he listed from the Benvenuti brothers in 1947.

Then, overnight, Pardy reported an income of $307,565.53 from the Erie and Buffalo wheel in 1948. This is quite a jump for a $4,000-per-year salesman. But even more interesting was an entry on the Erie and Buffalo returns for 1949—a payment of $278,667.89 to Accardo and Guzik for "special services."

Meanwhile, Manno had moved to Erie and Buffalo from the Standard Golden Gate wheel, known to be controlled by Accardo and Guzik.

It would appear that Pardy and Manno are merely front men for Accardo and Guzik. Meanwhile, the Bevenuti brothers, original owners of the Erie and Buffalo wheel, have fled to Italy.

$7 a Day

Senator Robertson of Virginia expounded the other day on the cause of inflation.

"It's like this lazy man from Mississippi," Robertson explained to colleagues behind closed doors of the joint Defense Production committee. "He said, 'boss, I can't pick cotton for no one dollar a day.' The boss said, 'that's all I can afford to pay you.'

"Now, this lazy fellow came back in about a year and was all dressed up and looking fine. 'Well,' his old boss said, 'Bill, you look mighty prosperous. What you been doing?' Bill said, 'I've been working for the government, and it has been paying me seven dollars a day.'

"The boss said, 'well, that certainly is fine now. That is big money for you, and I hope you are saving some of it and putting it in government bonds.'

"'No suh, boss,' said Bill. 'I ain't puttin' it in no government bonds, because I don't trust no government that pays a lazy fellike me seven dollars a day.'"

Rental Racket

A new racket has sprung up in crowded west coast cities, such as San Diego and Los Angeles. Rental agents are trying to cash in on the housing shortage by selling leads to apartment hunters. A fee of five or ten dollars is charged for rental leads, which usually turn out to be apartments that have already been rented or are otherwise unavailable or unfit for renting.

Strictly speaking, this practice may not be illegal. However, in San Diego, the Better Business Bureau has privately warned the following rental agents to desist: Gladys C. White, John Kirk, Dejackson Realty, R. J. Christensen Realty and Boulevard Rental.

Shocking Labor Relations

With the textile industry in the grip of a strike, the Senate Labor Committee is rushing approval of a report on the industry's "shocking" labor relations. Though the report has not yet been made public, this column has obtained a copy. Case histories of lawlessness and terrorism against union organizers in the southern textile industry are included in the report, indicating that "for all practical purposes, self-organization and collective bargaining are steadily losing ground."

"The retreat of union organization is being compelled by employer campaigns on an area-wide front," the Senate report charges. "Much of this campaign is being conducted in shocking violation of the Labor-Management Relations Act, and the National Labor Relations Board appears to be powerless to cope with the situation.

"The rights of the workers to self-organization and collective bargaining are guaranteed by federal law, and yet thousands of workers in the southern textile industry, who have sought the protection of the law, have failed to obtain it," the report continues. "The ability of southern employers to avoid collective bargaining has afford them a substantial competitive advantage over their northern competitors through lower wages and substandard working conditions."

As examples of company lawlessness, the report charges: "A kidnapping of one organizer and the forcible ejection from town of another at the American Thread Company in Tallapoosa, Ga., are noted in the subcommittee's case study. In Alexander City, Ala., the organizer was beaten by two company employes. At Hillsboro Cotton Mills, Hillsboro, Tex., the president of the union local was beaten in the presence of the plant overseer. When he sought the intervention of the overseer, the latter made no effort to stop the assault."

Great Britain, U. S. Are Not Broadcasting Decision on Crossing of 38th Parallel

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 6—America and Great Britain are talking again about the possible crossing of the 38th parallel by ground troops, and this time, fortunately, the official discussion is not being broadcast for the enemy to hear.

When Kenneth Younger, minister of state, told the House of Commons on Monday that an agreement between the United States and Great Britain had been reached on whether Allied troops in Korea should cross the 38th parallel, he added that no statement could be made about future operations because of "security."

This is good so far as it goes, but the fact that Great Britain wants to put restrictions on the military operations of ground troops is known to the enemy because the information has been broadcast from London. It means that the Communist generals now can make their plans and line up their troops in a "privileged sanctuary" in North Korea while U.N. troops might be compelled to stay south of the parallel.

Actually there is no argument as to the right of any military commander to patrol and conduct reconnaissance but the British evidently have become sticklers for the point that there should be no "military occupation" north of the 38th parallel.

This form of surrender will astonish those in the free world who have believed up to now that the purpose of the U.N. troops in Korea was to punish the aggressor and to liberate all of Korea. The situation is perhaps best explained from the British viewpoint by the "London Times," which a few days ago said editorially, in part:

"Therefore, whether the prospect is liked or not, a military division of Korea for some time seems inevitable. For many reasons the line of division is more likely to be established on or near the 38th parallel than anywhere else; and that provides the chief reason why the United Nations troops should not cross the parallel in force with a view to occupying large areas north of the line.

"Yet so long as the real Chinese intentions are unknown—so long, indeed, as Chinese propaganda declares that the western 'aggressors' must be defeated—it is hard to see that the commanders could be prevented from carrying out reconnoitering and spoiling raids over the line. Unless a cease-fire were to be arranged and supervised they could not risk being beset by new attacks from north of the line.

"What seems to be advisable is a definite understanding that the parallel and its immediate neighborhood shall be the limit of military occupation until it can be seen whether the Chinese are ready, on that basis, for an unacknowledged cease-fire that might in time become more precise and lead to a settlement."

The foregoing is just plain nonsense from a military viewpoint. No military commander could plan his operations with such a handicap imposed on him. It is the same kind of nonsense which certain Americans are preaching about the defense of Europe by our sea and air power alone and not with our ground troops.

Just why the 38th Parallel has become sacrosanct in British eyes is difficult to understand. Bombardments by naval vessels and by our airplanes are going on all the time north of the 38th Parallel. If it be thought that the Chinese Communists will be impressed by a faltering, hesitating ground army which regards the 38th Parallel as untouchable, then a revival of Communist defiance rather than a dimunition of its fervor may confidently be expected.

What the "London Times" proposes really is to return to the line of June 26 last and thus tell the mothers and fathers of the 50,000 American boys who have been killed or wounded that the Korean expedition had no real objective at the outset and today has no purpose at all except to restore the status quo and call it a day.

The omission from British statements and utterances of any expressed desire to punish the Communist aggression is significant. Instead, the Munich psychology is back again, as it is proposed to negotiate for peace along the 38th Parallel. Our British friends do not know the extent to which they have unwittingly damaged Anglo-American relations and stimulated the isolationist sentiment—they are so preoccupied with getting our troops out of Korea and into Europe that they are unintentionally building up a logical argument for appeasement with Moscow over all issues in Europe, too.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Knowing him to be a good citizen, though a Democrat, I wired and telephoned Senator Mike Monroney, of Oklahoma, suggesting that he call Arthur J. Goldsmith, of the Waldorf Tower, and Albert D. Lasker and his wife, all of New York, and put them over the jumps in the solemn investigation of federal elections. Senator Monroney explained that his committee, which is a subcommittee of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, is authorized only to inquire into the corrupt practices, if any, which assisted in the defeat of Millard Tydings, Democrat, of Maryland, last fall.

This is a Truman project to put Tydings back in the Senate because Tydings ran a mock inquiry in an effort to deodorize Harry Truman's Communist Red-herrings. Joe McCarthy, of Wisconsin, went over into Maryland and gave Tydings such a pasting on the issue of traitors in the government that Tydings has been running around squealing like a pig under a gate ever since. He apparently had come to believe that he had a life tenure on the job of senator from Maryland and that nothing could make the voters sick of him. He found out. The voters might have had in mind the quaint relationship between Tydings and paper-collar Joe Davies, who struck it rich when the married Marjorie Post Hutton, who was so dough-heavy that she used to have her private car with gold handles on the gadgets and her private ocean liner. Tydings married Davies's daughter of his first wife. Well, that's Washington.

Old paper-collar Joe lists himself as an "author" in Who's Who.

Not long afterward, I got a whiff of this as far east as New York and started phoning around for Lasker. Here is a pompous old man, inflated with the majesty of his money and deceived by a notion that his dogma on all matters is binding on all persons. He is a little skimpy in the viscera, however, so when he heard that I wanted to ask questions about the ditching of Burt Wheeler in a Montana primary, Lasker got taken real bad, real sudden and did a triple-gainer into a hospital way down south. His condition was so desperate that I couldn't even talk to his wife, who is about a third-string Eleanor who has been promoting around New York for 30 years. After she married Lasker, she became a woman with a mission and a lot of dough to do the people good or do them good. Her fad is birth-control. Al's, too.

Not long ago, when I was talking to Herbert Bayard Swope about Arthur J. Goldsmith, the bashful dragon of the Waldorf tower, Herbie recollected that time when I was tearing after Lasker. Lasker must have told him about it because I never had occasion to mention it to Herbie. Herbie said: "I think Goldsmith is afraid of you!" He meant that Goldsmith had been bulling people around and playing dragon for so long that it set him back on his flask to have anyone yell back at him. Then Herbie said Lasker told him about that time and how scared he was to be asked about the Montana campaign.

He wrote a book. It was called "Mission to Moscow." When a worse book is written, Joe will

HIGH PRICE PUT ON WINNING

The shocking New York basketball scandal may serve some purpose if it awakens parents, educators and citizens generally to the condition of present-day college athletics.

Everybody has been uttering loud moans, with overtones of surprise that this could happen to "our boys." Yet anyone who troubles to take a sober look at college sports shouldn't be surprised at all.

Football and basketball are the prime items on the college agenda; almost everywhere today they're on the big spectacle scale. The crowds are huge, the box office "take" is the same, and the players disport like Roman gladiators in spacious arenas.

With the platoon system now in vogue, fielding a football team today involves heavy expenditure. To make it pay off, a college needs a winner. Sports-mad Americans like a winner and they won't for long support a loser.

To get winning teams, the colleges bid for playing talent in a frankly professional way: high school youngsters are offered all sorts of inducements to choose one school over another. They get jobs that pay without work, cars, athletic scholarships. They are treated as commodities in only slightly less degree than professional baseball players. They are the raw material for a grand production that is commercial in almost every respect.

It's not much different with basketball, especially since many leading teams have taken to playing in off-campus arenas like Madison Square Garden and the Chicago Stadium.

All of this development has been sanctioned by most colleges, usually on the ground that the big-money sports paid for all other campus athletics. There seems no doubt of this, but educators and doting parents who liked to see their youngsters in the limelight were too little disturbed by the effect this was having on the kids.

What is a boy to think who sees himself virtually a product on the market, who sees everybody making money as result of the games he plays?

Should he really be expected to draw the fine line between simon-pure competition and selling his services for whatever they'll bring?

To some of the more thoughtful youngsters, the idea may never occur that the grown-ups haven't been setting too good an example in correct moral behavior. Sordid tales of government by political favor (touching even the White House), disclosures of gambling activities on a big scale in city after city, political corruption in New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago and other centers, these do not exactly make for a healthy moral atmosphere.

The kids involved in this basketball mess did wrong, very wrong. But they and countless others like them have been encouraged to do wrong by elders who have been often extremely lax in observing moral standards, and utterly careless of the impact of their laxity on the moral upbringing of the nation's youth.

Parents and educators had better worry first about building soundly moral young men, and second about getting the money to support intra-mural fencing, squash and la crosse teams.

Although four in every five men over sixty-five had jobs in 1870, less than half are employed today. It is to America's credit that life has been lengthened, but we must not shirk our responsibility to those who labored ahead of us.

Nearly one-fourth of the high school students quizzed in a spelling survey in eighty-two cities recently stumbled over the word "business." That's nothing; business has thrown many of us at times, too.

Flat tires, bless them, are things we would just as soon have happen in our own driveway. But usually we're not so selfish about them.

'These Days'

AMERICAN PEACE CRUSADE

One of the most potent instruments of warfare in the modern world is mass propaganda. By this means it is possible for one nation to destroy the will to resist of its objective enemy. In this effort, the press, radio, and other means of expression become the innocent tools of the enemy, often presenting his side as news and information while actually it is neither.

Guileless persons become the instruments of the enemy without understanding what they are doing or what he intends them to. It is an ingenious form of psychological warfare which the United States practiced most successfully on the Japanese people during World War II.

It is remarkable that the best description of this device appears in George Washington's farewell address:

". . . Sympathy for the favorite nation . . . leads also to concessions to the favorite nation of privileges denied to others, which is apt doubly to injure the nation making the concessions by unnecessarily parting with what ought to have been retained, and by exciting jealousy, ill will, and a disposition to retaliate in the parties from whom equal privileges are withheld; and it gives to ambitious, corrupted, or deluded citizens (who devote themselves to the favorite nation) facility to betray or sacrifice the interests of their own country without odium, sometimes even with popularity, gilding with the appearances of a virtuous sense of obligation, a commendable deference for public opinion, or a laudable zeal for public good the base or foolish compliances of ambition, corruption, or infatuation."

During the existence of the Hitler-Stalin alliance, Soviet Russia employed in this country such an organization as the American League for Peace and Democracy, which became the American Peace Mobilization. This organization existed to prevent the United States from going to war with Nazi Germany. It will be recalled that at that time many Americans were in favor of peace. The league utilized this attitude to associate with a strictly Communist group many who were wholeheartedly anti-Communist.

(The ancestor of this organization, by whatever name, was the American League Against War and Fascism. The successor was the American Peoples Mobilization and now is the American Peace Crusade. The American League Against War and Fascism is said to have developed 4,000,000 members.)

Many upright Americans, who are presently opposed to some of the policies of our government, could be sucked into this organization. Those who question the Marshall-Eisenhower program for participation in Europe's defense need to avoid complicating the "Great Debate" by affiliation with Communist propaganda. The "American Peace Crusade" must be regarded as such.

Their program has been summarized in "counterattack" as follows:

1. Withdraw American troops from Korea; end the war in the Far East.
2. Seat Communist China in the U.N.
3. Germany must not be rearmed.
4. A "united front" for peace must be formed in the United States. All Americans, regardless of their philosophical, religious, social and political differences, must unite to save the nation from the catastrophe of war.

Many Americans are opposed to the Korean war for various reasons. The best statement of their position appears in Ernest T. Weir's pamphlet entitled "Statement on Our Foreign Situation." The best statement on the entire question of opposition to or limitation of war participation is Herbert Hoover's first speech in the "Great Debate."

However, when with that attitude is coupled the demand that Soviet China be given an absolutely free hand in Asia and that the United States accept a humiliating defeat in Asia, there is a sufficient confusion of issues to cause concern as to the motives. The "American Peace Crusade" supports Stalin's position in Asia.

And when associated with the concept of withdrawal from Asia is a propaganda to reject rearming of Germany, and for that matter, Japan, it can be taken for granted that a Stalinist position is being adopted.

Any movement which includes Ben Gold, Abram Flaxer, Maurice Travis, Paul Robeson, Rockwell Kent, Albert E. Kahn, Clementina J. Paolone, W. E. B. DuBois, and Howard Fast is a dead giveaway as to its orientation.

Americans differ on many questions. It is in the nature of a free people to hammer out their judgments on the anvil of debate. But difference need not mean division—it ought not to mean division. The "Great Debate" has been notable by the gradual harmonizing of varieties of views.

The Communists are not interested in differences; they seek division. Therefore, they are enemies and should not be joined no matter how closely their views might come to those of decent Americans on a particular issue.

NEW BRANCH OF MEDICAL SCIENCE

From time to time we see new branches of medicine being raised to the standing of the two main branches, medicine and surgery. Within the past few years, for example, psychiatry has reached an equal footing.

It may come as a surprise to learn that what is known as physical medicine and rehabilitation has now been placed among the branches of medicine. In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Frank H. Krusen, Mayo Clinic, Chairman Section on Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, in an address to the last session of the American Medical Association at San Francisco, stated: "It is with a feeling of great pride we physicians who have devoted our interest to the combined specialty of physical medicine and rehabilitation gather here for the first meetings of this new section of the American Medical Association."

What is physical medicine? Physical medicine is the use of the properties of light, heat, cold, water, electricity, massage, manipulation, exercise and mechanical devices for diagnosis, for research and for physical and occupational therapy and physical rehabilitation.

Rehabilitation is the use of these methods of helping a patient to adjust himself to his occupation, perhaps learn a new occupation, and learn despite any physical handicaps to take his place as a normal member of the community. We can see at once that a physician trained in the various branches of physical medicine can fit in with the work of the physician trained in other specialties. Dr. Krusen points out what most physicians already have seen—the excellent results obtained in nervous diseases such as paralysis, in psychiatry, where behavior is the important consideration, and in orthopedics where the correction of deformities requiries several of the branches of physical medicine.

World Wars 1 and 2 have shown the value of physical medicine to the extent that in addition to the training of physicians to supervise this branch, various medical schools and hospitals are giving a three year course to male and female nurses who will thus be able, safely and thoroughly, to carry out the prescription of the physician.

It's Nice to Have a Man Around the House

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Washington—The Bureau of Internal Revenue has ordered its first major crackdown on the big racketeers since this column started publishing the income tax returns of mobsters who have been cheating on their taxes.

As a result, T-men are now inspecting the books of Chicago's policy racket, or numbers game, for income tax violations. In other words, a winning 15-cent bet would be changed to $1.50 on the books, indicating that the pay-off was ten times greater than was actually paid to the winner. Then the fake pay-off would be deducted from the policy wheel's total take, making the profits appear much smaller.

The latest income tax returns for the Erie and Buffalo wheel show receipts of $5,845,061.67 in 1949. However, the wheel claims to have paid out $4,602,177.79 to winners. Thus, the juggling of the betting slips may make a difference of millions.

The income tax records also reveal how underworld bosses Accardo and Guzik muscled in on the Erie and Buffalo wheel. This column has already told the story in part, but the T-men have pieced together the whole, incredible picture from the tax returns.

Prior to 1947, the Erie and Buffalo wheel was operated by Leo and Caesar Benvenuti, until their home was mysteriously bombed in April, 1947. The next year the tax returns show that the lion's share of the Erie and Buffalo profits did not go to the Benvenuti brothers, but to two newcomers into the business, Sam Pardy and Tom Manno.

The strange thing is that up to 1948, Pardy had been a salesman for the Texas company and had been paying taxes on such small earnings as $3,433.42 in 1945, $3,634.95 in 1946 and $4,878.13 in 1947. The first connection he showed with the Erie and Buffalo policy wheel was $1,500 income which he listed from the Benvenut brothers in 1947.

Then, overnight, Pardy reported an income of $307,565,.53 from the Erie and Buffalo wheel in 1948. This is quite a jump for a $4,000-per-year salesman. But even more interesting was an entry on the Erie and Buffalo returns for 1949—a payment of $278,667.89 to Accardo and Guzik for "special services."

Meanwhile, Manno had moved to Erie and Buffalo from the Standard Golden Gate wheel, known to be controlled by Accardo and Guzik.

It would appear that Pardy and Manno are merely front men for Accardo and Guzik. Meanwhile, the Bevenuti brothers, original owners of the Erie and Buffalo wheel, have fled to Italy.

$7 a Day

Senator Robertson of Virginia expounded the other day on the cause of inflation.

"It's like this lazy man from Mississippi," Robertson explained to colleagues behind closed doors of the joint Defense Production committee. "He said, 'boss, I can't pick cotton for no one dollar a day.' The boss said, 'that's all I can afford to pay you.'

"Now, this lazy fellow came back in about a year and was all dressed up and looking fine. 'Well,' his old boss said, 'Bill, you look mighty prosperous. What you been doing?' Bill said, 'I've been working for the government, and it has been paying me seven dollars a day.'

"The boss said, 'well, that certainly is fine now. That is big money for you, and I hope you are saving some of it and putting it in government bonds.'

"'No suh, boss,' said Bill. 'I ain't puttin' it in no government bonds, because I don't trust no government that pays a lazy fellike me seven dollars a day.'"

Rental Racket

A new racket has sprung up in crowded west coast cities, such as San Diego and Los Angeles. Rental agents are trying to cash in on the housing shortage by selling leads to apartment hunters. A fee of five or ten dollars is charged for rental leads, which usually turn out to be apartments that have already been rented or are otherwise unavailable or unfit for renting.

Strictly speaking, this practice may not be illegal. However, in San Diego, the Better Business Bureau has privately warned the following rental agents to desist: Gladys C. White, John Kirk, Dejackson Realty, R. J. Christensen Realty and Boulevard Rental.

Shocking Labor Relations

With the textile industry in the grip of a strike, the Senate Labor Committee is rushing approval of a report on the industry's "shocking" labor relations. Though the report has not yet been made public, this column has obtained a copy. Case histories of lawlessness and terrorism against union organizers in the southern textile industry are included in the report, indicating that "for all practical purposes, self-organization and collective bargaining are steadily losing ground."

"The retreat of union organization is being compelled by employer campaigns on an area-wide front," the Senate report charges. "Much of this campaign is being conducted in shocking violation of the Labor-Management Relations Act, and the National Labor Relations Board appears to be powerless to cope with the situation.

"The rights of the workers to self-organization and collective bargaining are guaranteed by federal law, and yet thousands of workers in the southern textile industry, who have sought the protection of the law, have failed to obtain it," the report continues. "The ability of southern employers to avoid collective bargaining has afford them a substantial competitive advantage over their northern competitors through lower wages and substandard working conditions."

As examples of company lawlessness, the report charges: "A kidnapping of one organizer and the forcible ejection from town of another at the American Thread Company in Tallapoosa, Ga., are noted in the subcommittee's case study. In Alexander City, Ala., the organizer was beaten by two company employes. At Hillsboro Cotton Mills, Hillsboro, Tex., the president of the union local was beaten in the presence of the plant overseer. When he sought the intervention of the overseer, the latter made no effort to stop the assault."

Great Britain, U. S. Are Not Broadcasting Decision on Crossing of 38th Parallel

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 6—America and Great Britain are talking again about the possible crossing of the 38th parallel by ground troops, and this time, fortunately, the official discussion is not being broadcast for the enemy to hear.

When Kenneth Younger, minister of state, told the House of Commons on Monday that an agreement between the United States and Great Britain had been reached on whether Allied troops in Korea should cross the 38th parallel, he added that no statement could be made about future operations because of "security."

This is good so far as it goes, but the fact that Great Britain wants to put restrictions on the military operations of ground troops is known to the enemy because the information has been broadcast from London. It means that the Communist generals now can make their plans and line up their troops in a "privileged sanctuary" in North Korea while U.N. troops might be compelled to stay south of the parallel.

Actually there is no argument as to the right of any military commander to patrol and conduct reconnaissance but the British evidently have become sticklers for the point that there should be no "military occupation" north of the 38th parallel.

This form of surrender will astonish those in the free world who have believed up to now that the purpose of the U.N. troops in Korea was to punish the aggressor and to liberate all of Korea. The situation is perhaps best explained from the British viewpoint by the "London Times," which a few days ago said editorially, in part:

"Therefore, whether the prospect is liked or not, a military division of Korea for some time seems inevitable. For many reasons the line of division is more likely to be established on or near the 38th parallel than anywhere else; and that provides the chief reason why the United Nations troops should not cross the parallel in force with a view to occupying large areas north of the line.

"Yet so long as the real Chinese intentions are unknown—so long, indeed, as Chinese propaganda declares that the western 'aggressors' must be defeated—it is hard to see that the commanders could be prevented from carrying out reconnoitering and spoiling raids over the line. Unless a cease-fire were to be arranged and supervised they could not risk being beset by new attacks from north of the line.

"What seems to be advisable is a definite understanding that the parallel and its immediate neighborhood shall be the limit of military occupation until it can be seen whether the Chinese are ready, on that basis, for an unacknowledged cease-fire that might in time become more precise and lead to a settlement."

The foregoing is just plain nonsense from a military viewpoint. No military commander could plan his operations with such a handicap imposed on him. It is the same kind of nonsense which certain Americans are preaching about the defense of Europe by our sea and air power alone and not with our ground troops.

Just why the 38th Parallel has become sacrosanct in British eyes is difficult to understand. Bombardments by naval vessels and by our airplanes are going on all the time north of the 38th Parallel. If it be thought that the Chinese Communists will be impressed by a faltering, hesitating ground army which regards the 38th Parallel as untouchable, then a revival of Communist defiance rather than a dimunition of its fervor may confidently be expected.

What the "London Times" proposes really is to return to the line of June 26 last and thus tell the mothers and fathers of the 50,000 American boys who have been killed or wounded that the Korean expedition had no real objective at the outset and today has no purpose at all except to restore the status quo and call it a day.

The omission from British statements and utterances of any expressed desire to punish the Communist aggression is significant. Instead, the Munich psychology is back again, as it is proposed to negotiate for peace along the 38th Parallel. Our British friends do not know the extent to which they have unwittingly damaged Anglo-American relations and stimulated the isolationist sentiment—they are so preoccupied with getting our troops out of Korea and into Europe that they are unintentionally building up a logical argument for appeasement with Moscow over all issues in Europe, too.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Knowing him to be a good citizen, though a Democrat, I wired and telephoned Senator Mike Monroney, of Oklahoma, suggesting that he call Arthur J. Goldsmith, of the Waldorf Tower, and Albert D. Lasker and his wife, all of New York, and put them over the jumps in the solemn investigation of federal elections. Senator Monroney explained that his committee, which is a subcommittee of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, is authorized only to inquire into the corrupt practices, if any, which assisted in the defeat of Millard Tydings, Democrat, of Maryland, last fall.

This is a Truman project to put Tydings back in the Senate because Tydings ran a mock inquiry in an effort to deodorize Harry Truman's Communist Red-herrings. Joe McCarthy, of Wisconsin, went over into Maryland and gave Tydings such a pasting on the issue of traitors in the government that Tydings has been running around squealing like a pig under a gate ever since. He apparently had come to believe that he had a life tenure on the job of senator from Maryland and that nothing could make the voters sick of him. He found out. The voters might have had in mind the quaint relationship between Tydings and paper-collar Joe Davies, who struck it rich when the married Marjorie Post Hutton, who was so dough-heavy that she used to have her private car with gold handles on the gadgets and her private ocean liner. Tydings married Davies's daughter of his first wife. Well, that's Washington.

Old paper-collar Joe lists himself as an "author" in Who's Who.

Not long afterward, I got a whiff of this as far east as New York and started phoning around for Lasker. Here is a pompous old man, inflated with the majesty of his money and deceived by a notion that his dogma on all matters is binding on all persons. He is a little skimpy in the viscera, however, so when he heard that I wanted to ask questions about the ditching of Burt Wheeler in a Montana primary, Lasker got taken real bad, real sudden and did a triple-gainer into a hospital way down south. His condition was so desperate that I couldn't even talk to his wife, who is about a third-string Eleanor who has been promoting around New York for 30 years. After she married Lasker, she became a woman with a mission and a lot of dough to do the people good or do them good. Her fad is birth-control. Al's, too.

Not long ago, when I was talking to Herbert Bayard Swope about Arthur J. Goldsmith, the bashful dragon of the Waldorf tower, Herbie recollected that time when I was tearing after Lasker. Lasker must have told him about it because I never had occasion to mention it to Herbie. Herbie said: "I think Goldsmith is afraid of you!" He meant that Goldsmith had been bulling people around and playing dragon for so long that it set him back on his flask to have anyone yell back at him. Then Herbie said Lasker told him about that time and how scared he was to be asked about the Montana campaign.

He wrote a book. It was called "Mission to Moscow." When a worse book is written, Joe will

HIGH PRICE PUT ON WINNING

The shocking New York basketball scandal may serve some purpose if it awakens parents, educators and citizens generally to the condition of present-day college athletics.

Everybody has been uttering loud moans, with overtones of surprise that this could happen to "our boys." Yet anyone who troubles to take a sober look at college sports shouldn't be surprised at all.

Football and basketball are the prime items on the college agenda; almost everywhere today they're on the big spectacle scale. The crowds are huge, the box office "take" is the same, and the players disport like Roman gladiators in spacious arenas.

With the platoon system now in vogue, fielding a football team today involves heavy expenditure. To make it pay off, a college needs a winner. Sports-mad Americans like a winner and they won't for long support a loser.

To get winning teams, the colleges bid for playing talent in a frankly professional way: high school youngsters are offered all sorts of inducements to choose one school over another. They get jobs that pay without work, cars, athletic scholarships. They are treated as commodities in only slightly less degree than professional baseball players. They are the raw material for a grand production that is commercial in almost every respect.

It's not much different with basketball, especially since many leading teams have taken to playing in off-campus arenas like Madison Square Garden and the Chicago Stadium.

All of this development has been sanctioned by most colleges, usually on the ground that the big-money sports paid for all other campus athletics. There seems no doubt of this, but educators and doting parents who liked to see their youngsters in the limelight were too little disturbed by the effect this was having on the kids.

What is a boy to think who sees himself virtually a product on the market, who sees everybody making money as result of the games he plays?

Should he really be expected to draw the fine line between simon-pure competition and selling his services for whatever they'll bring?

To some of the more thoughtful youngsters, the idea may never occur that the grown-ups haven't been setting too good an example in correct moral behavior. Sordid tales of government by political favor (touching even the White House), disclosures of gambling activities on a big scale in city after city, political corruption in New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago and other centers, these do not exactly make for a healthy moral atmosphere.

The kids involved in this basketball mess did wrong, very wrong. But they and countless others like them have been encouraged to do wrong by elders who have been often extremely lax in observing moral standards, and utterly careless of the impact of their laxity on the moral upbringing of the nation's youth.

Parents and educators had better worry first about building soundly moral young men, and second about getting the money to support intra-mural fencing, squash and la crosse teams.

Although four in every five men over sixty-five had jobs in 1870, less than half are employed today. It is to America's credit that life has been lengthened, but we must not shirk our responsibility to those who labored ahead of us.

Nearly one-fourth of the high school students quizzed in a spelling survey in eighty-two cities recently stumbled over the word "business." That's nothing; business has thrown many of us at times, too.

Flat tires, bless them, are things we would just as soon have happen in our own driveway. But usually we're not so selfish about them.

'These Days'

AMERICAN PEACE CRUSADE

One of the most potent instruments of warfare in the modern world is mass propaganda. By this means it is possible for one nation to destroy the will to resist of its objective enemy. In this effort, the press, radio, and other means of expression become the innocent tools of the enemy, often presenting his side as news and information while actually it is neither.

Guileless persons become the instruments of the enemy without understanding what they are doing or what he intends them to. It is an ingenious form of psychological warfare which the United States practiced most successfully on the Japanese people during World War II.

It is remarkable that the best description of this device appears in George Washington's farewell address:

". . . Sympathy for the favorite nation . . . leads also to concessions to the favorite nation of privileges denied to others, which is apt doubly to injure the nation making the concessions by unnecessarily parting with what ought to have been retained, and by exciting jealousy, ill will, and a disposition to retaliate in the parties from whom equal privileges are withheld; and it gives to ambitious, corrupted, or deluded citizens (who devote themselves to the favorite nation) facility to betray or sacrifice the interests of their own country without odium, sometimes even with popularity, gilding with the appearances of a virtuous sense of obligation, a commendable deference for public opinion, or a laudable zeal for public good the base or foolish compliances of ambition, corruption, or infatuation."

During the existence of the Hitler-Stalin alliance, Soviet Russia employed in this country such an organization as the American League for Peace and Democracy, which became the American Peace Mobilization. This organization existed to prevent the United States from going to war with Nazi Germany. It will be recalled that at that time many Americans were in favor of peace. The league utilized this attitude to associate with a strictly Communist group many who were wholeheartedly anti-Communist.

(The ancestor of this organization, by whatever name, was the American League Against War and Fascism. The successor was the American Peoples Mobilization and now is the American Peace Crusade. The American League Against War and Fascism is said to have developed 4,000,000 members.)

Many upright Americans, who are presently opposed to some of the policies of our government, could be sucked into this organization. Those who question the Marshall-Eisenhower program for participation in Europe's defense need to avoid complicating the "Great Debate" by affiliation with Communist propaganda. The "American Peace Crusade" must be regarded as such.

Their program has been summarized in "counterattack" as follows:

1. Withdraw American troops from Korea; end the war in the Far East.
2. Seat Communist China in the U.N.
3. Germany must not be rearmed.
4. A "united front" for peace must be formed in the United States. All Americans, regardless of their philosophical, religious, social and political differences, must unite to save the nation from the catastrophe of war.

Many Americans are opposed to the Korean war for various reasons. The best statement of their position appears in Ernest T. Weir's pamphlet entitled "Statement on Our Foreign Situation." The best statement on the entire question of opposition to or limitation of war participation is Herbert Hoover's first speech in the "Great Debate."

However, when with that attitude is coupled the demand that Soviet China be given an absolutely free hand in Asia and that the United States accept a humiliating defeat in Asia, there is a sufficient confusion of issues to cause concern as to the motives. The "American Peace Crusade" supports Stalin's position in Asia.

And when associated with the concept of withdrawal from Asia is a propaganda to reject rearming of Germany, and for that matter, Japan, it can be taken for granted that a Stalinist position is being adopted.

Any movement which includes Ben Gold, Abram Flaxer, Maurice Travis, Paul Robeson, Rockwell Kent, Albert E. Kahn, Clementina J. Paolone, W. E. B. DuBois, and Howard Fast is a dead giveaway as to its orientation.

Americans differ on many questions. It is in the nature of a free people to hammer out their judgments on the anvil of debate. But difference need not mean division—it ought not to mean division. The "Great Debate" has been notable by the gradual harmonizing of varieties of views.

The Communists are not interested in differences; they seek division. Therefore, they are enemies and should not be joined no matter how closely their views might come to those of decent Americans on a particular issue.

That Body of Yours

NEW BRANCH OF MEDICAL SCIENCE

From time to time we see new branches of medicine being raised to the standing of the two main branches, medicine and surgery. Within the past few years, for example, psychiatry has reached an equal footing.

It may come as a surprise to learn that what is known as physical medicine and rehabilitation has now been placed among the branches of medicine. In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Frank H. Krusen, Mayo Clinic, Chairman Section on Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, in an address to the last session of the American Medical Association at San Francisco, stated: "It is with a feeling of great pride we physicians who have devoted our interest to the combined specialty of physical medicine and rehabilitation gather here for the first meetings of this new section of the American Medical Association."

What is physical medicine? Physical medicine is the use of the properties of light, heat, cold, water, electricity, massage, manipulation, exercise and mechanical devices for diagnosis, for research and for physical and occupational therapy and physical rehabilitation.

Rehabilitation is the use of these methods of helping a patient to adjust himself to his occupation, perhaps learn a new occupation, and learn despite any physical handicaps to take his place as a normal member of the community. We can see at once that a physician trained in the various branches of physical medicine can fit in with the work of the physician trained in other specialties. Dr. Krusen points out what most physicians already have seen—the excellent results obtained in nervous diseases such as paralysis, in psychiatry, where behavior is the important consideration, and in orthopedics where the correction of deformities requiries several of the branches of physical medicine.

World Wars 1 and 2 have shown the value of physical medicine to the extent that in addition to the training of physicians to supervise this branch, various medical schools and hospitals are giving a three year course to male and female nurses who will thus be able, safely and thoroughly, to carry out the prescription of the physician.

It's Nice to Have a Man Around the House

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—The Bureau of Internal Revenue has ordered its first major crackdown on the big racketeers since this column started publishing the income tax returns of mobsters who have been cheating on their taxes.

As a result, T-men are now inspecting the books of Chicago's policy racket, or numbers game, for income tax violations. Their investigation has already led to the tax returns of Tony Accardo and Jack Guzik, Chicago's underworld bosses. The T-men have also uncovered evidence that a Chicago congressman controls the patronage for 7,000 jobs in connection with the policy racket.

Betting on the numbers in Chicago has mushrommed into a billion-dollar, back-alley business, which feeds upon the nickels and dimes of the little people. It has resulted in gangland murders, bombings and kidnappings, all still unsolved. Only a few small timers have been picked up by police and fined $25 for operating lotteries.

Though safe from the local police, the big policy wheels have been keeping books and paying taxes to satisfy the Bureau of Internal Revenue. However, the T-men have found widespread juggling of the books. For example, they have discovered that the Erie and Buffalo wheel frequently adds an extra zero or shifts the decimal points on bets that win.

Fake Pay Offs

In other words, a winning 15-cent bet would be changed to $1.50 on the books, indicating that the pay-off was ten times greater than was actually paid to the winner. Then the fake pay-off would be deducted from the policy wheel's total take, making the profits appear much smaller.

The latest income tax returns for the Erie and Buffalo wheel show receipts of $5,845,061.67 in 1949. However, the wheel claims to have paid out $4,602,177.79 to winners. Thus, the juggling of the betting slips may make a difference of millions.

The income tax records also reveal how underworld bosses Accardo and Guzik muscled in on the Erie and Buffalo wheel. This column has already told the story in part, but the T-men have pieced together the whole, incredible picture from the tax returns.

Prior to 1947, the Erie and Buffalo wheel was operated by Leo and Caesar Benvenuti, until their home was mysteriously bombed in April, 1947. The next year the tax returns show that the lion's share of the Erie and Buffalo profits did not go to the Benvenuti brothers, but to two newcomers into the business, Sam Pardy and Tom Manno.

The strange thing is that up to 1948, Pardy had been a salesman for the Texas company and had been paying taxes on such small earnings as $3,433.42 in 1945, $3,634.95 in 1946 and $4,878.13 in 1947. The first connection he showed with the Erie and Buffalo policy wheel was $1,500 income which he listed from the Benvenut brothers in 1947.

Then, overnight, Pardy reported an income of $307,565,.53 from the Erie and Buffalo wheel in 1948. This is quite a jump for a $4,000-per-year salesman. But even more interesting was an entry on the Erie and Buffalo returns for 1949—a payment of $278,667.89 to Accardo and Guzik for "special services."

Meanwhile, Manno had moved to Erie and Buffalo from the Standard Golden Gate wheel, known to be controlled by Accardo and Guzik.

It would appear that Pardy and Manno are merely front men for Accardo and Guzik. Meanwhile, the Bevenuti brothers, original owners of the Erie and Buffalo wheel, have fled to Italy.

$7 a Day

Senator Robertson of Virginia expounded the other day on the cause of inflation.

"It's like this lazy man from Mississippi," Robertson explained to colleagues behind closed doors of the joint Defense Production committee. "He said, 'boss, I can't pick cotton for no one dollar a day.' The boss said, 'that's all I can afford to pay you.'

"Now, this lazy fellow came back in about a year and was all dressed up and looking fine. 'Well,' his old boss said, 'Bill, you look mighty prosperous. What you been doing?' Bill said, 'I've been working for the government, and it has been paying me seven dollars a day.'

"The boss said, 'well, that certainly is fine now. That is big money for you, and I hope you are saving some of it and putting it in government bonds.'

"'No suh, boss,' said Bill. 'I ain't puttin' it in no government bonds, because I don't trust no government that pays a lazy fellike me seven dollars a day.'"

Rental Racket

A new racket has sprung up in crowded west coast cities, such as San Diego and Los Angeles. Rental agents are trying to cash in on the housing shortage by selling leads to apartment hunters. A fee of five or ten dollars is charged for rental leads, which usually turn out to be apartments that have already been rented or are otherwise unavailable or unfit for renting.

Strictly speaking, this practice may not be illegal. However, in San Diego, the Better Business Bureau has privately warned the following rental agents to desist: Gladys C. White, John Kirk, Dejackson Realty, R. J. Christensen Realty and Boulevard Rental.

Shocking Labor Relations

With the textile industry in the grip of a strike, the Senate Labor Committee is rushing approval of a report on the industry's "shocking" labor relations. Though the report has not yet been made public, this column has obtained a copy. Case histories of lawlessness and terrorism against union organizers in the southern textile industry are included in the report, indicating that "for all practical purposes, self-organization and collective bargaining are steadily losing ground."

"The retreat of union organization is being compelled by employer campaigns on an area-wide front," the Senate report charges. "Much of this campaign is being conducted in shocking violation of the Labor-Management Relations Act, and the National Labor Relations Board appears to be powerless to cope with the situation.

"The rights of the workers to self-organization and collective bargaining are guaranteed by federal law, and yet thousands of workers in the southern textile industry, who have sought the protection of the law, have failed to obtain it," the report continues. "The ability of southern employers to avoid collective bargaining has afford them a substantial competitive advantage over their northern competitors through lower wages and substandard working conditions."

As examples of company lawlessness, the report charges: "A kidnapping of one organizer and the forcible ejection from town of another at the American Thread Company in Tallapoosa, Ga., are noted in the subcommittee's case study. In Alexander City, Ala., the organizer was beaten by two company employes. At Hillsboro Cotton Mills, Hillsboro, Tex., the president of the union local was beaten in the presence of the plant overseer. When he sought the intervention of the overseer, the latter made no effort to stop the assault."

Great Britain, U. S. Are Not Broadcasting Decision on Crossing of 38th Parallel

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 6—America and Great Britain are talking again about the possible crossing of the 38th parallel by ground troops, and this time, fortunately, the official discussion is not being broadcast for the enemy to hear.

When Kenneth Younger, minister of state, told the House of Commons on Monday that an agreement between the United States and Great Britain had been reached on whether Allied troops in Korea should cross the 38th parallel, he added that no statement could be made about future operations because of "security."

This is good so far as it goes, but the fact that Great Britain wants to put restrictions on the military operations of ground troops is known to the enemy because the information has been broadcast from London. It means that the Communist generals now can make their plans and line up their troops in a "privileged sanctuary" in North Korea while U.N. troops might be compelled to stay south of the parallel.

Actually there is no argument as to the right of any military commander to patrol and conduct reconnaissance but the British evidently have become sticklers for the point that there should be no "military occupation" north of the 38th parallel.

This form of surrender will astonish those in the free world who have believed up to now that the purpose of the U.N. troops in Korea was to punish the aggressor and to liberate all of Korea. The situation is perhaps best explained from the British viewpoint by the "London Times," which a few days ago said editorially, in part:

"Therefore, whether the prospect is liked or not, a military division of Korea for some time seems inevitable. For many reasons the line of division is more likely to be established on or near the 38th parallel than anywhere else; and that provides the chief reason why the United Nations troops should not cross the parallel in force with a view to occupying large areas north of the line.

"Yet so long as the real Chinese intentions are unknown—so long, indeed, as Chinese propaganda declares that the western 'aggressors' must be defeated—it is hard to see that the commanders could be prevented from carrying out reconnoitering and spoiling raids over the line. Unless a cease-fire were to be arranged and supervised they could not risk being beset by new attacks from north of the line.

"What seems to be advisable is a definite understanding that the parallel and its immediate neighborhood shall be the limit of military occupation until it can be seen whether the Chinese are ready, on that basis, for an unacknowledged cease-fire that might in time become more precise and lead to a settlement."

The foregoing is just plain nonsense from a military viewpoint. No military commander could plan his operations with such a handicap imposed on him. It is the same kind of nonsense which certain Americans are preaching about the defense of Europe by our sea and air power alone and not with our ground troops.

Just why the 38th Parallel has become sacrosanct in British eyes is difficult to understand. Bombardments by naval vessels and by our airplanes are going on all the time north of the 38th Parallel. If it be thought that the Chinese Communists will be impressed by a faltering, hesitating ground army which regards the 38th Parallel as untouchable, then a revival of Communist defiance rather than a dimunition of its fervor may confidently be expected.

What the "London Times" proposes really is to return to the line of June 26 last and thus tell the mothers and fathers of the 50,000 American boys who have been killed or wounded that the Korean expedition had no real objective at the outset and today has no purpose at all except to restore the status quo and call it a day.

The omission from British statements and utterances of any expressed desire to punish the Communist aggression is significant. Instead, the Munich psychology is back again, as it is proposed to negotiate for peace along the 38th Parallel. Our British friends do not know the extent to which they have unwittingly damaged Anglo-American relations and stimulated the isolationist sentiment—they are so preoccupied with getting our troops out of Korea and into Europe that they are unintentionally building up a logical argument for appeasement with Moscow over all issues in Europe, too.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Knowing him to be a good citizen, though a Democrat, I wired and telephoned Senator Mike Monroney, of Oklahoma, suggesting that he call Arthur J. Goldsmith, of the Waldorf Tower, and Albert D. Lasker and his wife, all of New York, and put them over the jumps in the solemn investigation of federal elections. Senator Monroney explained that his committee, which is a subcommittee of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, is authorized only to inquire into the corrupt practices, if any, which assisted in the defeat of Millard Tydings, Democrat, of Maryland, last fall.

This is a Truman project to put Tydings back in the Senate because Tydings ran a mock inquiry in an effort to deodorize Harry Truman's Communist Red-herrings. Joe McCarthy, of Wisconsin, went over into Maryland and gave Tydings such a pasting on the issue of traitors in the government that Tydings has been running around squealing like a pig under a gate ever since. He apparently had come to believe that he had a life tenure on the job of senator from Maryland and that nothing could make the voters sick of him. He found out. The voters might have had in mind the quaint relationship between Tydings and paper-collar Joe Davies, who struck it rich when the married Marjorie Post Hutton, who was so dough-heavy that she used to have her private car with gold handles on the gadgets and her private ocean liner. Tydings married Davies's daughter of his first wife. Well, that's Washington.

Old paper-collar Joe lists himself as an "author" in Who's Who.

Not long afterward, I got a whiff of this as far east as New York and started phoning around for Lasker. Here is a pompous old man, inflated with the majesty of his money and deceived by a notion that his dogma on all matters is binding on all persons. He is a little skimpy in the viscera, however, so when he heard that I wanted to ask questions about the ditching of Burt Wheeler in a Montana primary, Lasker got taken real bad, real sudden and did a triple-gainer into a hospital way down south. His condition was so desperate that I couldn't even talk to his wife, who is about a third-string Eleanor who has been promoting around New York for 30 years. After she married Lasker, she became a woman with a mission and a lot of dough to do the people good or do them good. Her fad is birth-control. Al's, too.

Not long ago, when I was talking to Herbert Bayard Swope about Arthur J. Goldsmith, the bashful dragon of the Waldorf tower, Herbie recollected that time when I was tearing after Lasker. Lasker must have told him about it because I never had occasion to mention it to Herbie. Herbie said: "I think Goldsmith is afraid of you!" He meant that Goldsmith had been bulling people around and playing dragon for so long that it set him back on his flask to have anyone yell back at him. Then Herbie said Lasker told him about that time and how scared he was to be asked about the Montana campaign.

He wrote a book. It was called "Mission to Moscow." When a worse book is written, Joe will

24 Complete Aid Course Sponsored By the Red Cross

Twenty-four first aid students have successfully completed the Red Cross instructor training course held at the Kingston Laboratory, Monday through Thursday last week, Harold A. Sanford, first aid chairman in the local chapter announced today. The course was conducted by Harold Mason, safety representative with the Eastern Area Headquarters, Alexandria, Va.

New teaching material for first aid courses, prepared in cooperation with the federal civil defense administration, has been released to the instructors in the form of supplements to the Standard First Aid textbook, Chairman Sanford said.

The National Security Resources Board has recommended that the general public and civil defense personnel enroll in a Red Cross 18-hour first aid course to which will be added the supplementary training in the care of injuries resulting in atomic warfare. It is estimated that about 20 million people should receive this training during the next few years.

The following persons have completed the first aid instructor training course and are authorized to conduct junior, standard and advanced first aid classes for the chapter:

Kingston—Charles W. Breevort, Elsie Deegan, Ruth Hutton, Edith M. Kelder, Mary C. Keresman, Isabelle R. Moeslein, Harold A. Sanford, Charles W. Shultis and Ann L. Whitbeck.

Ellenville—Harold L. Ray.

Esopus—William J. Cambria.

New Paltz—Angela Petrucelli and Edna Beatty.

Phoenicia—John F. Kinsey and Elsie Kinsey.

Port Ewen—Elizabeth L. Sanford.

Wallkill—Elaine M. Boulanger and Kathleen Widsom.

"The worthwhile first aid training program offered by Red Cross is designed not only to equip the individual with safe attitudes for peacetime living, but through the acquisition of valuable skills and knowledge, protect himself and his family in time of emergencies," Chairman Sanford said.

Individuals and groups interested in receiving first aid training are asked to contact Ulster County Red Cross Chapter. The only charge made in connection with the courses is for the first aid textbook and for the civil defense supplement.

Hold Snow Hike

Seventeen Scouts and leaders of Troop 9, B.S.A., Redeemer Lutheran Church, went on a snow hike Saturday.

Journeying to Blue Mountain by car, the Scouts, led by Scoutmaster William Daum and Explorer Advisor Ernest Ryan, began their hike by visiting the sap bush of Henry A. Lamouree. Here the group viewed the process of making maple syrup. They saw the raw sap being gathered and taken to the sap house where it is boiled into syrup.

From there the Scouts hiked through West Saugerties to the foot of Plattekill Clove. Leaving the main road, they followed the Plattekill Creek through its series of ice-hung crags and gorges as far as Red Falls, where noon camp was set up.

Despite the heavy snow, many of the Scouts passed fire-building and cooking requirements for first and second class rank. The group then scaled the steep side of the gorge and returned to the foot of the mountain by way of the police camp road.

THE WAY TO CALVARY

The bitterness of the temple scribes and priests mounted as they saw crowds turning to Jesus. They approached Him as he taught and asked how He came by such authority.

Jesus replied by asking if the baptism of John was "from heaven, or of men?" Knowing either answer would belittle them, they fell silent.

Christ continued the discourse with pointed parables that distressed them further. But they dared not assail Him for fear of the crowds to whom He had become a prophet.

Marshall Says Foot Soldier Not On His Way Out

New York, March 6 (AP)—Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall says "there is no new development that will relegate the foot soldier to Limbo in the near future."

Gen. Marshall contends that strengthening United States ground forces in Europe can serve two purposes:

It can give heart to our allies in Europe.

It can "give an impudent aggressor something to think about before he sets out on a hostile venture."

Although he did not mention Russia by name, he made it plain that he was talking about that country in an address last night at Columbia University.

Discussing the military build-up in western Europe, he said:

"We are providing much more support on the sea and in the air than on the ground. But we are not neglecting the ground.

"The experience of battle from earliest times down to Korea points to the continued, and decisive role of the ground forces."

Challenges Contention

Marshall challenged the contention that sending U. S. troops to Europe would provoke Russia into starting a war.

"Our antagonist," he said, "has proven that it needs no excuse and will strike whenever it chooses."

Conceding that sending U. S. troops to Europe entails some danger of attack, he said the same risk existed when America helped in the economic rehabilitation of free Europe, and when it gave military aid to Greece and Turkey.

'Risk in Action'

"There is always a risk in positive action," the general declared. "But the risk becomes far greater if we hesitate to act with courage and are intimidated to the point that we become paralyzed and do nothing."

Discussing the nation's state of military preparedness, Marshall said "we are not yet as strong as we would like to be, but we are making rapid progress."

He said he hopes the nation will be able to create an enduring system of universal military training to serve in case of emergency.

Ike Names Six Europeans to His Atlantic Command

Paris, March 6 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters today announced the appointment of six Europeans and one American to top posts in the North Atlantic military command.

From Europe Eisenhower named three British, two French and one Italian to assist him.

Eisenhower's chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, announced these appointments:

Lt. Gen. Marcel-Maurice Carpentier, French Army, to be deputy chief of staff for administration.

Air Vice Marshal E. E. Hudleston, (British) Royal Air Force, deputy chief for plans.

Maj. Gen. Terence Sydney Airey, British Army, assistant chief of intelligence.

Maj. Gen. F. W. Festing, British Army, assistant chief for organization and training.

Rear Adm. Ferrant Capponi, Italian Navy, assistant chief for personnel and administration.

Maj. Gen. Pierre Louis Bodet, French Air Force, assistant chief for plans, policy and operations.

Maj. Gen. Edmond H. Leavey, U. S. Army, assistant chief for logistics.

Gruenther's announcement, Shape's communique No. eight, explained that "these senior officers will be concerned primarily with operations and functions within the staff structure at supreme headquarters, which now is located in the Hotel Astoria here.

Commanders of the Atlantic Pact's land, sea and air forces, plus regional commanders, are expected to be named soon.

Britain's Field Marshal Lord Montgomery also is expected to be named to a high post, probably as a deputy to Eisenhower. Ike himself now holds the title of supreme commander allied forces Europe.

Staff Work Begins On UN Army Plans

United Nations, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Staff work on plans for an international army to give the United Nations its own military force to combat aggression got under way today.

Urged on by the United States, delegates from 14 nations began consideration of how to organize such a force.

The United States called yesterday for U.N. members to earmark units of their national armed forces for U.N. service, and pleaded that this be done no later than Sept. 1.

It also suggested that the U.N. consider world wide voluntary recruitment of a "United Nations Legion" to supplement these contingents.

The U. S. also asked the collective measures committee, at its first meeting, to draw up plans for meshing these outfits into one international anti-aggression army, to avoid the improvising that was necessary when the Communists attacked in Korea.

Britain and France will make suggestions on how this might be done at the committee's next meeting scheduled for Monday.

Ban to Be Lifted On Aircraft Sale

Washington, March 6 (AP)—The United States and Britain are reported about ready to lift a two-year-old ban on the sale of military and civilian aircraft to Yugoslavia.

This would mark another big step by the west to bolster Marshal Tito's government against the possibility of attack by Russia and her Balkan satellites.

The State Department has agreed in principle to end this ban, officials said today, and is working out final details with the British foreign office in London.

The Yugoslavs are reported badly in need of additional planes of all types. At present, officials said, Marshal Tito's air force numbers only a few hundred planes, most of them outdated Russian types acquired before Yugoslavia broke with Moscow in 1948. No jets are reported among them.

TELEPHONE CALLS DURING MEALS

A reader asks: "Could I have refused to go to the telephone the other evening during dinner? Without running risk, that is, of hurting anyone's feelings! My son, who answered the telephone, said it was a Mrs. Blank, with a very nice voice. I didn't recognize the name so thought I had better go to the telephone. This always is very upsetting at meal time. I found the 'nice voice' was calling from a local laundry soliciting my business."

You could not very well have avoided going to the telephone. In the future you could meet this situation by making it a rule to have whoever answers explain that you are at dinner, and ask for their name and number so that you can call them later.

Typewritten Letters

Dear Mrs. Post: As a busy man I write all my letters, personal as well as business, on my typewriter. There are some who claim I carry the practice too far. What about it?

Answer: Only formal (third person) invitations and their answers—and also certain social notes—must be written by hand. Otherwise the typewriter is quite permissible for all personal letters, even preferable for those of length. No one any longer assumes that a letter expertly typed was necessarily written by a stenographer.

Hostess to Man Alone

Dear Mrs. Post: When a young man comes to town to see a young woman who lives by herself in a very small flat, should she reserve a hotel room for him and pay for it? He is coming at her invitation.

Answer: She may quite properly ask him if he would like her to engage a room for him, but he must very definitely pay his own bill.

Hats at Tea

Dear Mrs. Post: Should the hostesses who will pour tea at a women's club party wear hats or not? The tea will be given at the Club House.

Answer: Correctly, yes—unless hatlessness is customary in that particular locality.

Amendment Is Likely

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—The Legislature will adjourn sine die on March 15, at 5 p. m., by terms of a resolution adopted by the Assembly. The Senate, however, anticipating a day's delay due to a logjam of bills, sent the resolution to committee last night for possible amendment. Early in the session, GOP leaders set March 16 as the adjournment target date.

Decline in Prices Expected to Come

Washington, March 6 (AP)—A national farm leader said today there is a good chance that farm and food prices will decline somewhat during the months ahead.

John H. Davis, executive secretary of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, said such a development is quite likely if farm production continues to current high levels.

A recent Agriculture Department report showed that farm prices reached a record level in mid-February. However, some farm products—particularly hogs and grains—have declined since that time.

In a speech prepared for a luncheon conference of agricultural writers, Davis said much of the increase in food prices since the start of the Korean war could be attributed to "scare" buying and stockpiling by housewives, retailers and others fearing possible shortages.

THE WAY TO CALVARY

The bitterness of the temple scribes and priests mounted as they saw crowds turning to Jesus. They approached Him as he taught and asked how He came by such authority.

Jesus replied by asking if the baptism of John was "from heaven, or of men?" Knowing either answer would belittle them, they fell silent.

Envy of His Enemies

Christ continued the discourse with pointed parables that distressed them further. But they dared not assail Him for fear of the crowds to whom He had become a prophet.

Marshall Says Foot Soldier Not On His Way Out

New York, March 6 (AP)—Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall says "there is no new development that will relegate the foot soldier to Limbo in the near future."

Gen. Marshall contends that strengthening United States ground forces in Europe can serve two purposes:

It can give heart to our allies in Europe.

It can "give an impudent aggressor something to think about before he sets out on a hostile venture."

Although he did not mention Russia by name, he made it plain that he was talking about that country in an address last night at Columbia University.

Discussing the military build-up in western Europe, he said:

"We are providing much more support on the sea and in the air than on the ground. But we are not neglecting the ground.

Challenges Contention

Marshall challenged the contention that sending U. S. troops to Europe would provoke Russia into starting a war.

"Our antagonist," he said, "has proven that it needs no excuse and will strike whenever it chooses."

Conceding that sending U. S. troops to Europe entails some danger of attack, he said the same risk existed when America helped in the economic rehabilitation of free Europe, and when it gave military aid to Greece and Turkey.

'Risk in Action'

"There is always a risk in positive action," the general declared. "But the risk becomes far greater if we hesitate to act with courage and are intimidated to the point that we become paralyzed and do nothing."

Discussing the nation's state of military preparedness, Marshall said "we are not yet as strong as we would like to be, but we are making rapid progress."

He said he hopes the nation will be able to create an enduring system of universal military training to serve in case of emergency.

Ike Names Six Europeans to His Atlantic Command

Paris, March 6 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters today announced the appointment of six Europeans and one American to top posts in the North Atlantic military command.

From Europe Eisenhower named three British, two French and one Italian to assist him.

Eisenhower's chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, announced these appointments:

Lt. Gen. Marcel-Maurice Carpentier, French Army, to be deputy chief of staff for administration.

Air Vice Marshal E. E. Hudleston, (British) Royal Air Force, deputy chief for plans.

Maj. Gen. Terence Sydney Airey, British Army, assistant chief of intelligence.

Maj. Gen. F. W. Festing, British Army, assistant chief for organization and training.

Rear Adm. Ferrant Capponi, Italian Navy, assistant chief for personnel and administration.

Maj. Gen. Pierre Louis Bodet, French Air Force, assistant chief for plans, policy and operations.

Maj. Gen. Edmond H. Leavey, U. S. Army, assistant chief for logistics.

Gruenther's announcement, Shape's communique No. eight, explained that "these senior officers will be concerned primarily with operations and functions within the staff structure at supreme headquarters, which now is located in the Hotel Astoria here.

Commanders of the Atlantic Pact's land, sea and air forces, plus regional commanders, are expected to be named soon.

Britain's Field Marshal Lord Montgomery also is expected to be named to a high post, probably as a deputy to Eisenhower. Ike himself now holds the title of supreme commander allied forces Europe.

Staff Work Begins On UN Army Plans

United Nations, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Staff work on plans for an international army to give the United Nations its own military force to combat aggression got under way today.

Urged on by the United States, delegates from 14 nations began consideration of how to organize such a force.

The United States called yesterday for U.N. members to earmark units of their national armed forces for U.N. service, and pleaded that this be done no later than Sept. 1.

It also suggested that the U.N. consider world wide voluntary recruitment of a "United Nations Legion" to supplement these contingents.

The U. S. also asked the collective measures committee, at its first meeting, to draw up plans for meshing these outfits into one international anti-aggression army, to avoid the improvising that was necessary when the Communists attacked in Korea.

Britain and France will make suggestions on how this might be done at the committee's next meeting scheduled for Monday.

Ban to Be Lifted On Aircraft Sale

Washington, March 6 (AP)—The United States and Britain are reported about ready to lift a two-year-old ban on the sale of military and civilian aircraft to Yugoslavia.

This would mark another big step by the west to bolster Marshal Tito's government against the possibility of attack by Russia and her Balkan satellites.

The State Department has agreed in principle to end this ban, officials said today, and is working out final details with the British foreign office in London.

The Yugoslavs are reported badly in need of additional planes of all types. At present, officials said, Marshal Tito's air force numbers only a few hundred planes, most of them outdated Russian types acquired before Yugoslavia broke with Moscow in 1948. No jets are reported among them.

British Producer Dies

London, March 6 (AP)—Ivor Novello, noted British actor-producer, died early today of thrombosis at the age of 57. In his career of 30 years on the British stage he appeared in a long list of hits. He composed the song, "Keep the Home Fires Burning," and others which were among this country's most popular.

TELEPHONE CALLS DURING MEALS

A reader asks: "Could I have refused to go to the telephone the other evening during dinner? Without running risk, that is, of hurting anyone's feelings! My son, who answered the telephone, said it was a Mrs. Blank, with a very nice voice. I didn't recognize the name so thought I had better go to the telephone. This always is very upsetting at meal time. I found the 'nice voice' was calling from a local laundry soliciting my business."

You could not very well have avoided going to the telephone. In the future you could meet this situation by making it a rule to have whoever answers explain that you are at dinner, and ask for their name and number so that you can call them later.

Typewritten Letters

Dear Mrs. Post: As a busy man I write all my letters, personal as well as business, on my typewriter. There are some who claim I carry the practice too far. What about it?

Answer: Only formal (third person) invitations and their answers—and also certain social notes—must be written by hand. Otherwise the typewriter is quite permissible for all personal letters, even preferable for those of length. No one any longer assumes that a letter expertly typed was necessarily written by a stenographer.

Hostess to Man Alone

Dear Mrs. Post: When a young man comes to town to see a young woman who lives by herself in a very small flat, should she reserve a hotel room for him and pay for it? He is coming at her invitation.

Answer: She may quite properly ask him if he would like her to engage a room for him, but he must very definitely pay his own bill.

Hats at Tea

Dear Mrs. Post: Should the hostesses who will pour tea at a women's club party wear hats or not? The tea will be given at the Club House.

Answer: Correctly, yes—unless hatlessness is customary in that particular locality.

Is your question about setting the table properly for a dinner party? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her booklet, No. 504, "Etiquette of Table Setting" includes full details. Amendment Is Likely

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—The Legislature will adjourn sine die on March 15, at 5 p. m., by terms of a resolution adopted by the Assembly. The Senate, however, anticipating a day's delay due to a logjam of bills, sent the resolution to committee last night for possible amendment. Early in the session, GOP leaders set March 16 as the adjournment target date.

Decline in Prices Expected to Come

Washington, March 6 (AP)—A national farm leader said today there is a good chance that farm and food prices will decline somewhat during the months ahead.

John H. Davis, executive secretary of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, said such a development is quite likely if farm production continues to current high levels.

A recent Agriculture Department report showed that farm prices reached a record level in mid-February. However, some farm products—particularly hogs and grains—have declined since that time.

In a speech prepared for a luncheon conference of agricultural writers, Davis said much of the increase in food prices since the start of the Korean war could be attributed to "scare" buying and stockpiling by housewives, retailers and others fearing possible shortages.

24 Complete Aid Course Sponsored By the Red Cross

Twenty-four first aid students have successfully completed the Red Cross instructor training course held at the Kingston Laboratory, Monday through Thursday last week, Harold A. Sanford, first aid chairman in the local chapter announced today. The course was conducted by Harold Mason, safety representative with the Eastern Area Headquarters, Alexandria, Va.

New teaching material for first aid courses, prepared in cooperation with the federal civil defense administration, has been released to the instructors in the form of supplements to the Standard First Aid textbook, Chairman Sanford said.

The National Security Resources Board has recommended that the general public and civil defense personnel enroll in a Red Cross 18-hour first aid course to which will be added the supplementary training in the care of injuries resulting in atomic warfare. It is estimated that about 20 million people should receive this training during the next few years.

The following persons have completed the first aid instructor training course and are authorized to conduct junior, standard and advanced first aid classes for the chapter:

Kingston—Charles W. Breevort, Elsie Deegan, Ruth Hutton, Edith M. Kelder, Mary C. Keresman, Isabelle R. Moeslein, Harold A. Sanford, Charles W. Shultis and Ann L. Whitbeck.

Ellenville—Harold L. Ray.

Esopus—William J. Cambria.

New Paltz—Angela Petrucelli and Edna Beatty.

Phoenicia—John F. Kinsey and Elsie Kinsey.

Port Ewen—Elizabeth L. Sanford.

Wallkill—Elaine M. Boulanger and Kathleen Widsom.

"The worthwhile first aid training program offered by Red Cross is designed not only to equip the individual with safe attitudes for peacetime living, but through the acquisition of valuable skills and knowledge, protect himself and his family in time of emergencies," Chairman Sanford said.

Individuals and groups interested in receiving first aid training are asked to contact Ulster County Red Cross Chapter. The only charge made in connection with the courses is for the first aid textbook and for the civil defense supplement.

Bill on Legislature Remains in Committee

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—The Assembly's general laws committee voted last night not to report out for a floor vote the Clancy bill requiring a transcript of the Legislature's proceedings be made available to the public. The vote was not announced.

A companion bill is before the Senate finance committee. If it is reported out and passed, it will be sent to the Assembly for final action.

The bill is supported by the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors. It provides that a transcript of the debate and other proceedings in the Senate and Assembly shall be filed in the legislative library "not later than the close of the second legislative day" after each session of the respective houses.

Hold Snow Hike

Seventeen Scouts and leaders of Troop 9, B.S.A., Redeemer Lutheran Church, went on a snow hike Saturday.

Journeying to Blue Mountain by car, the Scouts, led by Scoutmaster William Daum and Explorer Advisor Ernest Ryan, began their hike by visiting the sap bush of Henry A. Lamouree. Here the group viewed the process of making maple syrup. They saw the raw sap being gathered and taken to the sap house where it is boiled into syrup.

From there the Scouts hiked through West Saugerties to the foot of Plattekill Clove. Leaving the main road, they followed the Plattekill Creek through its series of ice-hung crags and gorges as far as Red Falls, where noon camp was set up.

Despite the heavy snow, many of the Scouts passed fire-building and cooking requirements for first and second class rank. The group then scaled the steep side of the gorge and returned to the foot of the mountain by way of the police camp road.

Hunter Aims at Crow, Up Goes Factory

Pearl River, N. Y., March 6 (AP) — A hunter aimed at a crow, puled the trigger—and up went the fireworks factory.

A small fireworks plant blew up, windows and dishes were shattered for a mile around, communities 15 miles away were rocked.

Air raid wardens came running, and police and firemen sped from nearby New York and New Jersey towns.

Hundreds of sightseers flocked to the plant near here on the Hackensack river near the state boundary.

One man three miles away said he was thrown from his couch.

The frightened hunter, Frank Perkins, Jr., 24, forgot his crow. He jumped in the river, he was so scared.

Ambulances raced to the scene, but nobody was injured.

Employes at the fireworks plant had finished their day's work 20 minutes earlier.

Red Cross Program

In 111 military hospitals, a key staff of professional Red Cross workers, aided by thousands of trained volunteers, provided innumerable services, small and large, to hospitalized servicemen —easing their long hours of hospitalization and helping to hasten the recovery of many. In giving to the Red Cross, you help support this all-important program.

Penicillin Production

New Delhi (AP)—Three officials of the World Health Organization will discuss with the Government of India plans for starting a penicillin production plant in India. The United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund has offered to provide apparatus and equipment at an estimated cost of $850,000.

Employment Is 58,905,000

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Civilian employment in February was 58,905,000—"much the highest" total for the month on record, the Census Bureau reported yesterday. Employment in January had also set a record for the month. There was a drop from January to last month of about 105,000 jobs, but the bureau said that was far below the usual decline for that time of the year. Secretary of Commerce Sawyer commented that the figures so far indicate "widespread unemployment is unlikely" to result from conversions to defense production.

Washington state has a milder climate than any other state in the Union located in the same latitude.

Reports Are Denied

Havana, March 6 (AP)—President Carlos Prio Socarras last night denied reports of insubordination in the Cuban army over the question of sending troops to fight in Korea. Rumors of such protests have been circulating in Havana the past two days. Yesterday the afternoon paper "Alerta" said there were reports that some army officers had been arrested or transferred. The president said such reports were "absolutely false."

Smaller Companies Line Up

Detroit, March 6 (AP)—Smaller companies in the auto industry began lining up behind the "Big Three" today in the five cents an hour cost of living wage increase. Packard was the first, announcing the boost for its 9,000 production workers. Ultimately a total of 1,000,000 auto workers are expected to get the added nickel an hour under escalator wage contracts. It brings the average pay to about $1.83 an hour.

Be such a man, and live such a life,
That if every man were such as you,
And every life a life like yours,
This earth would be God's Paradise. —Phillips Brooks

Keep interest in people, especially young people—keep astride of the times, and you'll never grow old. -Ethel Barrymore.

Johnny Bull—We have some very large birds in England. Why, once while I was standing in a zoological garden, I saw a man come in on an eagle.

Yankee Tourist — Brother, that's nothing. Once, while standing in a ball park, I saw a player go out on a fly.

Don't know who thought this one up but it is cute: "Marriage is love parsonified."

Stella—In my class I was a moron.
Mabel—Was that good?
Stella—In my class, it was.

There are in every community a certain number of grousers, men who like to criticize and complain. Grousing, carried far enough and indulged in by enough people, can just about ruin a town, and the pity of it is that few towns are as bad as the grousers seem to think.

The new short skirts have the women hemming and the men hawing!

Professor's Daughter—Circumstances compel me to decline a marital arrangement with a man of such inferior pecuniary resources.
Student Suitor—Er, ah—I don't get you.
Professor's Daughter—That's it exactly!

He—I'll bet a coat of tan would be becoming to you, girlie.
She—Oh, thanks, you darling boy, but I'd rather have ermine.

Radio and television are getting too much attention from the younger set and as a result their homework is suffering, says a U. S. educationalist. He goes on to suggest that supervised homework might have to be introduced to swing the boys and girls back into line. How about blinkers and earmuffs instead, or a little more parental control?

When today's hand was actually played, South won the opening club lead with the ace and then made the mistake of drawing trumps at once. East took the first trump with the ace and returned a club, thus knocking out South's king of clubs.

South drew another round of trumps and finessed the ten of diamonds. However, East won with the queen of diamonds, cashed the ace of hearts, and then led to his partner's good club. The four tricks taken by the defenders naturally set the contract.

"The Lord hates a coward," muttered North as the score was being written down.

"Do you mean I played the hand badly?" asked South defensively.

"Of course," North replied. "After winning the first trick, you should have finessed the ten of diamonds at once. That would lose, but you could win the club return and take another diamond finesse. The second finesse would win, and you could discard your losing club."

"But if the second finesse lost," South objected, "I'd be down two instead of only one."

"That's what I meant," observed North. "You throw away 700 points simply because you were afraid to risk an extra hundred."

North was perfectly right, of course. Any player with blood in his veins should be willing to risk a larger set (provided he is not doubled) if the risk gives him a better chance to make his contract.

As Pegler Sees It

write it. Marjorie is a determined woman who had recently outnumbered Ed Hutton, the Broker. The court called it a draw, but old Ed was running around those ropes looking for a gate. After paper-collar Joe married Marjorie, it turned out he couldn't take the sea so the facetious society salts around the Capital Yacht and the New York Yacht Clubs got to calling him Sailbad the Sinner.

Monroney said he would send my telegram along to the full committee, which has a right to investigate money business in federal elections anywhere, at any time, within reason. You can't expect this committee to go back to Rutherford B. Hayes, but it certainly can, with legitimate reason, go back to the Democratic primary of 1946 in Montana in which Burton K. Wheeler was ditched by New York money after a campaign which was described by Senator Johnson, of Colorado, as a filthy mess.

Senator Ellender, of Louisiana, one of Huey Long's old stooges, was chairman of the committee which was supposed to investigate that one. But Ellender ran out and the result was a stench never to be forgotten by anyone who smole it. Incidentally, if you have any idea that Ellender, by now, may have lived down his conduct in Huey Long's legislature, forget it. He was mature and his character was set and committed and those legislatures were the foulest corruptions of the American political process and of our civic morals that our nation has looked upon from the reconstruction in South Carolina to the Roosevelt-Truman abominations. I was there.

Wheeler was ganged by an eastern mob of warmongers because he was pro-American. The term they used for pro-Americans was "America-Firsters." They sometimes called them "Isolationists."

A man who attended a big, flashy political dinner told Wheeler and me that Lasker walked over to Niles Trammell, then president of National Broadcasting, boasted that he, Lasker, had knocked off Wheeler in the Montana primary and remarked that Trammell hadn't thanked him yet. At that time, Wheeler was in the Senate riding herd on the radio racket and his removal was supposed to be a boon to Trammell.

Goldsmith has been butting into elections, too. He used to have a switchboard in his apartment at the Waldorf Tower to handle high-pressure politics. He may have it yet. Anyway, he is very secretive, although, under legal compulsion, he has reported expenditures of money on several remote campaigns solicited by letterhead outfits to swing elections in states far from the homes of the people who put up the money.

So I just say, now that the subject is up, let's have a few answers from Lasker and Goldsmith. And make it snappy, boys, or they might pile into the hay and hang out a doctor's certificate. And the high-minded third-string First Lady of the Universe might be too distraught to answer.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Who remembers when the famous Mansion House, corner Broadway and Strand, had three balconies and an awing over the top one? I see a picture of it in a 87-page illustrated book put out in 1892 called "Kingston and Rondout, Their Representative Business Men and Points of Interest." Perhaps such a book will come again during our anniversary next year. Going back to those days, the "Albany day boats" did not touch at Rondout but at Rhinebeck, or Rhinecliff, on the opposite side of the Hudson, from which Rondout is reached by a steam ferry. The river is about a mile wide at this point, and as Rondout lies about a mile from the Hudson, on Rondout creek, the ferry ride is about two miles in length. The Mary Powell in those days not only docked at Rondout but laid there over night, and left daily for New York about 5:30 in the morning. According to Geo. F. Bacon, who compiled and wrote this book, he says about the Mary Powell, "She has been repaired, renovated, strengthened, and even lengthened, and probably but a very small part of the original boat now remains."

Mr. Bacon further states: "Kingston is not situated upon the right bank or any other bank of the Hudson, — that is to say, the business and the thickly settled portions of Kingston, for the city proper is made up of three villages, including that of Rondout, one mile from the Hudson, on Rondout creek. That of Wilbur, a little place nearly two miles from the Hudson, on the same creek; and that of Kingston, which has a population about equal to that of Rondout, and whose centre is about three miles west from the Hudson and about one and a half miles from the centre of Rondout, from which it may be reached by street railway."

Looking back to 1892, still the days of river navigation and the canal he describes a sail up the Hudson and entering the Rondout Creek, "Even before coming in sight of the great steamers and crowded wharves of Rondout one observes a system of jetties, extending on either side for many hundred feet up the creek, substantially built of heavy piling, and especially designed to prevent the creek from being filled up by the mud and sand wash from the Hudson. Next to the big steamers to be seen along Rondout's water-front, the most noticeable craft are the canal boats, for these humble but highly useful vessels may be seen here by the hundred, and the cargo are laden with miniature mountains of coal. Rondout was the famous coal port, having communication with the Pennsylvania coal regions by means of the Delaware and Hudson Canal, which was completed in 1828, and it is said followed almost exactly the course of an Indian 'trail' to the Delaware river, which was old when the first white men arrived at Rondout, in 1614. These mammoth cones of coals reach 60 feet in height and 75 feet in diameter down at the coal docks of Rondout. Who remembers Rondout in the 1890's?

That of Wilbur, a little place nearly two miles from the Hudson, on the same creek; and that of Kingston, which has a population about equal to that of Rondout, and whose centre is about three miles west from the Hudson and about one and a half miles from the centre of Rondout, from which it may be reached by street railway."

Looking back to 1892, still the days of river navigation and the canal he describes a sail up the Hudson and entering the Rondout Creek, "Even before coming in sight of the great steamers and crowded wharves of Rondout one observes a system of jetties, extending on either side for many hundred feet up the creek, substantially built of heavy piling, and especially designed to prevent the creek from being filled up by the mud and sand wash from the Hudson. Next to the big steamers to be seen along Rondout's water-front, the most noticeable craft are the canal boats, for these humble but highly useful vessels may be seen here by the hundred, and the cargo are laden with miniature mountains of coal. Rondout was the famous coal port, having communication with the Pennsylvania coal regions by means of the Delaware and Hudson Canal, which was completed in 1828, and it is said followed almost exactly the course of an Indian 'trail' to the Delaware river, which was old when the first white men arrived at Rondout, in 1614. These mammoth cones of coals reach 60 feet in height and 75 feet in diameter down at the coal docks of Rondout. Who remembers Rondout in the 1890's?

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Bold Play May Bring Home Bacon

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was actually played, South won the opening club lead with the ace and then made the mistake of drawing trumps at once. East took the first trump with the ace and returned a club, thus knocking out South's king of clubs.

South drew another round of trumps and finessed the ten of diamonds. However, East won with the queen of diamonds, cashed the ace of hearts, and then led to his partner's good club. The four tricks taken by the defenders naturally set the contract.

"The Lord hates a coward," muttered North as the score was being written down.

"Do you mean I played the hand badly?" asked South defensively.

"Of course," North replied. "After winning the first trick, you should have finessed the ten of diamonds at once. That would lose, but you could win the club return and take another diamond finesse. The second finesse would win, and you could discard your losing club."

"But if the second finesse lost," South objected, "I'd be down two instead of only one."

"That's what I meant," observed North. "You throw away 700 points simply because you were afraid to risk an extra hundred."

North was perfectly right, of course. Any player with blood in his veins should be willing to risk a larger set (provided he is not doubled) if the risk gives him a better chance to make his contract.

As Pegler Sees It

write it. Marjorie is a determined woman who had recently outnumbered Ed Hutton, the Broker. The court called it a draw, but old Ed was running around those ropes looking for a gate. After paper-collar Joe married Marjorie, it turned out he couldn't take the sea so the facetious society salts around the Capital Yacht and the New York Yacht Clubs got to calling him Sailbad the Sinner.

Monroney said he would send my telegram along to the full committee, which has a right to investigate money business in federal elections anywhere, at any time, within reason. You can't expect this committee to go back to Rutherford B. Hayes, but it certainly can, with legitimate reason, go back to the Democratic primary of 1946 in Montana in which Burton K. Wheeler was ditched by New York money after a campaign which was described by Senator Johnson, of Colorado, as a filthy mess.

Senator Ellender, of Louisiana, one of Huey Long's old stooges, was chairman of the committee which was supposed to investigate that one. But Ellender ran out and the result was a stench never to be forgotten by anyone who smole it. Incidentally, if you have any idea that Ellender, by now, may have lived down his conduct in Huey Long's legislature, forget it. He was mature and his character was set and committed and those legislatures were the foulest corruptions of the American political process and of our civic morals that our nation has looked upon from the reconstruction in South Carolina to the Roosevelt-Truman abominations. I was there.

Wheeler was ganged by an eastern mob of warmongers because he was pro-American. The term they used for pro-Americans was "America-Firsters." They sometimes called them "Isolationists."

A man who attended a big, flashy political dinner told Wheeler and me that Lasker walked over to Niles Trammell, then president of National Broadcasting, boasted that he, Lasker, had knocked off Wheeler in the Montana primary and remarked that Trammell hadn't thanked him yet. At that time, Wheeler was in the Senate riding herd on the radio racket and his removal was supposed to be a boon to Trammell.

Goldsmith has been butting into elections, too. He used to have a switchboard in his apartment at the Waldorf Tower to handle high-pressure politics. He may have it yet. Anyway, he is very secretive, although, under legal compulsion, he has reported expenditures of money on several remote campaigns solicited by letterhead outfits to swing elections in states far from the homes of the people who put up the money.

So I just say, now that the subject is up, let's have a few answers from Lasker and Goldsmith. And make it snappy, boys, or they might pile into the hay and hang out a doctor's certificate. And the high-minded third-string First Lady of the Universe might be too distraught to answer.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Who remembers when the famous Mansion House, corner Broadway and Strand, had three balconies and an awing over the top one? I see a picture of it in a 87-page illustrated book put out in 1892 called "Kingston and Rondout, Their Representative Business Men and Points of Interest." Perhaps such a book will come again during our anniversary next year. Going back to those days, the "Albany day boats" did not touch at Rondout but at Rhinebeck, or Rhinecliff, on the opposite side of the Hudson, from which Rondout is reached by a steam ferry. The river is about a mile wide at this point, and as Rondout lies about a mile from the Hudson, on Rondout creek, the ferry ride is about two miles in length. The Mary Powell in those days not only docked at Rondout but laid there over night, and left daily for New York about 5:30 in the morning. According to Geo. F. Bacon, who compiled and wrote this book, he says about the Mary Powell, "She has been repaired, renovated, strengthened, and even lengthened, and probably but a very small part of the original boat now remains."

Mr. Bacon further states: "Kingston is not situated upon the right bank or any other bank of the Hudson, — that is to say, the business and the thickly settled portions of Kingston, for the city proper is made up of three villages, including that of Rondout, one mile from the Hudson, on Rondout creek. That of Wilbur, a little place nearly two miles from the Hudson, on the same creek; and that of Kingston, which has a population about equal to that of Rondout, and whose centre is about three miles west from the Hudson and about one and a half miles from the centre of Rondout, from which it may be reached by street railway."

Looking back to 1892, still the days of river navigation and the canal he describes a sail up the Hudson and entering the Rondout Creek, "Even before coming in sight of the great steamers and crowded wharves of Rondout one observes a system of jetties, extending on either side for many hundred feet up the creek, substantially built of heavy piling, and especially designed to prevent the creek from being filled up by the mud and sand wash from the Hudson. These mammoth cones of coals reach 60 feet in height and 75 feet in diameter down at the coal docks of Rondout. Who remembers Rondout in the 1890's?

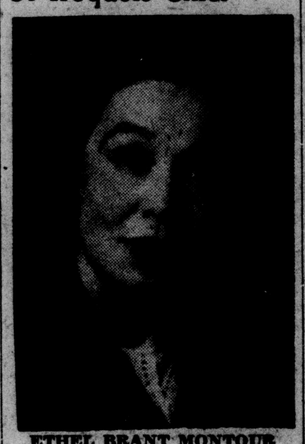
Dinner Club to Hear Direct Descendant Of Iroquois Chief



ETHEL BRANT MONTOUR

Mrs. Ethel Brant Montour, a descendant of Chief Joseph Brant of the Iroquois Federation who has been recognized as America's greatest Indian will be the guest speaker tomorrow night at the Kingston National Dinner Club.

Mrs. Montour, who was born on the Brantford, Ontario reservation, is a full-blooded Indian. Although she is little known in the United States she is said to have a wide following in Canada. During 1950, she addressed 95 Canadian clubs from the Maritimes to the west coast. Her tour earned her the following praise from the director of Indian affairs at Calgary:

"Your addresses were the most popular and informative at every club across Canada during the past year. It was a great thrill to us."

In her address Wednesday night, Mrs. Montour will attempt to show how the most important contributions to our institutional ways of life, to our customs, mores, and thought patterns, have been made by many different people in all walks of life, and from all social groups in human society.

Junior Marrieds Discuss Future Plans, See Movie

During the business session of the Junior Married Women's Club, held at the Y.W.C.A. Thursday evening, the president, Mrs. William Gaffken, named Mrs. Thomas Maines and Mrs. George Rifenbary as co-chairmen for the group's annual spring formal, scheduled for May. Meanwhile, votes of thanks were extended to Mrs. Fred Port and her committee for planning the club's successful card party, and to Mrs. Christopher Morris and her committee who arranged "Husbands' Night." Both were February affairs.

In conjunction with the second annual Hobby Show of the Y. W. C. A., the Junior Married Women, with Mrs. Peter D. Corsones as chairman, are planning a food sale booth. The Hobby Show will be held in the Municipal Auditorium in May. Another all Y.W.C.A. function in which the Junior Married Women will participate is "Round the World Cafeteria," scheduled for April 10.

After the business session the group saw a Frank Sinatra film, "Step Lively," secured through the Kingston Recreation Department. It was shown on a projector recently acquired for the Y.W.C.A. by several of the individual clubs.

The Mmes. John Cline, John Ceccarelli, and Peter Corsones were hostesses at the social hour.

Telephone Pioneers Display a Variety Of Skillful Hobbies

The work of literally hundreds of skillful, talented fingers characterized the annual hobby show of the local chapter of Telephone Pioneers of America, held Friday, in the Governor Clinton Hotel. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Mary A. Brown, the displays were carefully arranged in the hotel sun room.

Of particular interest was the Pennsylvania Dutch collection of Mr. and Mrs. William Blair, aptly named Blair House. Over a period of years the Blair's have collected perfectly scaled replicas of quaintly stenciled Amish and Dutch furniture. Candlesticks, glassware, and rugs, hand hooked by Mrs. Blair, complete the display.

Also outstanding were several pieces of handmade silver jewelry, featuring unique and stylized motifs, the work of Mrs. James Mulroy. Mrs. Mulroy is the mother of an assistant chief operator, Miss Jane Mulroy.

One of the most unusual hobbies represented was a group of 16 inch crepe paper dolls made by a former telephone operator, Mrs. Joseph Reis. The dolls include a graduating senior in his academic robes, a cowboy, and a bridal party.

Other exhibits were an imaginative display of ceramics made by Arthur L. Peck; a refinished and redecorated Hitchcock chair, the work of Mrs. Adelaide Gilbert; a collection of stuffed animals made by Mrs. Helen Rowland; weaved and crocheted rugs by Albert Kiersted; a crocheted afghan and an aluminum tray made by Mrs. Albert Kiersted; a shell collection shown by Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Lenker; a beaded bag by Miss Dorothy McKay; a valuable collection of rare coins, the property of William H. Mohr, Jr.; Mrs. James Mulroy's collection of jewelry and silverware; a bedspread and rugs made by Mrs. Evelyn Murphy; examples of woodworking by Frank Myers; crocheted and tatted work by Miss Agnes Reis; a crocheted tablecloth, the work of Miss Elizabeth Reis; textile stenciling done by Miss Henrietta Rose; a collection of railroad cars built by Edward Safford; a "doo-dad" quilt made by Mrs. Iabelle Schoonmaker; embroidery done by Miss Patricia Schoonmaker; paper flowers made by Miss Bea Scully; a watercolor by Miss Margaret R. Sill; three paintings by William Sill; knitted work and samplers made by Mrs. William Stopher, Jr.; knitted work done by Miss Frances Watts; two oil paintings by Paul Werner; knitted goods made by Mrs. Dorothy Wright; an oil painting by Miss Elizabeth D. Heitzman; a refinished chair with a needlepoint seat done by William Hornbeck; a model of a Navy Panther by Donald Dowra; an aluminum tray made by Miss Mary E. Bonnano; and oil paintings by Mrs. Arline Smith.

Home Bureau Heads Meet to Lay Plans For Coming Year

A total of 36 Home Bureau units, represented by their present chairmen, and chairmen-elect, met Monday, Feb. 26, to discuss program plans for the coming year. Mrs. Thomas Goodman of Lake Katrine presided.

The chairmen were urged to start planning programs in their units, and to begin pointing out some of the factors which may affect homemaking in the months ahead. They were also asked to keep unit programs down to the number of meetings convenient for most women. In addition it was pointed out that in planning a unit program, various interests should be considered. Individual consideration should be given women whose children are small, those whose children have graduated from school, and those whose children are employed outside of the home.

The chairman unanimously agreed that the program should support only those activities that justifiably spend public funds. This category includes foods and nutrition coupled with wise expenditure of the family food dollar and the best use of what is on hand. The proper care of appliances to extend their life and usefulness was also mentioned.

Coffee was served by Mrs. Charles Reis, vice chairman, and Mrs. Raymond Trumpait, secretary.

Card Party Guests To Tour Historic Van Deusen Home

The Community Service Club of Hurley will sponsor a card party Saturday at 8 p. m., in the historic old home of Miss Ruth Waterbury. During the evening guests will be allowed to tour the house which was built in 1723, and was known as the Jan Van Deusen house. It is one of the few stone houses in Hurley which has undergone very little interior change, although in 1906 one or two of the upstairs rooms were finished.

In 1777, after the British burned Kingston, the Van Deusen home became the temporary capitol. Still another interesting feature of the house is the spy room, its only entrance a trapdoor in the kitchen. It was in the same year (1777) that Caldwallaver Colden, Esq., a Loyalist and a spy, was paroled from the Fleet Prison in Kingston and sent to the Van Deusen house, where, it is at least presumed, he spent most of his time in the spy room.

Reservations for the card party may be made by calling Mrs. Elliot Whitney at Kingston 5, or Mrs. Jack Gill at 1217-2. Reservations should be made by Wednesday. During the evening refreshments will be served, and fudge and soda will be available.

Telephone Pioneers Display a Variety Of Skillful Hobbies

The work of literally hundreds of skillful, talented fingers characterized the annual hobby show of the local chapter of Telephone Pioneers of America, held Friday, in the Governor Clinton Hotel. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Mary A. Brown, the displays were carefully arranged in the hotel sun room.

Of particular interest was the Pennsylvania Dutch collection of Mr. and Mrs. William Blair, aptly named Blair House. Over a period of years the Blair's have collected perfectly scaled replicas of quaintly stenciled Amish and Dutch furniture. Candlesticks, glassware, and rugs, hand hooked by Mrs. Blair, complete the display.

Also outstanding were several pieces of handmade silver jewelry, featuring unique and stylized motifs, the work of Mrs. James Mulroy. Mrs. Mulroy is the mother of an assistant chief operator, Miss Jane Mulroy.

One of the most unusual hobbies represented was a group of 16 inch crepe paper dolls made by a former telephone operator, Mrs. Joseph Reis. The dolls include a graduating senior in his academic robes, a cowboy, and a bridal party.

Other exhibits were an imaginative display of ceramics made by Arthur L. Peck; a refinished and redecorated Hitchcock chair, the work of Mrs. Adelaide Gilbert; a collection of stuffed animals made by Mrs. Helen Rowland; weaved and crocheted rugs by Albert Kiersted; a crocheted afghan and an aluminum tray made by Mrs. Albert Kiersted; a shell collection shown by Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Lenker; a beaded bag by Miss Dorothy McKay; a valuable collection of rare coins, the property of William H. Mohr, Jr.; Mrs. James Mulroy's collection of jewelry and silverware; a bedspread and rugs made by Mrs. Evelyn Murphy; examples of woodworking by Frank Myers; crocheted and tatted work by Miss Agnes Reis; a crocheted tablecloth, the work of Miss Elizabeth Reis; textile stenciling done by Miss Henrietta Rose; a collection of railroad cars built by Edward Safford; a "doo-dad" quilt made by Mrs. Iabelle Schoonmaker; embroidery done by Miss Patricia Schoonmaker; paper flowers made by Miss Bea Scully; a watercolor by Miss Margaret R. Sill; three paintings by William Sill; knitted work and samplers made by Mrs. William Stopher, Jr.; knitted work done by Miss Frances Watts; two oil paintings by Paul Werner; knitted goods made by Mrs. Dorothy Wright; an oil painting by Miss Elizabeth D. Heitzman; a refinished chair with a needlepoint seat done by William Hornbeck; a model of a Navy Panther by Donald Dowra; an aluminum tray made by Miss Mary E. Junior Marrieds Discuss Future Plans, See Movie

During the business session of the Junior Married Women's Club, held at the Y.W.C.A. Thursday evening, the president, Mrs. William Gaffken, named Mrs. Thomas Maines and Mrs. George Rifenbary as co-chairmen for the group's annual spring formal, scheduled for May. Meanwhile, votes of thanks were extended to Mrs. Fred Port and her committee for planning the club's successful card party, and to Mrs. Christopher Morris and her committee who arranged "Husbands' Night." Both were February affairs.

In conjunction with the second annual Hobby Show of the Y. W. C. A., the Junior Married Women, with Mrs. Peter D. Corsones as chairman, are planning a food sale booth. The Hobby Show will be held in the Municipal Auditorium in May. Another all Y.W.C.A. function in which the Junior Married Women will participate is "Round the World Cafeteria," scheduled for April 10.

After the business session the group saw a Frank Sinatra film, "Step Lively," secured through the Kingston Recreation Department. It was shown on a projector recently acquired for the Y.W.C.A. by several of the individual clubs.

The Mmes. John Cline, John Ceccarelli, and Peter Corsones were hostesses at the social hour.

Telephone Pioneers Display a Variety Of Skillful Hobbies

The work of literally hundreds of skillful, talented fingers characterized the annual hobby show of the local chapter of Telephone Pioneers of America, held Friday, in the Governor Clinton Hotel. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Mary A. Brown, the displays were carefully arranged in the hotel sun room.

Of particular interest was the Pennsylvania Dutch collection of Mr. and Mrs. William Blair, aptly named Blair House. Over a period of years the Blair's have collected perfectly scaled replicas of quaintly stenciled Amish and Dutch furniture. Candlesticks, glassware, and rugs, hand hooked by Mrs. Blair, complete the display.

Also outstanding were several pieces of handmade silver jewelry, featuring unique and stylized motifs, the work of Mrs. James Mulroy. Mrs. Mulroy is the mother of an assistant chief operator, Miss Jane Mulroy.

One of the most unusual hobbies represented was a group of 16 inch crepe paper dolls made by a former telephone operator, Mrs. Joseph Reis. The dolls include a graduating senior in his academic robes, a cowboy, and a bridal party.

Other exhibits were an imaginative display of ceramics made by Arthur L. Peck; a refinished and redecorated Hitchcock chair, the work of Mrs. Adelaide Gilbert; a collection of stuffed animals made by Mrs. Helen Rowland; weaved and crocheted rugs by Albert Kiersted; a crocheted afghan and an aluminum tray made by Mrs. Albert Kiersted; a shell collection shown by Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Lenker; a beaded bag by Miss Dorothy McKay; a valuable collection of rare coins, the property of William H. Mohr, Jr.; Mrs. James Mulroy's collection of jewelry and silverware; a bedspread and rugs made by Mrs. Evelyn Murphy; examples of woodworking by Frank Myers; crocheted and tatted work by Miss Agnes Reis; a crocheted tablecloth, the work of Miss Elizabeth Reis; textile stenciling done by Miss Henrietta Rose; a collection of railroad cars built by Edward Safford; a "doo-dad" quilt made by Mrs. Iabelle Schoonmaker; embroidery done by Miss Patricia Schoonmaker; paper flowers made by Miss Bea Scully; a watercolor by Miss Margaret R. Sill; three paintings by William Sill; knitted work and samplers made by Mrs. William Stopher, Jr.; knitted work done by Miss Frances Watts; two oil paintings by Paul Werner; knitted goods made by Mrs. Dorothy Wright; an oil painting by Miss Elizabeth D. Heitzman; a refinished chair with a needlepoint seat done by William Hornbeck; a model of a Navy Panther by Donald Dowra; an aluminum tray made by Miss Mary E. Bonnano; and oil paintings by Mrs. Arline Smith.

Home Bureau Heads Meet to Lay Plans For Coming Year

A total of 36 Home Bureau units, represented by their present chairmen, and chairmen-elect, met Monday, Feb. 26, to discuss program plans for the coming year. Mrs. Thomas Goodman of Lake Katrine presided.

The chairmen were urged to start planning programs in their units, and to begin pointing out some of the factors which may affect homemaking in the months ahead. They were also asked to keep unit programs down to the number of meetings convenient for most women. In addition it was pointed out that in planning a unit program, various interests should be considered. Individual consideration should be given women whose children are small, those whose children have graduated from school, and those whose children are employed outside of the home.

The chairman unanimously agreed that the program should support only those activities that justifiably spend public funds. This category includes foods and nutrition coupled with wise expenditure of the family food dollar and the best use of what is on hand. The proper care of appliances to extend their life and usefulness was also mentioned.

Coffee was served by Mrs. Charles Reis, vice chairman, and Mrs. Raymond Trumpait, secretary.

Card Party Guests To Tour Historic Van Deusen Home

The Community Service Club of Hurley will sponsor a card party Saturday at 8 p. m., in the historic old home of Miss Ruth Waterbury. During the evening guests will be allowed to tour the house which was built in 1723, and was known as the Jan Van Deusen house. It is one of the few stone houses in Hurley which has undergone very little interior change, although in 1906 one or two of the upstairs rooms were finished.

In 1777, after the British burned Kingston, the Van Deusen home became the temporary capitol. Still another interesting feature of the house is the spy room, its only entrance a trapdoor in the kitchen. It was in the same year (1777) that Caldwallaver Colden, Esq., a Loyalist and a spy, was paroled from the Fleet Prison in Kingston and sent to the Van Deusen house, where, it is at least presumed, he spent most of his time in the spy room.

Reservations for the card party may be made by calling Mrs. Elliot Whitney at Kingston 5, or Mrs. Jack Gill at 1217-J-2. Reservations should be made by Wednesday. During the evening refreshments will be served, and fudge and soda will be available.

Music Appreciation Group Completes Study of Schumann

The Music Appreciation Group of the Y.W.C.A. completed its study of Schumann when it met last week at the home of Mrs. C. J. Heiselman, 173 West Chestnut street. During the meeting new forms of the composer's piano music were described and explained by Mrs. Kenneth Kukuk.

Nothing the composer ever wrote, the group was told, surpassed his early piano miniatures which were written in the years from 1835 to 1840. Each miniature, in addition, was given some appropriate name as "Papillons" (Butterflies), "Carnaval" (Carnival), and "Kinderschenen," which was written for children.

Schumann has been dscribed by the critics, Mrs. Kukuk commented, as "more intellectual than Schubert, more emotional than Mendelssohn, and more balanced than Chopin." His piano pieces are filled, the speaker concluded, with "poetic imagery, quick changes of mood, and graceful charm."

To illustrate Mrs. Kukuk's talk, Mrs. Henry Millonig played the following selections: "Melodie" (from the Christmas album), "Traumerei," "Aufschwung," "Vogel Als Phophet," and "Romanz." Recordings of "Warum und Grillen," and "Traume," played by Anna Dorsman, were also heard.

At the close of the meeting tea was served by Mrs. Heiselman and Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw. Miss Florence Cordts poured.

The group's next meeting will be March 15, Mrs. Byron Chatham, chairman, announced, and will again be held at Mrs. Heiselman's home.

Miss Doris Bouton Weds Jacob Ennis

Miss Doris L. Bouton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Douglass Hough of 232 Main street, became the bride of Jacob S. Ennis, son of Mrs. John D. Ennis and the late Mr. Ennis of 199 Smith avenue, Saturday, March 3. The double ring ceremony was performed at 2 p. m. in the Old First Reformed Church by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool of that congregation.

Music Appreciation Group Completes Study of Schumann

The Music Appreciation Group of the Y.W.C.A. completed its study of Schumann when it met last week at the home of Mrs. C. J. Heiselman, 173 West Chestnut street. During the meeting new forms of the composer's piano music were described and explained by Mrs. Kenneth Kukuk.

Nothing the composer ever wrote, the group was told, surpassed his early piano miniatures which were written in the years from 1835 to 1840. Each miniature, in addition, was given some appropriate name as "Papillons" (Butterflies), "Carnaval" (Carnival), and "Kinderschenen," which was written for children.

Schumann has been dscribed by the critics, Mrs. Kukuk commented, as "more intellectual than Schubert, more emotional than Mendelssohn, and more balanced than Chopin." His piano pieces are filled, the speaker concluded, with "poetic imagery, quick changes of mood, and graceful charm."

To illustrate Mrs. Kukuk's talk, Mrs. Henry Millonig played the following selections: "Melodie" (from the Christmas album), "Traumerei," "Aufschwung," "Vogel Als Phophet," and "Romanz." Recordings of "Warum und Grillen," and "Traume," played by Anna Dorsman, were also heard.

At the close of the meeting tea was served by Mrs. Heiselman and Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw. Miss Florence Cordts poured.

The group's next meeting will be March 15, Mrs. Byron Chatham, chairman, announced, and will again be held at Mrs. Heiselman's home.

Carlino Rolls 705 Triple in City League With 256, 223 and 226

Alleys 5 and 6 at Centrals Scene of Latest Blast

Old Capital Five Rolls 3019 Series

Short and stocky Tom Carlino, the Phil Rizzuto of the City Baseball League, must have had his "light mixer" working in the City Bowling League last night.

It worked often and effectively enough to give the Glasco tenpin mauler a rousing 705 triple—the first of his career,—in a match between Old Capital Motors and the Embassy Five.

Carlino cracked alleys 5 and 6 at Red Sangi's dreamland scoring emporium for 256 and then settled down to a comfortable groove for 223 and 226.

Tom's big series enabled the Railroad avenue drives to maintain their "one a week" schedule for a 700 triple. He had flirted with a "700" on a couple of occasions earlier in the season, only to be balked by bad breaks. Last night he stepped in the midst of distinguished opposition and asserted himself.

While Carlino was piling up his 705, Tommy Amato, captain of the Old Capital squad, hammered out 213-215-235-663; John MacLellan posted 210-236-606 and Phil "Two 700's" Corrado bashed 219-207-611.

Old Capitals stacked team totals of 970, 985 and 1064 for a 3019 series.

Kentucky Acclaimed Nation's Best Five

Top Annual AP Poll By 26 Vote Margin

New York, March 6 (AP) — The University of Kentucky Wildcats won No. 1 rating today as the nation's best college basketball team for 1951 in the final weekly Associated Press poll. But, it was only by the skin of their teeth—a bare 26-point margin over Oklahoma A & M.

It was the second No. 1 ranking for Kentucky in the three years of the AP basketball poll of sportswriters and sportscasters. Kentucky, the top team of 1949, rated third a year ago when Bradley captured the lofty honor.

Aggies Upset

However, Oklahoma A & M, which suffered a stunning setback last night at the hands of Detroit, 62-52, actualy received 10 more first place votes than Kentucky.

This upset matched the Kentucky debacle of Saturday, when underdog Vanderbilt clipped the Wildcats, 61-57, in the Southeastern Conference tournament finals. Voting in the poll was completed yesterday before the Oklahoma A & M-Detroit game.

Kentucky, which has clinched a berth in the NCAA tournament, has been voted the nation's top team for the last seven weeks. Oklahoma A & M must beat Houston tomorrow to clinch the Missouri Valley title and a NCAA berth. The Aggies (26-3) end the regular season against Kansas in a non-conference tilt Saturday. Kentucky (27-2) has ended its regular season.

Columbia Third

With 185 ballots cast in this 12th and last poll, Kentucky got 45 for first place, compared with 55 for the Oklahoma Aggies. Kentucky edged home first, however, because of receiving a heavier vote for the No. 2 spot.

The poll showed only a slight change from last week. Two teams traded places, all the others remained pat. Bradley, (28-4) in the No. 5 spot last week, dropped to No. 6. Illinois, (19-3) which clinched the Big Ten title last night by defeating Michigan State, 49-43, advanced from sixth to fifth.

The other teams held firm, with Columbia, the nation's only unbeaten major outfit (21-0), in third, Kansas State (21-3), Big Seven champs, (19-4); Indiana (19-3), No. 7; North Carolina State (28-4), Southern Conference kingpin. No. 8: St. John's of Brooklyn (22-3), No. 9; and St. Louis (21-7), No. 10.

Colonials Interview Camelli

Hank Camelli, former Pittsburgh Pirate and Albany Eastern League catcher, will be in Kingston Wednesday for an interview with Kingston Baseball Club, Inc. officials, Ad Jones, temporary chairman, said today.

Camelli, an outstanding minor league receiver, who played wartime ball with the Pirates, has been recommended by league president, Albert Houghton, and Tommy Richardson, president of the Eastern League Senators.

In a telephone interview last Saturday, Camelli said he would be willing to assume the role of playing-manager and would assist in assembling the ball club, if an agreement is reached on terms.

Meanwhile, Colonial officials will elect officers and directors for the new corporation—Kingston Baseball Club, Inc.—at a meeting Wednesday night at the Stuyvesant.

David Popick, chairman of the Committee of Ten, will make a financial report at this meeting. All persons interested in organized baseball are invited to attend.

U. S. Track Stars Dominate Pan Am

Buenos Aires, March 6 (AP)—The first Pan American games drew toward a close today with track and field winding up tonight and the United States definitely on top in that sport.

However, on an unofficial point basis, in all 18 sports on the program, Argentina has an edge with 728 to 577 for the U. S.

In track, which is the center of the Olympic type program and with only four championships undecided the United States is ahead with 11 titles against four for Argentina. Cuba has two and Colombia, Brazil and Chile have one each.

In women's track with two championships still undetermined, Argentina and Chile each have two crowns, and Mexico, Peru and the United States one each.

Basketball ends Thursday night in which probably will be a humdinger of a game between the U. S. and Argentina, world amateur champion. Yesterday, Argentina defeated Panama, 65-54, and the U. S. knocked off Chile, 69-50.

Equestrian sports, boxing, shooting, baseball, tennis, polo and swimming are in their final rounds and Friday night a colorful ceremony in the big Plate River Stadium will wind up the games.

All United States coaches and managers agree this competition marks Latin America's emergence into world sports as a prime force, possibly even threatening the U. S. in Olympic games to come.

As competition entered the eighth day, here are the point totals following Argentina and the United States:

Mexico, 190; Brazil, 167; Chile, 161; Cuba, 83; Peru, 82; Trinidad, 26; Guatemala, 20, Colombia, 16; Venezuela, 14, Jamaica, 12; Panama, 11; Ecuador, 8; Haiti, 7; Paraguay, 3; El Salvador, 1.

Carlino Rolls 705 Triple in City League With 256, 223 and 226

Alleys 5 and 6 at Centrals Scene of Latest Blast

Old Capital Five Rolls 3019 Series

Short and stocky Tom Carlino, the Phil Rizzuto of the City Baseball League, must have had his "light mixer" working in the City Bowling League last night.

It worked often and effectively enough to give the Glasco tenpin mauler a rousing 705 triple—the first of his career—in a match between Old Capital Motors and the Embassy Five.

Carlino cracked alleys 5 and 6 at Red Sangi's dreamland scoring emporium for 256 and then settled down to a comfortable groove for 223 and 226.

Tom's big series enabled the Railroad avenue drives to maintain their "one a week" schedule for a 700 triple. He had flirted with a "700" on a couple of occasions earlier in the season, only to be balked by bad breaks. Last night he stepped in the midst of distinguished opposition and asserted himself.

While Carlino was piling up his 705, Tommy Amato, captain of the Old Capital squad, hammered out 213-215-235-663; John MacLellan posted 210-236-606 and Phil "Two 700's" Corrado bashed 219-207-611.

Old Capitals stacked team totals of 970, 985 and 1064 for a 3019 series.

Kentucky Acclaimed Nation's Best Five

Top Annual AP Poll By 26 Vote Margin

New York, March 6 (AP) — The University of Kentucky Wildcats won No. 1 rating today as the nation's best college basketball team for 1951 in the final weekly Associated Press poll. But, it was only by the skin of their teeth—a bare 26-point margin over Oklahoma A & M.

It was the second No. 1 ranking for Kentucky in the three years of the AP basketball poll of sportswriters and sportscasters. Kentucky, the top team of 1949, rated third a year ago when Bradley captured the lofty honor.

Aggies Upset

However, Oklahoma A & M, which suffered a stunning setback last night at the hands of Detroit, 62-52, actualy received 10 more first place votes than Kentucky.

This upset matched the Kentucky debacle of Saturday, when underdog Vanderbilt clipped the Wildcats, 61-57, in the Southeastern Conference tournament finals. Voting in the poll was completed yesterday before the Oklahoma A & M-Detroit game.

Kentucky, which has clinched a berth in the NCAA tournament, has been voted the nation's top team for the last seven weeks. Oklahoma A & M must beat Houston tomorrow to clinch the Missouri Valley title and a NCAA berth. The Aggies (26-3) end the regular season against Kansas in a non-conference tilt Saturday. Kentucky (27-2) has ended its regular season.

Columbia Third

With 185 ballots cast in this 12th and last poll, Kentucky got 45 for first place, compared with 55 for the Oklahoma Aggies. Kentucky edged home first, however, because of receiving a heavier vote for the No. 2 spot.

The poll showed only a slight change from last week. Two teams traded places, all the others remained pat. Bradley, (28-4) in the No. 5 spot last week, dropped to No. 6. Illinois, (19-3) which clinched the Big Ten title last night by defeating Michigan State, 49-43, advanced from sixth to fifth.

The other teams held firm, with Columbia, the nation's only unbeaten major outfit (21-0), in third, Kansas State (21-3), Big Seven champs, (19-4); Indiana (19-3), No. 7; North Carolina State (28-4), Southern Conference kingpin, No. 8; St. John's of Brooklyn (22-3), No. 9; and St. Louis (21-7), No. 10.

Colonials Interview Camelli

Hank Camelli, former Pittsburgh Pirate and Albany Eastern League catcher, will be in Kingston Wednesday for an interview with Kingston Baseball Club, Inc. officials, Ad Jones, temporary chairman, said today.

Camelli, an outstanding minor league receiver, who played wartime ball with the Pirates, has been recommended by league president, Albert Houghton, and Tommy Richardson, president of the Eastern League Senators.

In a telephone interview last Saturday, Camelli said he would be willing to assume the role of playing-manager and would assist in assembling the ball club, if an agreement is reached on terms.

Meanwhile, Colonial officials will elect officers and directors for the new corporation—Kingston Baseball Club, Inc.—at a meeting Wednesday night at the Stuyvesant.

David Popick, chairman of the Committee of Ten, will make a financial report at this meeting. All persons interested in organized baseball are invited to attend.

U. S. Track Stars Dominate Pan Am

Buenos Aires, March 6 (AP)—The first Pan American games drew toward a close today with track and field winding up tonight and the United States definitely on top in that sport.

However, on an unofficial point basis, in all 18 sports on the program, Argentina has an edge with 728 to 577 for the U. S.

In track, which is the center of the Olympic type program and with only four championships undecided the United States is ahead with 11 titles against four for Argentina. Cuba has two and Colombia, Brazil and Chile have one each.

In women's track with two championships still undetermined, Argentina and Chile each have two crowns, and Mexico, Peru and the United States one each.

Basketball ends Thursday night in which probably will be a humdinger of a game between the U. S. and Argentina, world amateur champion. Yesterday, Argentina defeated Panama, 63-54, and the U. S. knocked off Chile, 69-50.

Equestrian sports, boxing, shooting, baseball, tennis, polo and swimming are in their final rounds and Friday night a colorful ceremony in the big Plate River Stadium will wind up the games.

All United States coaches and managers agree this competition marks Latin America's emergence into world sports as a prime force, possibly even threatening the U. S. in Olympic games to come.

As competition entered the eighth day, here are the point totals following Argentina and the United States:

Mexico, 190; Brazil, 167; Chile, 161; Cuba, 83; Peru, 82; Trinidad, 26; Guatemala, 20, Colombia, 16; Venezuela, 14, Jamaica, 12; Panama, 11; Ecuador, 8; Haiti, 7; Paraguay, 3; El Salvador, 1.

San Francisco, March 6 (AP)—Richard Sinclair, 23-year-old amateur middleweight boxer who collapsed following sparring practice last Tuesday, died today. Sinclair had undergone an operation for a brain clot. Doctors believed he had suffered a head injury several months ago.

CYO Cagers Lose New York Games

Ulster county representatives in the New York archdiocese basketball tournament were quickly eliminated in quarter-final play in games played in the Bronx on Sunday.

Ascension of Manhattan eliminated St. Joseph's of Kingston, 46-12, in the 100-pound class, while Incarnation of Manhattan defeated St. Mary's Reds 34-7 in the 85-pound competition.

Although the local cagers played their hearts out, the opposition was too experienced and too tough. Both New York teams ran up comfortable margins in the first half.

In the 100-pound battle, St. Joseph's was able to score only one point in the second half.

Top Kingston scorer for the day was Tom Davitt, Jr., who tossed in eight points for St. Joseph's with two baskets and four foul shots. Pino and Resso picked up the extra four points. Matthews led the New Yorkers with 18 points.

Carlino Rolls 705 Triple in City League With 256, 223 and 226

Alleys 5 and 6 at Centrals Scene of Latest Blast

Old Capital Five Rolls 3019 Series

Short and stocky Tom Carlino, the Phil Rizzuto of the City Baseball League, must have had his "light mixer" working in the City Bowling League last night.

It worked often and effectively enough to give the Glasco tenpin mauler a rousing 705 triple—the first of his career—in a match between Old Capital Motors and the Embassy Five.

Carlino cracked alleys 5 and 6 at Red Sangi's dreamland scoring emporium for 256 and then settled down to a comfortable groove for 223 and 226.

Tom's big series enabled the Railroad avenue drives to maintain their "one a week" schedule for a 700 triple. He had flirted with a "700" on a couple of occasions earlier in the season, only to be balked by bad breaks. Last night he stepped in the midst of distinguished opposition and asserted himself.

Kentucky Acclaimed Nation's Best Five

Top Annual AP Poll By 26 Vote Margin

New York, March 6 (AP) — The University of Kentucky Wildcats won No. 1 rating today as the nation's best college basketball team for 1951 in the final weekly Associated Press poll. But, it was only by the skin of their teeth—a bare 26-point margin over Oklahoma A & M.

It was the second No. 1 ranking for Kentucky in the three years of the AP basketball poll of sportswriters and sportscasters. Kentucky, the top team of 1949, rated third a year ago when Bradley captured the lofty honor.

Aggies Upset

However, Oklahoma A & M, which suffered a stunning setback last night at the hands of Detroit, 62-52, actualy received 10 more first place votes than Kentucky.

This upset matched the Kentucky debacle of Saturday, when underdog Vanderbilt clipped the Wildcats, 61-57, in the Southeastern Conference tournament finals. Voting in the poll was completed yesterday before the Oklahoma A & M-Detroit game.

Kentucky, which has clinched a berth in the NCAA tournament, has been voted the nation's top team for the last seven weeks. Oklahoma A & M must beat Houston tomorrow to clinch the Missouri Valley title and a NCAA berth. The Aggies (26-3) end the regular season against Kansas in a non-conference tilt Saturday. Kentucky (27-2) has ended its regular season.

Columbia Third

With 185 ballots cast in this 12th and last poll, Kentucky got 45 for first place, compared with 55 for the Oklahoma Aggies. Kentucky edged home first, however, because of receiving a heavier vote for the No. 2 spot.

The poll showed only a slight change from last week. Two teams traded places, all the others remained pat. Bradley, (28-4) in the No. 5 spot last week, dropped to No. 6. Illinois, (19-3) which clinched the Big Ten title last night by defeating Michigan State, 49-43, advanced from sixth to fifth.

The other teams held firm, with Columbia, the nation's only unbeaten major outfit (21-0), in third, Kansas State (21-3), Big Seven champs, (19-4); Indiana (19-3), No. 7; North Carolina State (28-4), Southern Conference kingpin, No. 8; St. John's of Brooklyn (22-3), No. 9; and St. Louis (21-7), No. 10.

Colonials Interview Camelli

Hank Camelli, former Pittsburgh Pirate and Albany Eastern League catcher, will be in Kingston Wednesday for an interview with Kingston Baseball Club, Inc. officials, Ad Jones, temporary chairman, said today.

Camelli, an outstanding minor league receiver, who played wartime ball with the Pirates, has been recommended by league president, Albert Houghton, and Tommy Richardson, president of the Eastern League Senators.

In a telephone interview last Saturday, Camelli said he would be willing to assume the role of playing-manager and would assist in assembling the ball club, if an agreement is reached on terms.

Meanwhile, Colonial officials will elect officers and directors for the new corporation—Kingston Baseball Club, Inc.—at a meeting Wednesday night at the Stuyvesant.

David Popick, chairman of the Committee of Ten, will make a financial report at this meeting. All persons interested in organized baseball are invited to attend.

U. S. Track Stars Dominate Pan Am

Buenos Aires, March 6 (AP)—The first Pan American games drew toward a close today with track and field winding up tonight and the United States definitely on top in that sport.

However, on an unofficial point basis, in all 18 sports on the program, Argentina has an edge with 728 to 577 for the U. S.

In track, which is the center of the Olympic type program and with only four championships undecided the United States is ahead with 11 titles against four for Argentina. Cuba has two and Colombia, Brazil and Chile have one each.

In women's track with two championships still undetermined, Argentina and Chile each have two crowns, and Mexico, Peru and the United States one each.

Basketball ends Thursday night in which probably will be a humdinger of a game between the U. S. and Argentina, world amateur champion. Yesterday, Argentina defeated Panama, 65-54, and the U. S. knocked off Chile, 69-50.

Equestrian sports, boxing, shooting, baseball, tennis, polo and swimming are in their final rounds and Friday night a colorful ceremony in the big Plate River Stadium will wind up the games.

All United States coaches and managers agree this competition marks Latin America's emergence into world sports as a prime force, possibly even threatening the U. S. in Olympic games to come.

As competition entered the eighth day, here are the point totals following Argentina and the United States:

Mexico, 190; Brazil, 167; Chile, 161; Cuba, 83; Peru, 82; Trinidad, 26; Guatemala, 20, Colombia, 16; Venezuela, 14, Jamaica, 12; Panama, 11; Ecuador, 8; Haiti, 7; Paraguay, 3; El Salvador, 1.

Training Camp News in Brief

Ted Misses Opener

Sarasota, Fla., March 6 (AP)—Manager Steve O'Neill today said slugger Ted Williams would be held out of the Boston Red Sox' opening exhibition game against the Cincinnati Reds here Saturday.

It is likely that Dom DiMaggio, who signed his contract only last Saturday, also will miss the first few exhibitions tilts for O'Neill rates him as "far from being in shape to play."

High On Littlefield

Pasadena, Calif., March 6 (AP)—Veteran Joe Dobson thinks pitcher Dick Littlefield is going to win for the White Sox, something the hurler didn't make a habit of for the Boston Red Sox in 1950.

Littlefield was little more than a throw in with Dobson and Al Zarilla in Boston's trade with the White Sox for Bill Wight and Ray Scarborough.

"Dick has plenty of stuff," says Dobson. "However, he's inclined to be wild unless he pitches often. Being in the thick of the pennant fight, the Red Sox were afraid to use him. I think he'll win for the White Sox."

A Jones Boy

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 6 (AP)—One of the Jones boys is the lad most likely to solve the St. Louis Card's first base problem this season.

Vernal (Nippy) Jones has first crack at the bag and will be stationed there when the Redbirds open their Grapefruit League season with the New York Giants Saturday. Stan Musial will be in center field and beyond that, Manager Marty Marion says he doesn't know the lineup.

Intra-squad play will continue today.

Shots For Banta

Vero Beach, Fla., March 6 (AP)—If pitcher Jack Banta's sore arm doesn't come around soon, the Brooklyn Dodgers' management is going to give him a shot of novocaine in the arm.

The Dodgers' team physician, Doc Windler, says novocaine treatments would have no effect on Banta's inflamed tendon, but Manager Chuck Dressen has indicated the Dodgers may try it, anyway. Dressen says it helped Tommy Brown when his thigh muscle was injured recently.

Whitey On First

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 6 (AP)—Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants, said today he would play his No. 1 experiment, Whitey Lockman, at first base for the first three exhibition games this week.

The veteran skipper, however, doesn't think Lockman will be there when the season opens, April 17.

"I don't think I'll open with Lockman," Durocher said. "Monte Irwin will be the first baseman, but I'll know that I can count on Lockman if we need him."

Phoenix, Ariz., March 6 (AP)—Catcher Yogi Berra, who came to terms with the New York Yankees only a week ago, is slated for a premature workout behind the bat.

Manager Casey Stengel had planned to use Berra in the outfield—where he once played— in early limbering up sessions. But Charley Silvera, who was slated to handle the backstopping chores, is attending his grandmother's funeral in San Francisco. The first intra-squad game is set for today.

Cardinal Training Camp Is High On New Southpaw 'Dizzy Dean'

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 6 (AP) — Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, an unspoiled farm boy from the turpentine land of the deep south, is hailed as a "left-handed Dizzy Dean" by normally sane observers in the St. Louis Cardinal camp.

"Best looking prospect I ever saw in our camp," said Manager Marty Marion.

"Can't miss," added Scout Buddy Lewis, who signed him the day he was graduated from high school in 1949.

"I'm aiming to make it," said Mizell, still property of the Cards' Houston farm, but probably not for long.

Sounds interesting, so you collar 20-year-old "Vinegar Bend" the day after he struck out four Cards in a row. He's a 200-pounder, about 6-foot-3. A dead ringer for Preacher Roe, only there's enough of him to make two of the Preach.

Mizell was sent to Albany, Ga., after he signed up for $500, where he hung up a 12-3 record after a little "smoothenin'." He struck out 175 in 144 innings.

Loosened 'Em Up

"First ball I threw landed about 20 foot up the backstop," he said, "I really had them hangin' loose up there. Walked in four or five runs."

Last year, his first complete season in pro ball, "Vinegar Bend" had a 17-7 record at Winston Salem, N. C., in the Class B Carolina League. He struck out 227 in 207 innings and walked only 81.

How does he feel about this "lefthanded Dizzy Dean" stuff?

"I just hope they don't get to expecting too much," he said. "First player I actually ever heard of was old Dizzy Dean but I never saw him. I never saw a real game until I signed up."

What about that strikeout record? Does he try to fan every hitter?

"The way I figure," he said, "if he don't hit it, it can't go through any holes."

TV No Headache For Ez-Walcott

Detroit, March 6 (AP)—The critics who say television is wrecking boxing attendance may get a jolt when heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles and challenger Jersey Joe Walcott start swapping punches tomorrow night.

A brisk advance sale that has passed the $50,000 mark was reported today. And this for a fight that's being both telecast and broadcast.

Parking Bill Passes

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Theatres, apartments and similar buildings constructed in the future would be required to provide off-street parking facilities, under a bill passed by the state Senate. The measure, sent to the Assembly, would empower localities, however, to exempt any specific project from the requirement. The bill was introduced by Senator Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican.

Two More Cases Announced Settled

Two additional cases were announced settled Monday afternoon in Supreme Court when a day calendar was made up. Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, after making up a day calendar, announced that the next call of the general calendar for additions to the day calendar would be next Monday at 2 o'clock.

Announced as settled was:

No. 245, Marshal Angevine and another against Clemence Randolph and another, negligence. Chris J. Flanagan for plaintiff and Cook and Cook for defendants.

No. 364, Louis N. McElrath against Earl Benjamin, personal injuries. James C. Danzilo for plaintiff and George F. Roesch for defendant.

A preference was granted in No. 480, Paul Kaman, Sr., against Harold F. Ellsworth and another, a negligence action. Chris J. Flanagan and Robert Ortale appear for plaintiffs and Bernard A. Culloton appears for defendant. The motion for preference was not opposed by the defendant.

A motion to place No. 459, Peter Johnson against Willie Webb and others, a negligence action, on the preferred calendar was made by counsel for plaintiff and Justice Elsworth reserved decision on the motion. Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman for plaintiff and Chris J. Flanagan for defendants.

Partners in the new enterprise are Herbert W. Nestell, Bruce A. Winchell and Harry S. Winchell. The partners announce a combined total of 35 years' experience in the electronic field.

Conference May Settle Delaware Tunnel Case

Harrisburg, Pa., March 6 (AP)—Overlapping claims to bridge and tunnel building authority along the Delaware River may be settled over the conference table.

"We shall ask the Delaware River Joint Commission and the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Comission to sit down and talk the whole matter over," Sen. Edward B. Watson (R-Bucks) said last night.

Watson is the sponsor of a Senate bill to extend the jurisdiction of the Joint Toll Bridge Commission 23 miles southward from its present terminus at a line between Bucks county in Pennsylvania and the Mercer-Burlington county line on the New Jersey side.

Claim to bridge and tunnel building authority in this extension area also has been laid by the Delaware River Joint Commission in a bill to establish the commission as a Philadelphia port authority.

Sen. A. Evans Kephart (R-Philadelphia) said he believes the Joint Toll Bridge Commission is asking for too great a southward extension.

"But there is no reason why a compromise cannot be worked out," he added.

The Philadelphia Port Authority bill already has been passed by the New Jersey legislature.

Tractor and Auto Hit; None Hurt

A tractor-trailer and an automobile collided at the intersection of Fair and St. James streets at 7:35 a. m. today. Police said no personal injuries were reported.

Patrolmen Gerald Every and Leonard Ellsworth reported after investigation that the automobile, driven by Frank Kouhout, Jr., of R.F.D. 1, Accord, was extensively damaged about its left side. The larger vehicle received damage to its right front fender and bumper, the policemen said. It was owned and operated by Marvin Van Denwinkle of 18 West Main street, Wolcott.

Parking Bill Passes

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Theatres, apartments and similar buildings constructed in the future would be required to provide off-street parking facilities, under a bill passed by the state Senate. The measure, sent to the Assembly, would empower localities, however, to exempt any specific project from the requirement. The bill was introduced by Senator Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican.

Two More Cases Announced Settled

Two additional cases were announced settled Monday afternoon in Supreme Court when a day calendar was made up. Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, after making up a day calendar, announced that the next call of the general calendar for additions to the day calendar would be next Monday at 2 o'clock.

Announced as settled was:

No. 245, Marshal Angevine and another against Clemence Randolph and another, negligence. Chris J. Flanagan for plaintiff and Cook and Cook for defendants.

No. 364, Louis N. McElrath against Earl Benjamin, personal injuries. James C. Danzilo for plaintiff and George F. Roesch for defendant.

A preference was granted in No. 480, Paul Kaman, Sr., against Harold F. Ellsworth and another, a negligence action. Chris J. Flanagan and Robert Ortale appear for plaintiffs and Bernard A. Culloton appears for defendant. The motion for preference was not opposed by the defendant.

Conference May Settle Delaware Tunnel Case

Harrisburg, Pa., March 6 (AP)—Overlapping claims to bridge and tunnel building authority along the Delaware River may be settled over the conference table.

"We shall ask the Delaware River Joint Commission and the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Comission to sit down and talk the whole matter over," Sen. Edward B. Watson (R-Bucks) said last night.

Watson is the sponsor of a Senate bill to extend the jurisdiction of the Joint Toll Bridge Commission 23 miles southward from its present terminus at a line between Bucks county in Pennsylvania and the Mercer-Burlington county line on the New Jersey side.

Claim to bridge and tunnel building authority in this extension area also has been laid by the Delaware River Joint Commission in a bill to establish the commission as a Philadelphia port authority.

Sen. A. Evans Kephart (R-Philadelphia) said he believes the Joint Toll Bridge Commission is asking for too great a southward extension.

"But there is no reason why a compromise cannot be worked out," he added.

The Philadelphia Port Authority bill already has been passed by the New Jersey legislature.

Tractor and Auto Hit; None Hurt

A tractor-trailer and an automobile collided at the intersection of Fair and St. James streets at 7:35 a. m. today. Police said no personal injuries were reported.

Patrolmen Gerald Every and Leonard Ellsworth reported after investigation that the automobile, driven by Frank Kouhout, Jr., of R.F.D. 1, Accord, was extensively damaged about its left side. The larger vehicle received damage to its right front fender and bumper, the policemen said. It was owned and operated by Marvin Van Denwinkle of 18 West Main street, Wolcott.

Training Camp News in Brief

Ted Misses Opener

Sarasota, Fla., March 6 (AP)—Manager Steve O'Neill today said slugger Ted Williams would be held out of the Boston Red Sox' opening exhibition game against the Cincinnati Reds here Saturday.

"Ted's injured left elbow needs more time," O'Neill explained. "When he feels the soreness is gone, he will be in the lineup. Not before.

It is likely that Dom DiMaggio, who signed his contract only last Saturday, also will miss the first few exhibitions tilts for O'Neill rates him as "far from being in shape to play."

High On Littlefield

Pasadena, Calif., March 6 (AP)—Veteran Joe Dobson thinks pitcher Dick Littlefield is going to win for the White Sox, something the hurler didn't make a habit of for the Boston Red Sox in 1950.

Littlefield was little more than a throw in with Dobson and Al Zarilla in Boston's trade with the White Sox for Bill Wight and Ray Scarborough.

"Dick has plenty of stuff," says Dobson. "However, he's inclined to be wild unless he pitches often. Being in the thick of the pennant fight, the Red Sox were afraid to use him. I think he'll win for the White Sox."

A Jones Boy

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 6 (AP)—One of the Jones boys is the lad most likely to solve the St. Louis Card's first base problem this season.

Vernal (Nippy) Jones has first crack at the bag and will be stationed there when the Redbirds open their Grapefruit League season with the New York Giants Saturday. Stan Musial will be in center field and beyond that, Manager Marty Marion says he doesn't know the lineup.

Intra-squad play will continue today.

Shots For Banta

Vero Beach, Fla., March 6 (AP)—If pitcher Jack Banta's sore arm doesn't come around soon, the Brooklyn Dodgers' management is going to give him a shot of novocaine in the arm.

The Dodgers' team physician, Doc Windler, says novocaine treatments would have no effect on Banta's inflamed tendon, but Manager Chuck Dressen has indicated the Dodgers may try it, anyway. Dressen says it helped Tommy Brown when his thigh muscle was injured recently.

Whitey On First

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 6 (AP)—Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants, said today he would play his No. 1 experiment, Whitey Lockman, at first base for the first three exhibition games this week.

The veteran skipper, however, doesn't think Lockman will be there when the season opens, April 17.

"I don't think I'll open with Lockman," Durocher said. "Monte Irwin will be the first baseman, but I'll know that I can count on Lockman if we need him."

Phoenix, Ariz., March 6 (AP)—Catcher Yogi Berra, who came to terms with the New York Yankees only a week ago, is slated for a premature workout behind the bat.

Manager Casey Stengel had planned to use Berra in the outfield—where he once played— in early limbering up sessions. But Charley Silvera, who was slated to handle the backstopping chores, is attending his grandmother's funeral in San Francisco. The first intra-squad game is set for today.

Cardinal Training Camp Is High On New Southpaw 'Dizzy Dean'

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 6 (AP) — Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, an unspoiled farm boy from the turpentine land of the deep south, is hailed as a "left-handed Dizzy Dean" by normally sane observers in the St. Louis Cardinal camp.

"Best looking prospect I ever saw in our camp," said Manager Marty Marion.

"Can't miss," added Scout Buddy Lewis, who signed him the day he was graduated from high school in 1949.

"I'm aiming to make it," said Mizell, still property of the Cards' Houston farm, but probably not for long.

Sounds interesting, so you collar 20-year-old "Vinegar Bend" the day after he struck out four Cards in a row. He's a 200-pounder, about 6-foot-3. A dead ringer for Preacher Roe, only there's enough of him to make two of the Preach.

The geography is a little confusing. It seems he went to school at Leakesville, Miss., but "gets mah mail" at Vinegar Bend, Ala.

Mizell was sent to Albany, Ga., after he signed up for $500, where he hung up a 12-3 record after a little "smoothenin'." He struck out 175 in 141 innings.

Loosened 'Em Up

"First ball I threw landed about 20 foot up the backstop," he said, "I really had them hangin' loose up there. Walked in four or five runs."

Last year, his first complete season in pro ball, "Vinegar Bend" had a 17-7 record at Winston Salem, N. C., in the Class B Carolina League. He struck out 227 in 207 innings and walked only 81.

How does he feel about this "lefthanded Dizzy Dean" stuff?

"I just hope they don't get to expecting too much," he said. "First player I actually ever heard of was old Dizzy Dean but I never saw him. I never saw a real game until I signed up."

What about that strikeout record? Does he try to fan every hitter?

"The way I figure," he said, "if he don't hit it, it can't go through any holes."

TV No Headache For Ez-Walcott

Detroit, March 6 (AP)—The critics who say television is wrecking boxing attendance may get a jolt when heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles and challenger Jersey Joe Walcott start swapping punches tomorrow night.

Maybe television has hurt the turnout at other fights—but TV is causing no headaches for this 15-round battle for the world's championship.

A brisk advance sale that has passed the $50,000 mark was reported today. And this for a fight that's being both telecast and broadcast.

Charles, a younger, speedier, and lighter boxer than the veteran Walcott, remained a 3-to-1 favorite in the betting odds.

Reports Say Czech Official Slain and Two Others Held

New York, March 6 (AP)—Unconfirmed underground reports received here last night from Czechoslovakia said that Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis had been slain trying to flee his Communist captors and that President Klement Gottwald and Premier Antonin Zapotocky were under house arrest.

The special committee of free Czechoslovakia—a group of political exiles from the Red ruled Czechoslovakia—made the reports public.

They said Gottwald and Zapotocky had opposed Russian demands that some of Czechoslovakia's heavy industry be dismantled and shipped to Poland and the Soviet Union. The two top officials were also said to have refused demands to send skilled Czech workers to factories in the Soviet Union.

Gregor Removed

The report said that Foreign Trade Minister Antonin Gregor had been removed from office and arrested in the same nationwide purge of "Titoist plotters" charged with putting national interests above those of the Soviet bloc.

Recent direct official announcements in Prague have said that more than 200 persons, including top Communist officials, have been arrested in the current purge. The government said Clementis was taken in custody for plotting to bring Czechoslovakia into the western camp.

There have been recurring rumors that Gottwald, too, was in Communist disfavor. As recently as 12 days ago, however, he appeared before the Communist Central Committee in Prague and attacked Clementis as a tool of western powers and the leader of an anti-state plot.

The Refugee Committee said here that its reports were of the situation as of five days ago. It said it had not been able to substantiate the report of Clementis' death but said the report was "highly probable."

All Straightened Out

Pittsfield, Mass., March 6 (AP)—A motorist stopped for speeding had some straightening out to do on his car. Police found the number on his license did not agree with the number—611-969—on his car plate. They studied the matter for several minutes and then came up with the answer: The plate was upside down. It should have read 696-119.

'Weeper' Cries As He Taps Cop

New York, March 6 (AP)—Irving (The Weeper) Goldstein lived up to his nickname when he appeared yesterday to testify against an ex-cop accused of perjury.

Goldstein—a tall, lanky and nervous man of 39—burst into tears when photographers stepped forward to take his picture in the corridor outside a court in Brooklyn. Later, he put on dark glasses.

The stand-in arrest allegedly was arraigned by a plainclothes patrolman and a branch bookie for Harry Gross, whose alleged $20,000,000-a-year bookmaking ring was smashed last September.

Goldstein testified at the trial of retired Patrolman Aaron Feld, 44. The witness corroborated the testimony of Arthur Karp, former bookie for Gross, who said he hired Goldstein for $100 to "take" an arrest in his stead last Sept. 14.

Goldstein testified he knew so little about horse race betting slips that it took Karp some time—with Feld standing beside them—to instruct him how to write out evidence against himself.

Leaving the witness stand and walking over to Feld, Goldstein tapped the ex-policeman on the shoulder and identified him as the man who waited in the freight entrance for the betting slips to be made out.

Hunter Girls to Prove Beauties Can Bake

New York, March 6 (AP)—Girls of a Hunter College cooking class are out to prove to four American soldiers in Korea that beauty is no bar to making good cookies.

The soldiers heard a New York GI rave about the beauty of Hunter College girls, especially those in the cooking class.

So they wrote to the college:

"It's hard to believe that girls with such beauty could possibly bake cake and fudge with the superb quality that he claims. Far be it for us to doubt his words, but how can we be sure until we have sampled your culinary art?

"Let it hereby be known that we are cookie testers of long standing . . . we are sure yours will meet the test."

The letter was signed by Corp. Thomas J. Keaveney, Corp. Domenic Pellizzari, Sgt. Samuel Finkel and Pfc. Frank J. Lathers, home addresses ungiven.

The girls have voted to send packages of cookies, cake and fudge every month—and perhaps a few pin-ups, too.

They want to disprove another statement in the soldiers' letter:

"It seems that the quotation 'out of sight, out of mind' has proven itself more true than 'absence makes the heart grow fonder!'"

Saugerties Exam To Be Held for Public Works Post

An open competitive examination for the position of public works superintendent in the village of Saugerties will be held by the Ulster County Civil Service Commission on April 14, it was announced today by Thomas Bohan, executive secretary.

The examination is limited to persons who have been legal residents of the village of Saugerties for at least one year immediately preceding the examination date. Candidates must have a high school education and at least five years experience in related construction and maintenance activities, of which two years shall have been in a responsible supervisory capacity. The commission may accept a satisfactory equivalent combination of experience and training.

At the present time a vacancy exists officially in the position, which pays $2,950 a year. The former superintendent, Herbert C. Waters, resigned on October 26, 1950, and was replaced by William A. Voerg, who is holding the position on a probationary appointment pending certification as a result of this examination.

Last date for filing applications for the examination is March 26. Applications may be obtained from the Ulster County Civil Service Commission, 32 Main street, Kingston, or from the Saugerties village clerk, Gerald L. Snyder.

Two Boys Shot In Teen-Age Feud

New York, March 6 (AP)—Police rounded up a batch of youngsters for questioning today after two boys were shot and a new outbreak of teen-age gang war was feared.

They are Patrick Smith, 8 and Anthony McMahon, 7.

Witnesses told police that six pistol shots were fired by a tall youth who then drove off with three other youths in a sedan.

The car had been seen in the neighborhood frequently since a candy store fight last week in which several youngsters were injured.

General Motors

E. Wilson, president, and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., board chairman, said 1950 net income amounted to 11.1 per cent of sales compared with 11.5 per cent in 1949. They attributed the decline primarily to higher taxes.

The 1950 earnings were equivalent to $9.35 a share of common stock compared with $7.32 a share on $656,434,232 earnings in 1949, after payments of preferred stock dividends. That is on the basis of present shares. GM made a two-for-one stock split last Oct. 2 and has more than 88,000,000 shares outstanding.

The 1950 sales compared with $5,700,835,141 in 1949.

Reports Say Czech Official Slain and Two Others Held

New York, March 6 (AP)—Unconfirmed underground reports received here last night from Czechoslovakia said that Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis had been slain trying to flee his Communist captors and that President Klement Gottwald and Premier Antonin Zapotocky were under house arrest.

The special committee of free Czechoslovakia—a group of political exiles from the Red ruled Czechoslovakia—made the reports public.

They said Gottwald and Zapotocky had opposed Russian demands that some of Czechoslovakia's heavy industry be dismantled and shipped to Poland and the Soviet Union. The two top officials were also said to have refused demands to send skilled Czech workers to factories in the Soviet Union.

Gregor Removed

The report said that Foreign Trade Minister Antonin Gregor had been removed from office and arrested in the same nationwide purge of "Titotist plotters" charged with putting national interests above those of the Soviet bloc.

Recent direct official announcements in Prague have said that more than 200 persons, including top Communist officials, have been arrested in the current purge. The government said Clementis was taken in custody for plotting to bring Czechoslovakia into the western camp.

There have been recurring rumors that Gottwald, too, was in Communist disfavor. As recently as 12 days ago, however, he appeared before the Communist Central Committee in Prague and attacked Clementis as a tool of western powers and the leader of an anti-state plot.

The Refugee Committee said here that its reports were of the situation as of five days ago. It said it had not been able to substantiate the report of Clementis' death but said the report was "highly probable."

All Straightened Out

Pittsfield, Mass., March 6 (AP)—A motorist stopped for speeding had some straightening out to do on his car. Police found the number on his license did not agree with the number—611-969—on his car plate. They studied the matter for several minutes and then came up with the answer: The plate was upside down. It should have read 696-119.

'Weeper' Cries As He Taps Cop

New York, March 6 (AP)—Irving (The Weeper) Goldstein lived up to his nickname when he appeared yesterday to testify against an ex-cop accused of perjury.

Goldstein—a tall, lanky and nervous man of 39—burst into tears when photographers stepped forward to take his picture in the corridor outside a court in Brooklyn. Later, he put on dark glasses.

Goldstein, who works as a garment cutter, testified that he acted the part of a stooge in an "accommodation" bookmaking arrest.

The stand-in arrest allegedly was arraigned by a plainclothes patrolman and a branch bookie for Harry Gross, whose alleged $20,000,000-a-year bookmaking ring was smashed last September.

Goldstein testified at the trial of retired Patrolman Aaron Feld, 44. The witness corroborated the testimony of Arthur Karp, former bookie for Gross, who said he hired Goldstein for $100 to "take" an arrest in his stead last Sept. 14.

Feld is charged with perjury in denying before the special rackets-probing grand jury in Brooklyn that he had spoken to Karp on Sept. 14.

Goldstein testified he knew so little about horse race betting slips that it took Karp some time—with Feld standing beside them—to instruct him how to write out evidence against himself.

The incident took place in the freight entrance of a West Side Manhattan building, Goldstein said.

Leaving the witness stand and walking over to Feld, Goldstein tapped the ex-policeman on the shoulder and identified him as the man who waited in the freight entrance for the betting slips to be made out.

Hunter Girls to Prove Beauties Can Bake

New York, March 6 (AP)—Girls of a Hunter College cooking class are out to prove to four American soldiers in Korea that beauty is no bar to making good cookies.

The soldiers heard a New York GI rave about the beauty of Hunter College girls, especially those in the cooking class.

So they wrote to the college:

"It's hard to believe that girls with such beauty could possibly bake cake and fudge with the superb quality that he claims. Far be it for us to doubt his words, but how can we be sure until we have sampled your culinary art?

"Let it hereby be known that we are cookie testers of long standing . . . we are sure yours will meet the test."

The letter was signed by Corp. Thomas J. Keaveney, Corp. Domenic Pellizzari, Sgt. Samuel Finkel and Pfc. Frank J. Lathers, home addresses ungiven.

The girls have voted to send packages of cookies, cake and fudge every month—and perhaps a few pin-ups, too.

They want to disprove another statement in the soldiers' letter:

"It seems that the quotation 'out of sight, out of mind' has proven itself more true than 'absence makes the heart grow fonder!'"

Saugerties Exam To Be Held for Public Works Post

An open competitive examination for the position of public works superintendent in the village of Saugerties will be held by the Ulster County Civil Service Commission on April 14, it was announced today by Thomas Bohan, executive secretary.

The examination is limited to persons who have been legal residents of the village of Saugerties for at least one year immediately preceding the examination date. Candidates must have a high school education and at least five years experience in related construction and maintenance activities, of which two years shall have been in a responsible supervisory capacity. The commission may accept a satisfactory equivalent combination of experience and training.

At the present time a vacancy exists officially in the position, which pays $2,950 a year. The former superintendent, Herbert C. Waters, resigned on October 26, 1950, and was replaced by William A. Voerg, who is holding the position on a probationary appointment pending certification as a result of this examination.

Last date for filing applications for the examination is March 26. Applications may be obtained from the Ulster County Civil Service Commission, 32 Main street, Kingston, or from the Saugerties village clerk, Gerald L. Snyder.

Two Boys Shot In Teen-Age Feud

New York, March 6 (AP)—Police rounded up a batch of youngsters for questioning today after two boys were shot and a new outbreak of teen-age gang war was feared.

The two boys were wounded in the leg last night while playing with a large group in front of the Madison Square Boys Club in East 29th street.

They are Patrick Smith, 8 and Anthony McMahon, 7.

Witnesses told police that six pistol shots were fired by a tall youth who then drove off with three other youths in a sedan.

The car had been seen in the neighborhood frequently since a candy store fight last week in which several youngsters were injured.

General Motors

E. Wilson, president, and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., board chairman, said 1950 net income amounted to 11.1 per cent of sales compared with 11.5 per cent in 1949. They attributed the decline primarily to higher taxes.

The 1950 earnings were equivalent to $9.35 a share of common stock compared with $7.32 a share on $656,434,232 earnings in 1949, after payments of preferred stock dividends. That is on the basis of present shares. GM made a two-for-one stock split last Oct. 2 and has more than 88,000,000 shares outstanding.

The 1950 sales compared with $5,700,835,141 in 1949.

Reports Say Czech Official Slain and Two Others Held

New York, March 6 (AP)—Unconfirmed underground reports received here last night from Czechoslovakia said that Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis had been slain trying to flee his Communist captors and that President Klement Gottwald and Premier Antonin Zapotocky were under house arrest.

The special committee of free Czechoslovakia—a group of political exiles from the Red ruled Czechoslovakia—made the reports public.

They said Gottwald and Zapotocky had opposed Russian demands that some of Czechoslovakia's heavy industry be dismantled and shipped to Poland and the Soviet Union. The two top officials were also said to have refused demands to send skilled Czech workers to factories in the Soviet Union.

Gregor Removed

The report said that Foreign Trade Minister Antonin Gregor had been removed from office and arrested in the same nationwide purge of "Titotist plotters" charged with putting national interests above those of the Soviet bloc.

Recent direct official announcements in Prague have said that more than 200 persons, including top Communist officials, have been arrested in the current purge. The government said Clementis was taken in custody for plotting to bring Czechoslovakia into the western camp.

There have been recurring rumors that Gottwald, too, was in Communist disfavor. As recently as 12 days ago, however, he appeared before the Communist Central Committee in Prague and attacked Clementis as a tool of western powers and the leader of an anti-state plot.

The Refugee Committee said here that its reports were of the situation as of five days ago. It said it had not been able to substantiate the report of Clementis' death but said the report was "highly probable."

All Straightened Out

Pittsfield, Mass., March 6 (AP)—A motorist stopped for speeding had some straightening out to do on his car. Police found the number on his license did not agree with the number—611-969—on his car plate. They studied the matter for several minutes and then came up with the answer: The plate was upside down. It should have read 696-119.

'Weeper' Cries As He Taps Cop

New York, March 6 (AP)—Irving (The Weeper) Goldstein lived up to his nickname when he appeared yesterday to testify against an ex-cop accused of perjury.

Goldstein—a tall, lanky and nervous man of 39—burst into tears when photographers stepped forward to take his picture in the corridor outside a court in Brooklyn. Later, he put on dark glasses.

Goldstein, who works as a garment cutter, testified that he acted the part of a stooge in an "accommodation" bookmaking arrest.

The stand-in arrest allegedly was arraigned by a plainclothes patrolman and a branch bookie for Harry Gross, whose alleged $20,000,000-a-year bookmaking ring was smashed last September.

Goldstein testified at the trial of retired Patrolman Aaron Feld, 44. The witness corroborated the testimony of Arthur Karp, former bookie for Gross, who said he hired Goldstein for $100 to "take" an arrest in his stead last Sept. 14.

Feld is charged with perjury in denying before the special rackets-probing grand jury in Brooklyn that he had spoken to Karp on Sept. 14.

Goldstein testified he knew so little about horse race betting slips that it took Karp some time—with Feld standing beside them—to instruct him how to write out evidence against himself.

The incident took place in the freight entrance of a West Side Manhattan building, Goldstein said.

Leaving the witness stand and walking over to Feld, Goldstein tapped the ex-policeman on the shoulder and identified him as the man who waited in the freight entrance for the betting slips to be made out.

Hunter Girls to Prove Beauties Can Bake

New York, March 6 (AP)—Girls of a Hunter College cooking class are out to prove to four American soldiers in Korea that beauty is no bar to making good cookies.

The soldiers heard a New York GI rave about the beauty of Hunter College girls, especially those in the cooking class.

So they wrote to the college:

"It's hard to believe that girls with such beauty could possibly bake cake and fudge with the superb quality that he claims. Far be it for us to doubt his words, but how can we be sure until we have sampled your culinary art?

"Let it hereby be known that we are cookie testers of long standing . . . we are sure yours will meet the test."

The letter was signed by Corp. Thomas J. Keaveney, Corp. Domenic Pellizzari, Sgt. Samuel Finkel and Pfc. Frank J. Lathers, home addresses ungiven.

The girls have voted to send packages of cookies, cake and fudge every month—and perhaps a few pin-ups, too.

They want to disprove another statement in the soldiers' letter: "It seems that the quotation 'out of sight, out of mind' has proven itself more true than 'absence makes the heart grow fonder!'"

Saugerties Exam To Be Held for Public Works Post

An open competitive examination for the position of public works superintendent in the village of Saugerties will be held by the Ulster County Civil Service Commission on April 14, it was announced today by Thomas Bohan, executive secretary.

The examination is limited to persons who have been legal residents of the village of Saugerties for at least one year immediately preceding the examination date. Candidates must have a high school education and at least five years experience in related construction and maintenance activities, of which two years shall have been in a responsible supervisory capacity. The commission may accept a satisfactory equivalent combination of experience and training.

At the present time a vacancy exists officially in the position, which pays $2,950 a year. The former superintendent, Herbert C. Waters, resigned on October 26, 1950, and was replaced by William A. Voerg, who is holding the position on a probationary appointment pending certification as a result of this examination.

Last date for filing applications for the examination is March 26. Applications may be obtained from the Ulster County Civil Service Commission, 32 Main street, Kingston, or from the Saugerties village clerk, Gerald L. Snyder.

Two Boys Shot In Teen-Age Feud

New York, March 6 (AP)—Police rounded up a batch of youngsters for questioning today after two boys were shot and a new outbreak of teen-age gang war was feared.

The two boys were wounded in the leg last night while playing with a large group in front of the Madison Square Boys Club in East 29th street.

They are Patrick Smith, 8 and Anthony McMahon, 7.

Witnesses told police that six pistol shots were fired by a tall youth who then drove off with three other youths in a sedan.

The car had been seen in the neighborhood frequently since a candy store fight last week in which several youngsters were injured.

Police said the shots last night might have been aimed at a youth seen running in the street.

E. Wilson, president, and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., board chairman, said 1950 net income amounted to 11.1 per cent of sales compared with 11.5 per cent in 1949. They attributed the decline primarily to higher taxes.

The 1950 earnings were equivalent to $9.35 a share of common stock compared with $7.32 a share on $656,434,232 earnings in 1949, after payments of preferred stock dividends. That is on the basis of present shares. GM made a two-for-one stock split last Oct. 2 and has more than 88,000,000 shares outstanding.

The 1950 sales compared with $5,700,835,141 in 1949.

The Weather

TUESDAY, MARCH 6, 1951

Sun rises at 6:12 a. m.; sun sets at 5:40 p. m., E.S.T.
Weather, partly cloudy.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 23 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 44 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity—Sunny today with spring-like temperatures this afternoon, highest 50-55. Fair tonight, milder than last night with low 40-45 in city, near 32 in northern suburbs. Fair and continued mild Wednesday with afternoon temperatures in 50's.

Eastern New York—Fair with high 45-50 today. Increasing cloudiness and not as cold tonight, with low about 35. Wednesday cloudy and mild, followed by scattered showers.

New Storm . . .

Cutbank, Mont., early today. Lewistown, Mont., reported -25 and Williston, N.D., -20.

The Montana exposure victims were Mrs. Ross Christey, about 28, her daughter, Linda 3, and son, Sammy, nine months.

They were driving nine miles to the ranch of Mrs. Christey's sister-in-law when the car stalled in the blizzard and -10 degree cold. Wind wrecked the hayrack her sister-in-law brought to their rescue and the Christeys started the mile trip to the ranch on one of the horses. The horse turned up at the ranch riderless. Rescuers found the bodies after an all night search.

Mrs. Isabella Burley, 82, of Black Eagle, Mont., was killed when the car in which she was riding crashed into the rear of a truck "breaking trail" through the blinding storm.

The stranded bus passengers in Alberta came through their ordeal in good shape. A snowplow found one bus with 15 occupants near Duchess, 116 miles east of Calgary.

A police snowmobile reached the other two stalled on the 30-mile stretch between Medicine Hat and Suffield. Gasoline had been siphoned from one bus to the other so the engine and heater could be kept running through the 20-hour vigil.

Three men also were rescued in their stalled automobile in southern Alberta.

Winter's Last Frontier—We Hope

Fourth Accident Victim Succumbs

Meriden, Conn., March 6 (AP)—Pvt. Robert J. Weiss, 22, of (30-70 34th street) Astoria, L. I., N. Y., died early today at Meriden Hospital from injuries he received in a collision between a heavy truck and an automobile on the state highway in nearby Berlin.

The death of Weiss brought to four the number of fatalities caused by the accident. Also injured fatally in the accident were Leon Dwight Bradshaw, 22, of (2794 Valentine avenue, the Bronx, N. Y.; Louis Angello Baviello, 22, of (366 East 160th street) the Bronx, and Frank J. Martin, 22, of (698 East 138th street) the Bronx.

Two other soldier occupants of the crushed automobile were fighting for their lives today. Nathan Korn, 22, of (1776 Weeks avenue) the Bronx, underwent a brain operation last night at the Hartford Hospital where his condition was reported critical. Also listed in critical condition at the Veterans Hospital, Newington, was Pvt. James W. Kelly, 22, of (509 West 122nd street) New York city.

The soldiers were returning to their army station at Fort Devens, Mass., early yesterday morning from week-end leaves when the accident occurred.

Police said that the truck, loaded with several tons of oysters, swung to the left to enter a highway cross-over and was struck by the fast-moving sedan being driven by Weiss, the owner.

The force of the impact drove the automobile underneath the truck body and firemen were forced to use heavy jacks to remove it.

The truck driver identified by state police as Franklin Camm, of (High street) Port Norris, N. J., was uninjured.

Death of Pennsylvania Woman Is Accidental

The death of Mrs. Anna Prebish of 302 Main street, Whitehaven, Pa., was accidental, Coroner Michael A. Galietta ruled today. Mrs. Prebish died Friday night of injuries sustained when she fell from a skidding automobile on Route 32 six miles north of Saugerties.

The coroner's verdict was withheld pending completion of investigation and autopsy. Mrs. Prebish died of a punctured liver and internal hemorrhage, Galietta said.

Injured in Fall

Mrs. Anna E. Van Wagenen, 68, of 62 Van Buren street suffered a double fracture of her lower left arm when she slipped and fell on Van Deusen street near Broadway, according to a report received by police Monday night. She was taken to Kingston Hospital, where her condition today was reported as "good."

Two Ships Collide In Delaware Bay

Lewes, Del., March 6 (AP)—Two ships collided this morning in fog-shrouded Delaware Bay. One of them radioed a few minutes later that it was "probably sinking."

Radio reports to the Coast Guard identified the vessel as the S. S. Bertha Brovig, a 2,412-ton vessel of Norwegian registry, and the 3,365-ton Danish freighter Uranienborg.

The Bertha Brovig, which normally carries a crew of 30, sent out a radio call for assistance shortly after the collision about 7:30 a. m. Her captain reported the ship's engine room full of water. She was inbound to Philadelphia with a cargo from Progresso, Mex.

At mid-morning the Coast Guard in New York said the skipper of the distressed vessel had radioed that he would try to run the ship aground somewhere in Delaware Bay "if my power holds out."

The message said that water was pouring into the number two hold and that the vessel was settling slowly.

Coast Guard rescue vessels were dispatched from the station here and from Cape May, N. J.

The Uranienborg, which left Philadelphia last night after discharging a cargo of raw sugar, reported only slight damage. Agents for the ship in Philadelphia said the Uranienborg was proceeding under her own power towards Philadelphia, about 90 miles to the north up the bay.

Hit in Heavy Fog

The collision occurred in heavy fog that had overhung the busy ship lanes throughout the night. Residents of this shore community described the fog and an accompanying heavy frost as "most unusual" weather conditions. At 10 a. m. visibility here had improved somewhat but the fog still hid anything a quarter mile or more distant.

The Coast Guard said the Uranienborg reported it suffered little damage in the accident.

The Coast Guard said its vessels steaming to the rescue were hampered by the fog and were using radar to grope their way to the scene.

En Route, one of the rescue vessels picked up six men off the fishing vessel Emma Pauline which had run aground less than a mile south of Cape May, N. J. The craft sank minutes after the rescue, the Coast Guard said.

Assembly Passes Bill Setting Up Hours for Women

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Women would be permitted to work in restaurants from midnight until 6 a. m., under a bill that went to the Senate today with Assembly approval.

The measure would authorize the state industrial commissioner to permit such hours of work, if he found that working conditions were satisfactory and that employes had adequate transportation to and from work.

Present law prohibits women from working after midnight, except for hat check girls, cigarette and flower girls, attendants in ladies' rest rooms and employes in hotel dining rooms and kitchens.

Assemblyman Lee B. Mailler of Cornwall-on-Hudson, the Republican majority leader, introduced the bill to extend the working hours. It cleared the Assembly last night.

New Storm . . .

Cutbank, Mont., early today. Lewistown, Mont., reported -25 and Williston, N.D., -20.

The Montana exposure victims were Mrs. Ross Christey, about 28, her daughter, Linda 3, and son, Sammy, nine months.

They were driving nine miles to the ranch of Mrs. Christey's sister-in-law when the car stalled in the blizzard and -10 degree cold. Wind wrecked the hayrack her sister-in-law brought to their rescue and the Christeys started the mile trip to the ranch on one of the horses. The horse turned up at the ranch riderless. Rescuers found the bodies after an all night search.

Mrs. Isabella Burley, 82, of Black Eagle, Mont., was killed when the car in which she was riding crashed into the rear of a truck "breaking trail" through the blinding storm.

The stranded bus passengers in Alberta came through their ordeal in good shape. A snowplow found one bus with 15 occupants near Duchess, 116 miles east of Calgary.

A police snowmobile reached the other two stalled on the 30-mile stretch between Medicine Hat and Suffield. Gasoline had been siphoned from one bus to the other so the engine and heater could be kept running through the 20-hour vigil.

The Coast Guard said the Uranienborg reported it suffered little damage in the accident.

The collision occurred in dense fog.

The Coast Guard said its vessels steaming to the rescue were hampered by the fog and were using radar to grope their way to the scene.

En Route, one of the rescue vessels picked up six men off the fishing vessel Emma Pauline which had run aground less than a mile south of Cape May, N. J. The craft sank minutes after the rescue, the Coast Guard said.

Assembly Passes Bill Setting Up Hours for Women

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—Women would be permitted to work in restaurants from midnight until 6 a. m., under a bill that went to the Senate today with Assembly approval.

The measure would authorize the state industrial commissioner to permit such hours of work, if he found that working conditions were satisfactory and that employes had adequate transportation to and from work.

Present law prohibits women from working after midnight, except for hat check girls, cigarette and flower girls, attendants in ladies' rest rooms and employes in hotel dining rooms and kitchens.

Assemblyman Lee B. Mailler of Cornwall-on-Hudson, the Republican majority leader, introduced the bill to extend the working hours. It cleared the Assembly last night.
